Thanksgiving in Germany. How Consul and Mrs. George E. Eager Celebrated—Thirty at Dinner.

of interest to their many Norwich friends will be an extract from a letter showing how Consul and Mrs. George E. Eager celebrated Thanksgiving day at the United States consulate in Barmen, Germany, with a genuine New England dinner. Both the consul and his wife are of New England birth and parentage, so that it is no wonder they could not help being loyal to this great New England institution. Writing to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Spaulding of this city, Mrs. Eager says: "We planned and carried to a success a dinner in our best hotel here for the American residents of Rhineland in the last session of two hours. Dr. West received in the large room, standing near the entrance, the ordinary department, and with him were Mrs. E. R. Huntington, Mrs. Lucy A. Forbes, Mrs. H. E. Stevens, Mrs. T. W. Kinzler, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Haviland and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Larrabee. The parlors were filled with guests throughout the evening, who displayed to a marked degree the deep regret that is felt in the departure from this city of Dr. West. During the dinner the consul presented a number of gifts by Mrs. Larrabee's class, members of the K. O. K. A., and twelve of the young women of the church. Through the kindness of Mrs. West was kept busy by the long line of friends who had assembled to meet him and throughout the assemblage.

RECEPTION TO L. WEST Given by Improvement Society of Second Congregational Church—Large Number Present During Evening Including Representatives from Nearly all the Churches—Leaves Monday Morning for Western Trip.

The esteem in which Rev. Dr. Lester L. West is held, not only by the members of his church, but by the people of Norwich, was manifested on Friday evening, when there was a large gathering in the parlors of the Second Congregational church, at which the 300 or more present included a representative number of delegates from the churches and laymen of Norwich and vicinity. The reception was given by the Improvement society of the church from eight to ten o'clock, and it made a most delightful occasion.

There was one thought that Norwich and the Second church in particular are suffering a distinct loss in the leaving of Dr. West.

There was a pleasing musical program carried out during the evening. The choir, under the direction of their usual charm, Gypsy Maid and I, and gave as an evening love, the Poodler. Later in the evening she was heard with great pleasure in the rendition of Beloved, It Is Morn, and China Tragedy, all of which were sung in fine voices. Rev. D. B. MacLane of the Tatfield Congregational church, in his violin solos, contributed greatly to the occasion, playing Eglantine and Lullaby with his characteristic skill. Frederick W. Lester was the accompanist for both soloists. Mrs. F. H. Merrill was to have taken part but was prevented from being present because of illness.

The rooms had been made attractive with festoons of ground pine, hemlock boughs, roses and chrysanthemums. Among the clergymen in attendance were Rev. Dr. Lewellyn Pratt, Rev. Dr. H. H. Howe, Rev. P. C. Wright, Rev. C. H. Ricketts, Rev. Nelson Poe Carey, Rev. E. S. Worcester, Rev. J. F. Cobb, Rev. Theodor Bagak, Rev. W. Kinzler, Rev. Donald E. MacLane, Rev. G. H. Ewing, Rev. C. A. Northrop of this city, Rev. C. H. Peck of Hanover and Rev. F. H. Fuller of Norwich.

During the evening refreshments were served. Mrs. C. A. Sherman and Mrs. C. A. Hill were in charge of the serving. With Miss Emma Ward, Mrs. J. F. Conant, Mrs. Willis Wade, Mrs. John McHattie, Mrs. Wallace Allen, Mrs. Donald E. MacLane, Mrs. George A. Allen, Mrs. R. A. DeProse and Mrs. F. E. Hull were in the kitchen and Mrs. N. A.
