THE BROWN UNIVERSITY
ANNUAL CATALOGUE
Soon Ready for Distribution—What the Summary of Students Shows.

Brown University, Providence, R. I., Dec. 30, 1909. The annual catalogue will be ready for distribution soon after the reopening of classes.

The section of the catalogue which is in double columns a few pages have been saved from the increasing bulk of recent years, but it still makes a volume of 275 pages.

The teaching staff now numbers 87, with 52 of professional rank. The 23 departments offer courses amounting to 1,743 term-hours, equivalent to 186 year courses of three hours per week.

New are the courses in music offered in connection with the department of art.

The section describing libraries, laboratories and museums has been somewhat extended. More than half a million volumes are now easily accessible.

Noteworthy also is the steady increase in the number and size of department libraries. We now have seventy rooms of the library, provided with working libraries of from one to several thousand volumes.

More and more such facilities as were once supplied only for the sciences are now available for every department.

Under provisions for the personal welfare of students, the paragraphs respecting the Christian association, the Brown union and students advisers are now more adequately explained.

The summary of students shows a total attendance of 987, 26 less than a year ago. There are 881 undergraduates.

The entering class of 187 is smaller by 45 than last year, a loss almost entirely accounted for by a numerical increase in the entrance requirements for the engineering degrees which has just gone into effect.

An immediate result of the increase of candidates for these degrees fell from 119 last year to 71 this year. It is a striking fact that of last year's class of 119 engineers only 73 remain in college.

In freshman candidates for other degrees there is a loss of only six compared with last year. The graduate department has had a notable growth, from 22 to 111.

An inserted plan of the principal grounds of the university shows the location of 22 buildings, including chapter houses, now occupied for university purposes.

NEW BOOKS.
Sand, Le Maunier D'Angibault. Edited by J. W. Kuhne, instuctor in Romance Languages, Northwestern University, Chicago, Ill., 176 pages. With introduction, notes and vocabulary. American Book Company, New York. Price, 40 cents.

This story, published in 1845, belongs to George Sand's second period of literary activity, when her novels had been attracted to social studies. In this edition the dramatic portions have been disentangled without altering the original text. The theme is the inheritance of a fortune and the attachment which results. The text contains much dialogue adding to the liveliness of the plot.

Robbins' Plane Trigonometry. By Edward Robbins, senior mathematician, William Penn Carter school, Philadelphia, Pa. Cloth, 120 pages. American Book Company, New York. Price, 60 cents.

This book is intended for high school and college preparatory courses. It is written in a simple and direct manner, but the diagrams are more than usually clear cut and elucidating. No special tables are given, though the chapter on logarithms explains the use of tables in general. The work is sound and teachable, and is written in a clear and concise language, in a style that makes it easy for the beginner.

Immediate after each principle has been proved, it is applied first in illustrative examples, and then further impressed by numerous exercises.

Conant's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. By George A. Conant, Ph.D., professor of mathematics in the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass. 302 pages. American Book Company, New York. Price, $1.20.

This book presents in a concise and yet thorough manner an adequate treatment of both the theoretical and practical sides of elementary trigonometry. The material given has been thoroughly tested in the classroom. An important feature of the book is its logical construction, which is so arranged as to give ample practice in the mathematical principles, but in addition the author gives an unusual number of concrete problems illustrating the practical use of trigonometry in the applied sciences.

The book on trigonometry is also issued separately with or without tables. The Plane and Spherical Trigonometry is published in separate form, and the tables may also be secured separately.

BUSY MONTH FOR GOVERNOR.
He Has Accepted Many Invitations for January.

January will be a busy month for Gov. Frank B. Weeks. Invitations have been received for balls, dinners, receptions and other social occasions of various kinds, many of which the governor has had to decline very reluctantly.

He has, however, made the following engagements: To be the guest of the New Britain Y. M. C. Dr. Downs, who accompanied Wilson Marshall upon his yacht Atlantic, in the race across the Atlantic ocean for the cup offered by the German emperor, in the spring of 1905, saw stovepipe used in the same manner as it is used in the use of the anasthesia, which was designed as a substitute for the use of the anasthesia.

Two operations were performed at the Bridgeport hospital upon private patients in May of this year. Dr. Tupper, assisted by Dr. Downs, who was used at the request of the patients who desired either, and for operations that did not take very long time. They observed a slight heart depression in both cases. Stovaine is a fluid that is injected into the fluid of the spinal column all of the fluid of the spinal column is paralyzed or rendered numb all feeling, and the patient is fully conscious.

SKIN HUMOR 25 YEARS
"Cuticura did wonders for me. For twenty-five years I suffered agonizing from a terrible humor, completely covering my face and neck. I tried every kind of medicine, but in vain. I became an object of dread. At large expense I consulted the most able doctors, but they failed. Their treatment was of no avail, nor was that of the Hospital, during six months of confinement. I was told that there was no help for me this side of the grave. Then I heard of some one who had cured his Cuticura. I bought it and thought that a trial could do no harm. In a surprisingly short time I was completely cured. Dr. Keyes, 14 Congress St., Boston, Mass., Oct. 12, '09."

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES
"I congratulate Cuticura upon my speedy recovery from pimples which had covered my face and neck. I am perfectly cured and my face is clear and bright. I had tried every kind of medicine, but in vain. I became an object of dread. At large expense I consulted the most able doctors, but they failed. Their treatment was of no avail, nor was that of the Hospital, during six months of confinement. I was told that there was no help for me this side of the grave.
