GREENVILLE Fire Companies Called for Blaze in Pile of Excelsior—Funeral of Mrs. Mary Riley—Local Mention.

A needless alarm not fire was turned in from box 27 for an insignificant blaze in a small pile of excelsior at the home of George Bliss, at 431 North Main street, Wednesday afternoon a few minutes after 1 o'clock. Both the Greenville companies responded, but their assistance was not needed, for the fire was out long before they got there, and they reached the scene in their usual fast time.

During the severe weather the water pipes under the floor of the Bliss home have been wrapped in excelsior, but even this covering did not prevent the pipes freezing up in the cold of Tuesday night, and about noon, Wednesday Mrs. Bliss, removing the excelsior, started in to thaw them out with lighted newspapers. A burning paper fell into the pile of excelsior, and a lively blaze sprang up and attracted the attention of a neighbor, who at once rang the bell for the fire department, and the blaze was easily smothered and hardly a bit of damage resulted.

Local Mention. John Coughlin has returned from a few weeks' stay in New York.

John Driscoll of Ansonia is spending a few days with relatives on North Main street.

Shiley sang Pie Jesu, and for a wailing hymn, Jesus, Saviour of My Soul. There were many floral tributes. The casket was borne by Andrew Morris, Timothy Lynch and Patrick Reynolds. SOME GUES FREMEN A NOU

Found to Come from C. H. Davis Co. Smokehouse in Little Water Street.

Captain Connell from Chemical Co. No. 1 directed a search of about an hour Wednesday evening, from 10.30 to 11.30, to find out the cause of smoke coming out of the alleyway on Water street between the Oak saloon and the building occupied by the C. H. Davis Co., Incorporated. It was finally discovered to be coming from the smoke house, where there was a fire, for the smoking of hams. The heavy air drove the smoke down, causing it to penetrate through the building and ooze out through the alleyway. A telephone call was sent to the station by people who saw the smoke while passing the building. Captain Connell sent a man down and later went himself, when the fireman had reported back by telephone that he could not discover any fire. Noah Rogers, treasurer of the company, was then called out of bed at this house on Broadway. When he arrived a thorough search of the building was made, establishing the cause of the smoke came from the smoke house. Captain Connell said that this was the third time the danger alarm had been called out of this place under similar circumstances. The building is occupied by the C. H. Davis company as its office and sales place, besides having a smoke-house for hams. A shoemaker and a hair dresser also rent small stores in the building.

C. H. PRESTON'S DEATH OCCURRED WEDNESDAY EVENING

One of Norwich's Prominent Business Men for the Past 29 Years—Has Been Seriously Ill for Past Six Weeks—Successful Business Career.

At 6.30 o'clock Wednesday evening the end came peacefully to Charles H. Preston at his late residence, No. 25 Lincoln avenue. He had been seriously ill for the past six weeks, having suffered from hemorrhage of the brain. Last August Mr. Preston met with a bad accident. He was riding his bicycle down Greene avenue when the coaster brake failed to work, and the wheel crossed Washington street, striking the curb and throwing him violently to the ground. He was taken to the hospital, where he remained for several days, but he was discharged with a severe blow on the head, which it is proved proved more serious than at first thought. He was not made unconscious then, but ever since has had trouble with his head, although until within the past six weeks he was attending to his business as usual.

Although Mr. Preston's death was not unexpected, his many friends and business acquaintances will learn of it with sincere regret, as thereby one of Norwich's energetic and progressive business men is taken away. Mr. Preston was born in Tolland 53 years ago last November, the son of Dr. Gilbert H. and Sarah E. Cogswell. He went to Hartford as a young man and learned the wholesale druggist business with G. W. Williams & Co., and later was in New York with McKesson & Robbins, large Broadway theater corporation, and a druggist and remained about ten years with each firm. His brother, George C. Preston, was in the hardware business in Hartford, and with him in 1881 he came to Norwich, giving up his druggist business, and they entered into the hardware business together under the firm name of Preston Brothers, and it has proved to be one of the sound and substantial business concerns of the city. It was first started in the Bill block in Shteket street and within five years additional room was required. The hardware business was conducted there until they moved to their present location in Main street, on Franklin square, where they have since conducted their prosperous business of twenty-nine years.

He was in all matters with which he was allied he displayed a deep interest in the business and demonstrated his thorough business ability in the building up of the firm's trade, and he has ever been thoroughly interested in the welfare of the city and his progressive spirit has been an incentive to many others for the benefit of Norwich. He applied himself closely to business, but associated himself with some of the local industries, and banking and industrial circles was held in the highest regard. He was a man of sound counsel and always looked upon the bright side of things.

He was a vice president of the Chelsea Savings bank, a director of the Norwich National bank, a director of the Norwich and Albany Savings bank, secretary of the Norwich & New York Propeller company, treasurer of the Norwich theater corporation, and in 1897 was president of the board of trade, of which he was a member and one of the executive committee. He was a member of the American Club, the Norwich Golf club, Mr. Preston was a member of the Christ Episcopal church, and which and its various organizations he took a deep interest. He was a vestryman of the church. He was a 32d degree Mason, being a member of St. James' lodge, No. 23, F. and A. M., and the other local Masonic bodies, being also an incorporator of the Masonic temple in Norwich. With his brother and R. S. Parker the Parker, Preston company, manufacturers of shingle and floor stains, started business here several years ago, and are doing an increasing business yearly. The deceased was treasurer of the company.

Mr. Preston's father, who was a prominent doctor in Tolland for many years, died 25 years ago, while his mother died in March, 1862. The deceased married Miss Addie Mook of Brooklyn, N. Y., by whom he has six children, together with one product, George C. Preston of this city and E. H. Preston, a furniture dealer, of Rockville, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Y. Preston, of this place.

Mr. Preston's death removes a man of sterling characteristics, whose loss will be severely felt throughout the community. His acquaintances will be a privilege and he numbered friends on every hand who esteemed him for his rare traits of character and trust which of his influence. He was a man of pleasing address, courteous and sympathetic, who attracted friends and retained them. He devoted much time to the welfare of the city, the value of his counsel being demonstrated by the success of importance and trust which he held. He was earnest and sincere in every undertaking, optimistic and resourceful and a firm believer in the future of Norwich. His life was an example worthy of emulation.

Old Saybrook—Rev. Dr. John DeVries of the meeting of the archdeaconry of Middlesex county, to be held at Portland soon.

Smoke on West Side. At 10.12 o'clock Wednesday Chemical company No. 2 was called to No. 19 Aqueduct street, where it was thought there was a fire, but it proved to be the smoke from a stove, and the firemen were not needed. The house is occupied by Michael Vance and owned by Joseph Swatsburg.

Learned Husband's Death Over the 'Phone Mrs. Coburn Was About to Call His Office and Learn Cause of Delay When She Overheard Conversation. The body of Charles W. Coburn, the Beachmont, Mass. man who was killed at the station in New London Tuesday, by being struck and run over by a New Haven street car, will be taken to Boston this afternoon at 1.17 o'clock and thence to the funeral home of Mrs. C. H. Faunce, who came on to arrange for the transferring of the body and the funeral which will occur Friday. The burial will be in the family plot at Dedham, Mass.

Mr. Coburn, who has been with his husband in his office since the latter took charge of the work of erecting the paper mill there, received the sad news of her husband's death last night. She immediately telephoned her husband's office to ascertain his delay. When she placed the receiver on the hook, she overheard a conversation by a member of Mr. Coburn's force, who was endeavoring to establish a communication with the dead man's home. She immediately went to the factory and there learned that her suspicion was correct.

Charles H. Mallison. At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning the death of Charles H. Mallison occurred at the Backus hospital, after an illness of two months with a complication of troubles. He was the son of George and Hannah Perry Mallison, and was born at Norwich, July 8, 1836, where he attended the common schools, was a gardener and a fine workman. He married Desira C. Sekater of Charlestown, N. H., in 1858, and her death occurred in 1885. He had two children—William H. Mallison, and Charles F. Mallison, Mrs. Samuel M. Ockrey and Mrs. Clarence B. Ockrey.

Harry C. Pynchon. (Contributed.) The recent death of Harry Chichele Pynchon seems to his many friends in Norwich and Plainfield to call for some gratifying mention that the usual brief obituary. He bore an honorable name and was worthy of it, being in the direct line of descent from the William Pynchon, who was one of the principal founders of Roxbury and later of Springfield.

At 10.12 o'clock Wednesday Chemical company No. 2 was called to No. 19 Aqueduct street, where it was thought there was a fire, but it proved to be the smoke from a stove, and the firemen were not needed. The house is occupied by Michael Vance and owned by Joseph Swatsburg.

BEEHOVEN BRONZE BUST PRESENTED TO CHURCH.

Gift of C. W. Scott, to Whose Wife It Was Given 22 Years Ago.

Broadway Congregational church had placed in it on Wednesday the beautiful art bronze bust of Beethoven which was a gift a number of years ago to Mrs. Charles W. Scott, a much loved alto singer of the choir, who passed away in Springfield, October 7, 1909. The bust, with a handsome pedestal of mahogany, the whole standing about 4.2 feet high, was placed on the right side of the platform, where it harmonizes admirably with its surroundings, and will ever keep fresh the memory of her.

By appointment with the church trustees, Mr. Scott came here Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, meeting them at the platform, where the bust was placed in position. Mrs. Scott, who was Miss Minnie Hopkins, daughter of John Popkins, a cutter for E. R. Thompson, the tailor, when she sang in the Broadway church, was presented with the bust about 22 years ago, when she came to leave heretofore in Springfield. She had sung in the church for about 15 years, though not continuously, and a number of the prominent parishioners united to make the gift, including Edward N. Gibbs, Amos W. Prentice, Lorenzo N. Blackstone, Henry B. Norton, William E. Greene, E. B. Thompson, Norman Day, W. R. Burnham and others. Of these only Mr. Burnham is surviving.

In turning the bust to the church, Mrs. Scott, carrying on the wish of her wife, expressed when the presentation was made, that at her death it should be placed in the choir rail and placed within the choir rail near the altar. For several years the busts composed of Miss Carrie Stone, soprano; Mrs. Scott, alto; J. Herbert George, tenor; George W. Furness, bass; Charles W. Tinsley, organist; Mrs. Scott's last singing here was with Mrs. E. R. C. Slight.

Mr. Scott had a silver plate placed on the base of the bust and another on the pedestal. On the former is inscribed: "Presented to Broadway Congregational Church, Norwich, Conn., by Minnie Hopkins Scott, 1909," and on the latter is "In Memoriam Minnie Hopkins Scott, with a line of music, by Charles W. Tinsley, organist. Mrs. Scott's last singing here was with Mrs. E. R. C. Slight.

Mr. Scott had always retained her membership at Broadway, not transferring to the church which she attended in Springfield.

Best Hair Tonic

All Over America the News of the Marvellous Dandruff Cures of Parisian Sage Has Spread.

A few years ago there was introduced into America a cure for dandruff, falling hair and all scalp diseases. News of the quick action of this wonderful invigorator spread rapidly. And today without any sensational or untrue advertising, Parisian Sage is used extensively in almost every town in America. And what has produced this great demand? Simply this: Parisian Sage does just what we are telling the readers of The Bulletin it will do.

We claim, and we back our claim with The Lee & Osgood Co.'s money back guarantee, that Parisian Sage is the most invigorating and rejuvenating hair tonic. It cures dandruff, stops itching scalp, and itching scalp makes the hair grow strong and vigorous, set soft and lustrous. It is the only hair dressing that reaches the root bulb of the hair and destroys the dandruff germ.

And to the women who are reading this simple statement of fact, we want to say that Parisian Sage works wonders with women's hair. It will turn dull, harsh and faded hair into beautiful, radiant and lustrous hair in a few days, and is the most pleasant and satisfying dressing any woman ever used.

Druggists everywhere and The Lee & Osgood Co. sell Parisian Sage for 50c a large bottle.

Slippery Walking.

On Wednesday evening the rain froze as it fell and made walking very dangerous, especially on the sidewalks.

The center of the street was the popular path for those out during the evening. Many fell because they were not aware of the conditions.

Stopped a Runaway.

On Wednesday afternoon Hans Rasmussen made a clever stop of a runaway horse which came into Franklin street from Boxwell avenue. It freed itself partly from the wagon and was about to continue on its wild run when the popular janitor stopped it. It was his first stop of a runaway.

A phenologist says Jim Jeffries has an abnormally developed bump of caution. And there is a belief in sporting circles that he will find it a convenient thing to have when he meets that mountain of assurance in the ring next July.
