WILLIMANTIC. BEST NIGHT OF THE FAIR. St. Joseph's Hospital Will Realize Large Sum from Seven Busy Nights. Saturday evening was the biggest ever in point of attendance at the fair in Town hall for the benefit of St. Joseph's hospital. Montgomery hose company, in charge of the hall arrangements, made the receipts mount up to good figures. The greater portion of the evening was given over to dancing. The floor was crowded from early evening up to the time that the various drawings took place. The booth in charge of the Windham ladies was well patronized as usual, and the attendants were pretty well tired out when the fair was at last declared officially ended. The week was a busy one for the various societies in charge and the members of the ladies' auxiliary, the nurses who were nightly in attendance with books, as well as the many other young ladies who assisted so well all through the week. It is not known how much the auxiliary will receive to turn over to the hospital authorities, but it is safe to say that it will be a very substantial sum. The carnival was a great success. COMMENDS THE HOSPITAL. Dr. Weidon Finds Much to Praise at St. Joseph's. As there was not a quorum present at the meeting of the incorporators of St. Joseph's hospital Saturday forenoon no business was transacted. Those present, however, listened to a most interesting talk by Dr. John Weidon, president of the medical board, who told of the work done at the hospital, and compared it with other hospitals in the state and the statistics showed that the results obtained at the local institution were much more favorable than at the Backus hospital in Norwich, and the Day-Kimball hospital at Putnam, both much older institutions. The doctor spoke of a number of improvements that should be made here, particularly with reference to increased facilities for children. He said that there was urgent need of a larger children's ward, as the present one was wholly inadequate for the demands made upon it. George Stiles spoke in behalf of the hospital and said that he did not like to hear the criticisms that were being made regarding its management and thought that many were entirely unjust and that all should endeavor to assist the institution, as it was doing a great good for the city of Willimantic. He believed that some who were receiving treatment there and some who had done so could afford to pay for their rooms at an advanced figure. He wanted to see the institution succeed and thought that if he could do it he would do it. He mentioned that the hospital might buy its necessary supplies at a lower price than he could make it. He mentioned that the hospital might buy its necessary supplies at a lower price than he could make it. STATE POLICE IN RAID FOR SLOT MACHINES. One Confiscated at Sterling—Three at Oneco—Daylight Visit by Officers. Saturday afternoon, places in Sterling and Oneco were visited by the state police, who were successful in making a haul of slot machines. The raid was made about 12:30 o'clock. State Policeman Louis Vesper of Sterling and a constable of Oneco, accompanied by a large number of slot machines that were well filled with coin. An officer sort of lounged around the place and was in close proximity to the telephone, cutting off any chance to send the alarm to Oneco. A man with a light hitch was speedily despatched to Oneco, which is only about two miles away, to sound the alarm that the state police were about and might be expected, but just as the man who had driven furiously all the way to Oneco, was in close proximity to the Oneco place, State Policemen Clark and Bridgeman had completed their work of seizing the machines in Clark Whitford's saloon. J. W. Foley's saloon and T. J. Dougherty's place. The machines are said to be worth in the neighborhood of $175 apiece and will all be condemned by the authorities as always the case. It is understood that all the men caught with the goods in their places are willing to go to court and plead guilty and they will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Chapman at the town hall in Oneco at 2 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon. The daylight visit of the officers was entirely unexpected and created not a little stir in the usually wide awake little village.

Jolly Five 33, Water Sports 8. The small crowd that gathered in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium witnessed a much better game than the one would indicate Saturday evening, between the Water Sports of the Norwich Y. C. and the Jolly Five of the local association. It was a fast, aggressive game, and there was plenty of good blocking. The Jolly Five had the greater experience and excelled in the team play and had much better eyes for the basket. The score at the end of the first half was 11-2 in favor of the Jolly Five. Lewis and Higgins played best for the home team, while Belfour and Brown showed up well for the visitors. Lines and summary: Jolly Five—Chappel H., Thompson H., Lewis C., Harrington H., Parsons 3, Colligan C., Belfour H., Vallin H. Score—Jolly Five 33, Water Sports 8. Baskets from Brown 2, Parsons 3, Belfour 2, Brown 2. Fouls called on Lewis 3, Chappel 2, Harrington, Parsons 2, Brown 2 and one team foul on visitors. Free tries missed: Chappel 2, Lewis 2, Belfour 3, Parsons 2, Brown, Referee, Eugene Lewis. Timer, Fryer. Time, 20-minute halves. Score, 33-8.

Notified About Crippled Horse. D. W. Thrall of Hartford, the general agent of the Connecticut Humane society, was in town Saturday and again notified John Hopkins in South Coventry and notified him that he must stop using a crippled horse. Mr. Hopkins received a similar notice some time ago, but it is said paid no heed, but used the animal all along. Agent Thrall says that he will be prosecuted if he fails to comply with this last order to desist. Gift of a Watch to Miss Callouette. Miss Ernestine Callouette, who leaves today to study to be a trained nurse in a hospital at Danvers, Vt., entertained the employes of the warping and winding departments of the Windham Silk company, on her home at Jackson street, Saturday afternoon.

WITHOUT FOOD OR DRINK. Agent Thrall Finds Stock Left for Days on Coventry Farm. During State Humane Agent D. W. Thrall's visit in this city Saturday he told Local Agent P. A. Weeks that he had visited a farm in the town of Coventry, but did not state who owned the place, and would do all that some twenty or thirty head of stock that had been dead up in the barn for four days without anything to eat and for two days without anything to drink. According to report, there was some difficulty between the owner of the place and the man who hired it with the stock, and the owner did not furnish any food. The tenant had none to give the stock, and it is said that the latter left the place and stock without care. Agent Thrall placed a man in charge, with strict orders to water the stock as properly watered and fed while the case is being investigated.

NATIVE OF GRISWOLD Pictured and Praised for Enterprise, Initiative and Philanthropy. A leading New York fashion magazine for January has an eight-page description of the fifty years' struggles and triumphs of David Hale Fanning, the Worcester, Mass., millionaire philanthropist, a native of the town of Griswold. The story is magnificently illustrated in colors, and has a fine portrait of Mr. Fanning, a full page cut, 1,500 of the employees at noon time lawn party on the grounds of the Royal Worcester Corset company, pictures of the big plant, the handsome dining hall which Mr. Fanning has provided for his employees, the big, bright, airy rooms in which their work is done, and other views. The magazine pays proper tribute to Mr. Fanning's initiative, enterprise, perseverance and benevolence, stating that in his 50th year, the president and founder of the famous plant, by his rapid step, clear eye and mind, has provided for his employees a condition is a constant inspiration to his employees to be aggressive and perform their duties to the best of their ability. Meriden.—The officers of the Meriden Arts and Crafts association are talking of having J. A. S. Monks of Boston, an expert in the art of sculpture, come here to give an exhibition.
