BLOCK ISLAND.

Twelve Soldiers' Graves to Decorate—First Memorial Day Observance at Suggestion of J. H. Tourgee, from Norwich.

Memorial day exercises were held at the island cemetery at 2 p. m., opened by singing America, by Dr. Roberts, J. H. Tourgee and Mrs. Grace Rose Teal. There followed prayer by Dr. Roberts; singing, Near Me, Mr. God, to Thee. The children then formed in line to march around and place flags and flowers upon the graves of the twelve soldiers who lie buried there. There are five surviving veterans on the island, John Thomas, J. H. Tourgee, Horatio Dickens, Horatio Milliken and Benjamin Sprague.

Member of Sedgwick Post. The observance of Memorial day on Block Island was first brought about by the efforts of Comrade J. H. Tourgee, who came here to live in 1889. He was then a member of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., Norwich, Conn., later transferred to Wickford post, Wickford, R. I. Comrade Tourgee went from East Greenwich June 5, 1861, enlisting in Second R. I. volunteer infantry company H, 33 men in the company. He was then seventeen years old, was in the first battle of Bull Run, in Edwards' brigade that saw hard fighting at the Bloody Angle at Spottsylvania; was in command of his company (A) when Lee surrendered, the only man of the original company of 33 men doing duty at that time. He was in twenty-six battles and served four years and nine days.

William Sands has as his guest his granddaughter, Mrs. Gretta Ball Waich.

What "King's English" Means. "Queen's English" and "King's English" are both terms that have been in common use for years to designate grammatical English. In Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" we read: "Here will be an old abusing of God's patience and the king's English." Such phrases as "murdering the queen's English" and "clipping the queen's English" arose from a book by Dean Alford on the subject of accurate speech.

The Printer's Children. The case of the musical man who named his four daughters after the eight notes of the tonic sol-fa scale is matched by that of the provincial printer who named his children from the type fonts he used—Ruby, Pearl, Diamond. The first two are no uncommon names for girls, only Ruby happened to be a boy. He followed in his father's footsteps and afterward became a printer's manager in London.

Modern Ideas Grafted on Ancient. The ceremony of cutting the wedding cake, which falls to the bride, is a survival of the old Roman "eating together," which signified that the bride was reconciled to her lot and that the husband granted her a share of his property, and the habit of putting back her veil is a remnant of savage custom, which decrees a woman must dress differently after her marriage to signify she is a wife.

Fish Caught Fisherman. Catching a monster fish and the line becoming hooked to the boat underneath, where he could not reach it, Felipe Ocampo, a fisherman of Salina Cruz, Mex., was dragged out to sea and was missing two days before he could get back. Friends thought his boat had been swamped.

Daily Thought. There is something, in fact, a great deal, to be said for the conventional point of view. But if you cannot with perfect sincerity accept it do not attempt odious compromise and outward forms of subservience to laws which you find unjust.—Mrs. Craigie.

Business Is Business. The judgment of Solomon is out of date. A woman who gave away her child in infancy and desired to get it back is repulsed by the courts, not even getting an offer of half of it. A bargain is a bargain in these material days.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Had Made Fools of Fourteen. When a young girl entered a pawnbroker's shop with 14 rings she was suspected and detained. Inquiries proved that she was the rightful owner and that the rings were souvenirs of 14 fiancés.

A Difference. "I see that our friend still entertains the idea of running for congress." "Not exactly," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "He idea entertains him."—Washington Star.

Uplifting. A fashion has arisen of taking a parrot as one of an automobile party, this elevating considerably the intellectual average of the party.—Exchange.

Maybe It Was Gwendoline. It was neither Johnny, nor Molly, nor Polly, nor Jerusha, nor Jeanny, put the kettle on, and we'll all have tea."—Nashville American.

Liberty. Liberty is worth whatever country is worth. It is by liberty that a man has a country; it is by liberty he has rights.—Henry Giles.

Has to Be Learned. There are lots of complaints that are catching, but experience is not one of them.—Hutchinson.

Chinese Proverb. The more talents the more they will be developed.

Beware of Over-Emphasis. An honest tale speaks best being plainly told.—Shakespeare.

Bird's Nest in a Church. A bird recently built its nest immediately above the hymn board on one of the pillars in the church at Lumsden, near Regina, Canada, and during worship the congregation could see the mother endeavoring to teach the young birds to fly. They were hatched out in the church and advanced through the various stages to maturity without any mishap. The nest was not disturbed and the bird never seemed frightened during the services.

An Awful Fright. Who was the boy that got scared coming up the road and went so fast that it took his breath, and then went to his neighbors to get him to bring his gun and shoot the animal, so his neighbor brought the gun and 25 shells to shoot the awful thing, but when he got there it was nothing but a neighbor's boy.—Rural Valley Advance.

Everybody Happy? No one has any more right to go about unhappy than he has to go about ill-bred. He owes it to himself, to his friends, to society, to the community in general, to live up to his best spiritual possibilities, not only now and then, once or twice a year, or once in a season, but every day and every hour.—Lillian Whiting.

A Partial Theft. "Isn't this a lovely little book?" she asked, showing it to him. "Such a nice leather cover. Such nice gilt edges. I swiped it when the clerk wasn't looking." "For the love of heaven!" he exclaimed. "The Acts of the Apostles!" "Why did you confine yourself to the Acts?" "Why didn't you steal the whole Bible?"

When Resting. When you rest do not place your arms above your head. Many women—most women—do so; but it is against the rules of physiology. That particular position tires the muscles of the arms and the chest, contracts the neck and forces one to breathe irregularly.

For several years the use of wheat flour has been increasing and the use of rye flour decreasing in Germany.

What is Meant by "Dichotomy." A botanical term has been borrowed by the medical press of the United States to express a form of illicit business—"dichotomy"—to-wit: which is used as meaning the division of a surgeon's or specialist's fee with the practitioner who recommends him a patient.—London Hospital.

Keeping Up with the Times. Brain and body must keep pace with the trend of modern ideals or else lag behind and eventually be forced out of the march. The faculties and senses must be developed to meet the requirements of the time.

Money. Money is character; money also is power. I have power not in proportion to the money I spend on myself, but in proportion to the money I can, if I please, give away to another.—Bulwer Lytton.

One May Overcome constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.
