

MAYOR GAYNOR IN NEW GRAFTFIELD

Bribes Extorted from Aliens who Desire to Become Naturalized—Jacob Goldstein Arrested

New York, June 9.—Mayor Gaynor has been hunting graft in another field. He says that he has found it, and that it was flourishing openly in the federal building here. He has written to Attorney General Wickersham, saying that bribes are extorted from aliens who desire to become naturalized.

Begins Investigation.

Soon after the mayor took office he received complaints which led him to begin an investigation. Applicants for naturalization papers are lined up in the federal building and stand there day after day, awaiting attention. Detective Catches Jacob Goldstein in the Act.

City detectives were stationed in the line and one of them reported that Jacob Goldstein approached him and demanded $25 as the price of having his case attended to.

Goldstein told him, he said, that if he did not pay he might stand in line 500 days without getting any nearer to the room in which the clerks were making out the papers. The favored positions in the line were said to be for those who paid.

The detective says he paid $14 to Goldstein, who was then arrested. Other detectives reported that Goldstein canvassed the line daily, seeking money, and in a book found on him were payments ranging from $5 to $15 each.

Government to Investigate.

Goldstein was held under bail and Attorney General Wickersham today replied to the mayor that he would investigate the matter.

Prisoner Discharged.

When Goldstein was arraigned before a United States district attorney for naturalization, Assistant United States District Attorney Walton, the complainant in the case, said that Goldstein had been arrested, and the prisoner was discharged. The evidence in Mayor Gaynor's possession will be submitted to the federal grand jury.

MRS. FORD RUINED IN FORTUNE.

Further Prosecution Would Put Her in Madhouse—Indictments Noted.

Cincinnati, June 9.—The three indictments against Mrs. Jeanette Stewart Ford, charging her with black-balling Charles L. Warner, convicted former treasurer of the Big Four railroad, another charging her with receiving stolen money, and a third charging her with sending threatening letters, were noted this afternoon by Judge Caldwell of the common pleas court. This ends her connection with the sensational Warner case.

The statement said that Mrs. Ford is ruined in fortune and health and that further prosecution would put her in a madhouse.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN FUNERAL COACH.

Carriage Returning from Cemetery was Struck by Train.

Haverstraw, N. Y., June 9.—Four people were killed and one seriously injured here this afternoon when a locomotive struck a coach returning from a funeral.

The victims are: William Beebe of Haverstraw; The Rev. A. Romath, pastor of the Methodist church of New City; Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Siefred of New City.

Mrs. Perry Keeseler was critically injured.

All five were in the coach returning from the funeral, where the burial service had been in charge of Mr. Romath. The accident occurred at the West Shore railroad crossing on Johnson street, where the tracks cross the Erie tracks at a distance of 150 feet.

Witnesses differ as to whether the gates which guard the crossing were down. After the accident it was found that the gate on one side of the track was broken on the Sackett side, indicating that it had been struck by the train or by a piece of flying debris. Engineer Johnson and several witnesses were held pending an investigation by Coroner Dutcher.

William Beebe, one of the killed, was a son of Richard Beebe, one of Haverstraw's most prominent citizens. He was driving the coach. The others were inside.

LEPROSY IS SPREADING

To Nearly Every State in the Union, Say New Orleans Doctors.

St. Louis, June 9.—Officers were elected at the 61st annual session of the American Medical Association today, and the standing committees, which were announced by President William H. Welch, were confirmed by the house of delegates.

In the section on dermatology a paper by Drs. Isadore Dyer and Ralph Hopkins of New Orleans announced that leprosy is spreading to nearly every state in the Union, and that no concerted method of caring for leprosy is practiced. Officers were accused of neglecting the quarantine laws.

The importance of the prevention of infant mortality was urged at the section on preventive medicine and public health. Seven other sectional meetings were held.

MOTHER BAILEY'S DESCENDANT.

Death of John Philip Henriques at Edgewood, R. I.

Dr. John Philip Henriques, 52, a prominent physician formerly living in New Haven, died Monday at his home in Edgewood, R. I., of Bright's disease.

Dr. Henriques was graduated from both the academic and medical schools of Yale. From there he went to Heidelberg, where he received a degree.

He was the son of Ellen Stoddard Henriques of New London, a direct descendant of Old Mother Bailey of revolutionary fame and Capt. J. A. Henriques of the United States army, who died in Providence four years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha Sherman White and an infant son. He was a member of the Yale club, the University club, the Rhode Island Yacht club, and the Rhode Island Medical society.

Preachers' Pay.

A census report published only a few days ago shows that the average salary paid to clergymen in this country is about $600. Two years ago the average income of Presbyterian preachers was only $400, so that the pay of the clergy seems to have increased at the rate of $20 per year since 1908, a weekly raise of about 58 cents each year.

Wonder is often expressed that in these days so few young men are going into ministry. Union Theological Seminary notes the falling away of students. So do the Episcopal institutions. The large universities have very few prospective ministers on their lists, the great proportion of theological students coming from the little colleges in the west—colleges whose names are rarely mentioned.

Almost any trade offers larger inducements, in the way of earnings, than the ministry, and, besides, the clergyman has to go through long years of preparatory education. If there were no other incentive than money for men to go into the ministry, very few would take up this profession.—Newark News.

George Cooney's Left Hand Crushed—Has to Be Amputated—Methodist Episcopal Society Serves Supper—First Communion Class.

George Cooney, the 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooney of High street, met with a painful accident Thursday noon at the Snetucker worsted mill, where he was employed. While at work on the extractor his left hand was caught between the friction pulleys and was terribly crushed. The cries of the boy brought employes to once. It was found necessary to use the machine apart to extricate the badly mangled hand. Dr. P. Cassidy was called and the boy was taken to the Backus hospital, where the hand was amputated about 4 inches below the elbow. The lad bore up bravely through the trying ordeal. He is a bright, ambitious boy, well liked by acquaintances, who deeply sympathize with him and his parents, who have six other children to care for.

A Noble Rule of Life.

To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury; and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable; and wealthy, not rich; to listen to stars and birds, babes and sages, with open heart; to study hard, to think quietly, act frankly, talk gently, await occasions, hurry never; in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden, and unconscious grow up through the common—that is my symphony.—W. H. Channing.

Carlisle's Expressive Phrases.

The phrase "unspeakable Turk" came into use in England during the Bulgarian insurrection of 1876. It originated with Thomas Carlyle and made its appearance in a published letter of his, in which occurred the following sentence: "The unspeakable Turk should be immediately struck out of the question and the country left to honest European guidance."

Putting Expression into It.

The teacher of elocution was nearly discouraged, says a writer in the Boston Transcript. He urged his pupils, in some excitement, to put more expression into their recitations. "Too flat!" he exclaimed. "Too colorless!" You can do better than that. Try again. Now! Open your mouth and throw yourself into it!"

A Country of Marksmen.

The younger generation of Americans cannot keep pace with the one now passing away in respect to general familiarity with firearms. Pistols may be as common as they were 50 years ago. Certainly there are more in use than there ought to be. But shotguns and rifles, especially shotguns, were once found in nearly every farmhouse and in such homes the great majority of Americans were then born and "raised." A generation of city-bred boys cannot be expected to know guns in the old way, and now there is so little use of shotguns on farms that they are by no means as common as they used to be even in the open country.

Yet we are still a nation of marksmen, in an altogether unusual degree. The number of Americans who can shoot well is immense, taking the country as a whole. It is an accomplishment which "comes easy" as the saying is, to American men and boys. They are descended, in large measure, from generations of experts with firearms. The habit of marksmanship is ingrained.

It is not a light matter. The life of a nation has more than once depended upon the ability of its sons to hold a rifle barrel level and aim it steadily at the mark, living or inanimate. Soldiers must have more than skill with firearms, but it is true now, as it has been for centuries, that straight shooting is vital. Napoleon knew, and he said that "Fire is everything."—Cleveland Leader.

What Happened to Alice.

"What became of Alice Green who came from Pottstown, Pa., to New York to make her mark in the world?" asked some visitors at an art school. "She was going to do such wonders in New York," "I think," answered a pupil, who had known Alice Green, "that she walked in front of a surface car she thought was going the other way."

In the month of May there were 30 suicides in Philadelphia.

George L. Lilley Company Incorporated

In the office of the secretary of state at Hartford, Monday, there was filed a certificate of the incorporation of the George L. Lilley company. The certificate states that the purpose is to take over all the real and personal property of the estate of George L. Lilley, late of said Waterbury, deceased, to acquire any and all other real and personal property deemed desirable to hold, manage, invest, reinvest, loan, sell, exchange, donate and encumber such property in the same manner and to the same extent as a natural person lawfully may, and to engage in any and all kinds of lawful business, excepting such as is or may hereafter be prohibited by the laws of the state. The amount of the capital stock is $9,000, divided into 90 shares each of the par value of $100. The corporation shall commence business on $1,000. The incorporators are Mrs. Anna L. Lilley, John L. Lilley, Frederick P. Lilley and Theodore Lilley.

Clicquot Club

(Pronounced Kleek-o-Club)

Ginger Ale

WHY experiment with ginger ales which are made of red pepper—and often of saccharine, brown sugar, molasses, coal tar coloring matter, acid flavors and hydrant water—when you can get a pure ginger ale made from fresh ginger, "Confectioner's A" sugar and pure flavor?

"Clicquot Club" is the one ginger ale which does not have that biting, burning after-taste caused by the abundance of red pepper. The pure, fresh ginger used in Clicquot Club gives it a delicious, gratifying taste, pleasing to every one; the fine quality Confectioner's sugar gives it body and food value; and the pure citric fruit flavors add zest. There's no ginger ale so good as Clicquot Club, or so delicious.
