Chapman-Brewer Marriage Ceremony. As the comrades of A. C. Tyler camp, No. 8, U. S. W. V., were gathered in Town Clerk Penton's office Wednesday evening, a couple entered and requested a marriage license. The clerk issued the document and then when the couple stated that they wished to be united in matrimony the department commander of Connecticut, who is also a justice of the peace, performed the ceremony. Commander Thomas Joyce and Comrade A. W. Sweet were witnesses to the ceremony uniting Joseph Lee Chapman, a widower, and Mrs. Emma Jane Brewer, a widow.

Alleged Violation of Fire District Laws.

The alleyway between the Fuller block and the Holmes building on Main street, that has been partially filled up with a lunch cart until recently, has been leased to Mrs. Augustine Clarke, who will conduct a fruit stand there. Carpenters are at work constructing a wooden shanty-like structure. Considerable comment has been heard relative to the erection of the building, which is said to be in violation of the restrictions governing the fire district.

Small Deficit Made Up.

At the regular meeting of A. C. Tyler camp, No. 8, U. S. W. V., Wednesday evening, one new comrade was mustered, William O. Vinton. This brings the roster of Tyler camp up to an even forty. The various reports made by the members of the department camp handed the department encampment without any particular difficulty. A small deficit was made up out of the funds of the camp. Department Commander Frank P. Fenton thanked the comrades of Tyler camp for their hard work in his behalf and assured that he will endeavor to give the department of Connecticut a good administration.

The Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States is again getting behind with its cases. In 1890, when the circuit court system was created, there were 1,800 cases on the docket. Since that time about 422 cases on an average have been decided each year. Two of the supreme bench members have been vacant during the last year, however, one, that of Justice Moody, for the entire year, and the other, owing to the death of the justice, for a part of the time. The result has been that only 391 cases have been disposed of at the term which has just closed. The backlog of cases on the docket is now 585 cases, or 108 more than were there a year ago. Some of these cases are of great importance, not to individuals alone, but to the business interests of the country generally, and the delay in passing upon them has been a matter of regret.

Some of the members of the supreme court are now advanced in years. It is not to be expected that they should turn out as much work as younger men are able to do. There are plenty of able and upright lawyers in the country. It ought to be a comparatively easy matter to keep the seats on the supreme bench occupied, and that by men of vigorous health and judicial attainments. To this end provision has been made for the retirement on full pay of justices who have reached an age at which most men are no longer capable of sustaining for long periods the heavier burdens of life.—Charleston News and Courier.

World Growing Better?

Those who believe that the world is growing better may find statistical encouragement for that opinion in a forthcoming publication of the census bureau—the special report on the census of religious bodies for 1906, which shows that between the years 1900 and 1906 the growth of church membership in the United States was greater than the increase of population.

The report will show that out of every 1,000 persons in the 100 principal cities of the country, that is, those with a population of more than 25,000, there were 469 church members, while for the area outside these cities there were 362 and for the entire country there were 391. As compared with 1890, the report shows a gain of 90 communicants in each 1,000 of population for the principal cities and a gain of 51 outside of them.

Another fact which the census statistics of church membership disclose is that in the continental United States women church members exceed men by 32 per cent. The proportion of men church members is larger in the cities than in the country. The excess of women members in the principal cities accounts for 66.526, which is only 25.1-2 per cent.—Washington Star.

The award of scholarships for next year follows: In dairying, V. G. Aubry, Switzerland; in zoology, F. L. McDonough, Mass.; in mathematics, A. D. Hatfield, East Hampton; in English, G. A. Root, Danbury; in entomology, W. O. Hollister, Washington.

The annual meeting of the alumni association at 4 o'clock in the afternoon resulted with the following election of officers: President, Olcott F. Fenton; secretary, W. O. Hollister; Grive W. Deming of Robertsville; secretary, Allen W. Manchester of Bristol; treasurer, Prof. Charles A. Wheelock.

The exercises for the day closed with the reception and dance in the evening that was greatly enjoyed by the large number in attendance.

Salary Day for Team.

Wednesday, the 15th, was salary day for the Colts, and although the nine has played but one game in seven days the owner of the club and president of the Connecticut Baseball association dug down in his jeans and paid every man on the rolls his little bit. The roster is so long that it took exactly 437 to go around and that is only twelve dollars a salary. Manager Dunn cut down the squad by a single man Wednesday night, releasing Biggame. He is a good enough player, all right, but someone had to go and the can was tied to him. No player has had to wait for his money that has been affiliated with the Willimantic aggregation and the mayor intends to be right there at the finish. It's a wonder someone would not show a little genuine spirit and give the man behind the little boxes in the endeavor to furnish baseball instead of knocking all the time.

Joe Doyle Released.

It is understood that Mayor Dunn has released Joe Doyle, who has been doing the housework in the Willimantic nine this season. The youngster is a brother of "Plag" Doyle, the oldtime ump and ball player. Little boxes in the endeavor to furnish baseball instead of knocking all the time.

JEWETT CITY

County Pomona Meeting With Local Grange—Practical Addresses—Baltic Clerks Win Thursday's Game, 9 to 3.

A largely attended meeting of New London County Pomona grange, No. 6, P. of H., was held in Finn block on Thursday. In the morning at 10 o'clock the grange opened in full form in the fifth degree, Everett P. Barnes master. The grangers were adjured to remember that the farmer is the steward of God and it is through the farmer that the Great Master above feeds the world, and that it was an occasion for rejoicing that the grange takes a leading part in teaching the farmer how to correctly perform this all important task.

The master expressed the sentiment that the grange is working towards the standard of love, when the spear is beaten into the pruning hook, which cuts out the dead wood to make the vine more beautiful.

It was voted to hold the next meeting in August at Preston City.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session opened at 1.15 in the fourth degree, at which time the following interesting addresses were heard, with musical selections of merit by the Preston City grange orchestra: The Educational Awakening of Connecticut, by Prof. L. K. Zabriskie of Preston City; The Agricultural Awakening of Connecticut, by George W. Smith of New Haven, editor Connecticut Farmer; an address by L. H. Healey, worthy master of the Connecticut State grange; original poem: Our New Connecticut, by Mrs. Lizzie L. Colver, lecturer of Ledyard grange; The Rural Church Renewed, Rev. W. F. White, chaplain of Ledyard grange. An excellent dinner was served by members of the local (Pachaug) grange. The weather was unfavorable but the place is very accessible and the enthusiasm of fifty visitors from various sections of the county who found a courteous grange here to welcome them.

The Baltic clerks defeated the borough clerks on the Brewster or park grounds by a score of 9 to 3 Thursday afternoon. There were so many show-up enthusiasts were washed away. Baltic had some pretty swift people who when there was a chance to play kept something doing every minute.

Forty and a Bank Balance.

Writing of a popular artist of the day who happens to be unmarried, a contributor to one of the current magazines says: "In these days a man doesn't indulge in matrimony until he has achieved 40 and a fat bank balance."

"What folly! When will writers stop attributing to mankind in general the thoughts and habits which pertain only to an insignificant minority? The average man, if he marries at all, indulges in matrimony long before he is 40 and still longer before he has a 'fat bank balance.' It matters comparatively little to him, or to his wife, if water in the morning and bread and butter in the evening are not available. And both of them are unfortunate if marriage is postponed, unless, of course, till either reaches the age of 40.

At 40 a man ought to have children approaching graduation from the high school. He may even have a son in college, the better for him if he has. A comfortable balance at the bank is an admirable attribute for any home, but it is not so important as that the home be established. If men postpone matrimony till they were 40 and were listed in Bradstreet's—well, what sort of a world would this be, anyway?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Abuse of Boys.

A Massachusetts legislative committee is investigating the Lyman school for boys at Westboro. The charge is made that the boys have been cruelly treated, and the death of one boy named Newton, 14 years old, has something to do with the investigation. This boy ran away from the institution. He was flogged with a piece of rubber hose, attached to a stick. Besides being flogged the boy was placed in the solitary cage, where he was fed on bread and water in the morning, and bread and milk at night. He was not given anything to eat during the day. After being locked up for a day or two he was found dead. The officials claim that he committed suicide by hanging. The facts may be exaggerated, but the investigation ought to be thorough. The tendency of the human mind is to harden under extraordinary experience with the weak, the feeble minded and the incorrigible.—Waterbury American.
