VARIOUS MATTERS

The day we celebrate! Flags out!

Columbia's one hundred and thirty-fourth birthday.

Saturday and Sunday were searchoers for the holiday travelers.

The Otis library reading room is not opened on Sunday afternoons during July and August.

Grocers and marketmen did a big day's work Saturday, delivering supplies for three days.

A big excursion to Ocean beach will come down on the Central Vermont road by special train today.

The household goods of William Sears were moved from Center street, New London, to Montville, on Friday.

As far as possible, railroad freight houses will be closed for the Fourth, no freight being received or delivered.

In some towns Red Cross cards have been placed on houses where sick persons are, as a warning to noisy celebrators.

Fishermen who land any striped bass should remember that fish less than 12 inches long should be returned to the water.

Mrs. Flora J. Hendrickson of Springfield has purchased a building lot at Crescent beach from Wealthlin E. Harries of Willimantic.

The earth celebrates the national holiday by passing one of its annual milestones, as on the Fourth it is at its greatest distance from the sun.

The twenty-third annual convention of the German Catholic societies of the state is being held in Hartford, beginning Sunday and continuing today (Monday).

George Leiper and Miss May Dutton were married Friday at Waterford. They are to reside with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dutton, of Great Neck.

At the annual meeting of the state board of agriculture, held Friday at the capital, it was voted to hold the annual convention December 13-15, the place to be decided on later.

Articles for summer wear and holiday pleasure sold well on Saturday. There was a lively demand for bathing suits and scores sought the benches for a cooling dip in the surf.

Connecticut members of Polish Turners are in Webster, Mass., to attend the fifth annual convention of the Fifth district societies comprising the Polish Turners of the New England states.

July 1 a new form of money order at the postoffice became effective, but is little different from the old orders. It will bear the name of the sender of the order, which the one in use for many years did not.

The work of macadamizing Ocean avenue from Bentley avenue to the shore is under way. When this work is completed there will be a stretch of macadam practically 15,000 feet long, reaching from Bank street, New London, to Long Island sound.

Dealers in tobacco have received notice that hereafter packages of cigarettes which formerly contained ten of the "cotton nails" will contain but eight. The price will remain the same. This action is said by the manufacturers to be due to the increase in the government tax on cigarettes.

Military men have been notified that a memorial to Gen. O. Howard is proposed in the form of a life-sized portrait, painted by a distinguished American artist just before the general's death. This portrait will be subscribed for by patriotic societies and presented to the nation. It is on exhibition at the art galleries, at Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, New York.

MILK DEALERS FINED.

Eight from This Part of the State Paid $40 and Costs.

Eight eastern Connecticut milk producers were fined $40 each by Judge

McEnery in the United States court at Hartford, Thursday last, for violation of the pure food laws. The men were Clark O. Terry of Willimantic, T. J. Smith of Danbury, A. A. Bosworth of Eagleville, O. C. Chaffin of Mansfield Center, Jonas Danielson of Pomfret, W. G. Jennings of Putnam, C. L. Warner, Jr., of Elliott and William Fitzgerald of Elliott. They all pleaded nolo contendere to the nature of the plea had been explained, and Judge Platt fined each $40 and remitted the costs. The fines were paid.

Postoffice Hours July 4th.

The postoffice will be open from 6.45 a. m. to 12 m. today. The first delivery will be the only delivery made by carriers, and which will include a collection from the street letter boxes. The money order department will be closed all day. The city delivery window will be closed also. Outgoing mails will close at 12 m. The last collection from the street letter boxes will be made at 5 p. m.

Greeneville and Norwich Town stations will close at 12 m. for the day. At stations 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 no money order business will be transacted.

Trips will not be made by rural carriers. Patrons on rural routes can call for their mail between 9 and 10 a. m. at the Norwich office.

Corporation Matters.

Documents have been filed with the secretary of state as follows:

Certificate of amendment, before organization, to certificate of incorporation of the Eastern Machine Screw company, so the location of the company shall read as in the town of New Haven instead of New London.

The incorporators of the company are Norris S. Lippitt, Walter S. Garde, Solomon Youngman, Robert O. Eaton and J. Henry Rorback.

Musical Service.

A musical service was held at the First Baptist church Sunday evening.

Rev. Mr. Thayer spoke upon Old Familiar Hymns, their origin and their composers. The program was interspersed with solos, trios and quartette singing by the choir, making an interesting and enjoyable service for those present.

Mooshead Taken Down.

Deputy Jailer John A. Bowen has had the large mooshead which has hung in police headquarters for many years removed, and after it has been touched up in a bit it will be taken to the city hall in good condition, though aged.

How He Got Away.

The Meriden police force had a funny and annoying experience the other night and one that had come near making it the laughing stock of the whole town.

The police had arrested a man 22 years old and taken him to the police station. Burglary, committed in Southington, was the charge. While he was being booked at the Meriden police station an officer stood on each side of him while the chief entered him on the record. Suddenly the man made a dash out of the station with the chief and two officers after him. He ran through an "open territory" and climbed to a roof, being in sight practically all the time, he got away from his pursuers. He was seen to be carrying a comic opera—that is, it is funny to every one except the officers who let him get through their fingers.—Hartford Post.

McEnery and the Tariff.

The death of Senator Samuel Douglas McEnery of Louisiana, brings to mind his vote for the Dingley tariff bill in 1890.

McEnery, a Democrat, was one of the few of the democratic party who voted for his reelection. But Louisiana was well satisfied with his conduct. He had repeatedly secured the industries that needed protection. When he returned home early in August, 1897, after the adjournment of congress, the democracy of New Orleans gave him a public reception at the Grand Opera house, and he made a speech in which he declared that he would not support the tariff.

"The democratic senator from California voted for a high tariff on borax because California is a borax-producing state. The democratic senator from Kentucky earnestly worked and voted for wool alcohol and the democratic senator from Tennessee worked and South Carolina favored the protection of rice and lumber. Why did they aid and assist in making the bill protective and then vote against it? The interests they advocated would have been lost by the defeat of the bill. I voted for the interests of Louisiana and I voted for the tariff."

In 1898, as in 1897, Senator McEnery, a honest man who had the courage of his convictions, voted for a republican tariff bill, and to the people of New Orleans he could have repeated the speech he made to his fellow citizens after the passage of the Dingley bill.—New York Sun.

Early Catch of Crabs.

George N. Usteradt, the well known engineer at the Ulmer leather company, started the crabbing season by catching 23 fine ones at the drawbridge recently. He made a record last Labor day when he pulled in 165 at Trask's wharf. Mr. Usteradt is an expert fisherman.

Collision Was Averted.

Sunday morning a collision was averted on the Norwich branch when the train in charge of the southbound passenger train and the northbound electric saw each other in Lisbon and were able to stop before coming together. It occurred north of the tunnel. No one was injured, but one woman, it is said, tried to jump out of a window.

He Got the Candy.

A country doctor who took his two small children, a boy and a girl, around with him one day on his visits, had forbidden them to accept candy, pennies, or other offerings where he visited. One day, while looking after the wife of his grocer, he left the two children in the store. The grocer made up a bag of candies and cakes and offered it to the children. The little girl declined, saying: "Papa has told us not to accept presents." As the grocer was putting the bag back on the counter, the boy, who had been regretfully eyeing the retreating bag, said: "Papa said we mustn't take them, but he didn't say I mustn't let you put them in my coat pocket."

Earthquake Fears.

Mankind are strangely inconsistent in the matter of running risks. There is no danger that appalls the imagination more than the danger of earthquake, and yet those parts of the world that are most subject to earthquakes seem never to have been therefore shunned by human beings. An earthquake is an "act of God," and men are clearly helpless against it. Like death, no one knows when it may come; but, unlike death, it may never come to all, and therefore men fear it less than death.—London Times.

There is in England a relief map of Uganda which contains 2,900 square feet and the claim is made that it is the largest in the world.

Cures for Sleeplessness.

In nearly all hospitals where there are patients in an excitable condition who cannot sleep and where it would be injurious to give narcotics, the following method is adopted. A hot-water bottle is covered with flannel and placed at the feet. A thin tissue bag of thinnest silk rubber is partially filled with cold water and placed to the base of the brain. This is about ten inches long and six inches wide, as soft as silk and only half filled with cold water, so it does not feel bulky back of the head. In many cases the patient goes to sleep within a few minutes, because this draws the blood from the active brain, which is one cause of insomnia. When the patient is extremely nervous, a crackle spread with butter and sprinkled lightly with cayenne pepper is eaten. This heats the stomach. The sticking wound around the neck, not too close, yet rather snug, is an old method, for it does not retard the flow of blood from the head to the arteries, but it does retard the flow to the head, just as the cold water assists. All these methods are simple, effective and harmless.

He Got the Candy.

A country doctor who took his two small children, a boy and a girl, around with him one day on his visits, had forbidden them to accept candy, pennies, or other offerings where he visited. One day, while looking after the wife of his grocer, he left the two children in the store. The grocer made up a bag of candies and cakes and offered it to the children.
