

WANTED, MISSING CASHIER WHEN Swarthy of Complexion, 32 Years Old, Five Feet Five and Weighs 135 Pounds.

POLICE SEND OUT A GENERAL ALARM For Erwin Wider, Cashier of Russo-Chinese Bank, New York, Principal in One of the Most Puzzling and Serious Defalcations in History of Wall Street—It is Believed Wider had an Outside Accomplice.

New York, July 25.—"Wanted: Erwin Wider, about 32 years old, five feet five inches in height, weight about 135 pounds; swarthy of complexion, with a small black mustache, curled at the ends. Wears a dark suit, and is usually seen with a German accent, and is timid in address."

Such is the general alarm sent out by the Russo-Chinese bank, which cashier of the Russo-Chinese bank, although, oddly enough, the district attorney's office said tonight that no aid had been asked against him by the bank and that no application for a warrant had been filed.

Most Puzzling Defalcation. But this contradiction is only one in a series that have kept stop with every development of what is now admitted to be at once the most puzzling and the most serious defalcation in the history of Wall Street since Cornelius Alvord stole $50,000 from the First National bank, served a term in Sing Sing and then retired to the seclusion of a country home.

$500,000 Gone. When the Russo-Chinese bank first made public the fact that its strong box was short, the amount was given as $50,000, all in negotiable bonds, a list of which was furnished. This afternoon the amount suddenly jumped to $500,000, of which the additional $450,000 is said to be in stocks partly owned by the bank and partly by its customers.

No List of Certificates Available. No positive statement has been made yet as to where these stock certificates now are, or with what intent they were stolen. The securities were obtained from Wider, said Inspector Markowski. "They must have known that he did not own them; they ought to have been in the hands of the Third company men, inasmuch as they are used in connection with the battery Woodstock where the Third company is stationed."

Stolen Bonds Hypothecated. It was known yesterday that at least the stolen bonds were hypothecated with brokers and that the bank knew where they were. The names of these brokers are still withheld, but today the list of names has been narrowed down to two well known houses. "We shall institute suits to recover from two Wall Street firms the securities they obtained from Wider," said Inspector Markowski. "They must have known that he did not own them; they ought to have been in the hands of the Third company men, inasmuch as they are used in connection with the battery Woodstock where the Third company is stationed."

Bank Credited With $15,400,000. The Russo-Chinese bank is credited in Wall Street with a capital of $15,400,000, but it could not be learned today what assets of capital are credited to the bank in this city. The New York branch is not under the jurisdiction of the state banking department, but it does not appear to be a regular business in deposits, but makes loans with foreign funds.

Several Artillerymen Get Off for Work. All Are Getting a Good Coat of Tan from the Work in the Sun—Lieut. Church in Charge of Primary Station. The daily work on the batteries continues at Fort Mansfield, where the two companies from this city and the Danielson company are located. Daily practice is being held and the drills in the open are giving the men some good coats of tan. Their faces and khaki uniforms are about the same color as the ground.

Several of the members of both companies have been given short leaves of absence because of work in town which is pressing and needs their attention. Corporal Burdick of the Third company came home Sunday night for a few days, but returned to the front on Monday. Manning of the Fifth company, who has been allowed a few days off, Corporal Green of the Third company, and Saturday night because of pressing work in town.

The officers at Fort Mansfield have complicated the local commands on the excellent work of the batteries. The loading and discharging of the guns is timed, and on the two smaller batteries there is much competition between the gun teams to which can accomplish the trick the quicker. This competition adds interest to the work.

In command of the primary station is Lieut. Church, of the Third company, while the range finding machine is in charge of Sergeant Bossey. There is much interest in this part of the work and here the company officers were handed out by the army officials for the clever work of the inland artillerymen. The work of the Third company men, inasmuch as they are used in connection with the battery Woodstock where the Third company is stationed.

Grand Trunk Starts Freight And Miss Leneve

CARRIES OUT PROMISE MADE FOR WHOM A WORLD-WIDE SEARCH HAS BEEN MADE. NO INTERFERENCE ARE BOUND FOR MONTREAL. Sixteen Trains Sent Out from Toronto and Other Points—Small Quantity Moved on New London Division.

Toronto, Ont., July 25.—Carrying out its promise to resume the movement of freight the Grand Trunk railway despatched six freight trains from the yards at Mimico, three to the west and three to the east. Ten freight trains were sent out from other points in the province. All the trains started from here with full crews and there was no attempt at interference by the strikers.

Palmer, Mass., July 25.—Several towns and village depending upon the Central Vermont railroad for freight services are much inconvenienced by the strike in this province. The woolen mills has closed, and in Stafford, Conn., ten woolen mills may get shut down unless they can get supplies. The food supply of Stafford has been short for several days, and it has been necessary to employ auto trucks to the relief of the town.

A small quantity of freight is being moved on the New London and Northford division of the Central Vermont, but a congestion exists at Palmer and other points.

The South Bend Mob Kept Well in Hand. Precautions Taken for Thorough Protection of Property. South Bend, Ind., July 25.—Although the mob is kept well in check by a large force of police and deputy sheriffs, trouble here in connection with the Grand Trunk strike is being kept away. The crowd was much smaller today than yesterday, indicating that upon the whole the mob is being kept under control. Further trouble is looked for when the men are relieved, and precautions were taken for the thorough protection of the woolen mills.

One Freight Train Sent Out. The crowds today that gathered at different points along the line was made up largely of men and boys, many of whom had no particular interest in the strike. Although the road was able to operate one freight train out of the city, no interference was offered by the mob. "The mob is kept well in hand," said the trainmen in charge.

Four Companies of Militia Ready. City police and many special officers are on duty in connection with the Grand Trunk railroad tonight, but there was no indication of a new outbreak of violence by strikers or their sympathizers against the train crews.

7,600 RUSSIAN JEWS EXPELLED SINCE MAY From Kiev and the Suburbs Solomenka and Demiefka. Kiev, July 25.—From July 16 to July 25, 7,600 Russian Jews have been expelled from this city and the suburbs Solomenka and Demiefka. Of this number 137, while marked for expulsion, were taken to the city and held in a camp without waiting to receive the customary three days' tickets given to those who are expelled by what is known as the "second method." In this class are allowed three days in which to wind up their private affairs and to take their families to other parts of the empire. The "second method" are subject to drastic measures.

In the nine days mentioned 325 were expelled by the first method and 151 by the second method from Kiev; 32 were expelled by the first method and 137 by the second from Solomenka, while 71 were sent away by the first method and 129 by the second method from Demiefka.

Up to July 25 the records show 7,593 expulsions since May 14, when the imperial decree ordering all Jews to leave the restricted district of the Polish provinces and the Ukraine set apart for them, became effective. However, allowance must be made for a great number of duplications, as many Jews, following their original expulsion, have returned, only to be sent away again.

TWINS MEET FOR FIRST TIME AT AGE OF THIRTY-NINE. Amos and Cyrus Lape Were Separated at Birth. Pittsburg, July 25.—Amos and Cyrus Lape, thirty-nine years ago, are acquainted for the first time. On account of the mother's death in giving birth to the twins, they were separated to live with different families and lost track of each other.

The reunion of the brothers, which is now being celebrated, was brought about by a mistake. A stranger who ran upon Amos at work in Export, Ky., demanded to know what you do in Export? Amos demurred: "But I'm not you; I am Amos. I have heard I had a twin brother named Cyrus, but never saw him. Do you know him?" "Well, rather," said the stranger. "He's a neighbor of mine at Dunbar, Wayne county. I'll lead you to him," and he did.

Nineteen Deaths From Sunstroke

VITALITIES EXHAUSTED BY SUN-DAYS SLEEPLESS NIGHT. NEW YORK CITY'S HEAT Not So Fierce as Sunday, But More Deadly—Temporary Lodgers Filled the City Parks Last Night.

New York, July 25.—Today was another scorcher—not so hot as yesterday, the hottest here of the year, but more deadly. The maximum temperature was 91 at three o'clock today, against 84 yesterday, and the maximum humidity 53 as against 83, but there were nineteen deaths today from sunstroke against two yesterday and a correspondingly longer list of prostrations. A sleepless night had rendered vitalities exhausted by the heat yesterday unable to cope with the added strain today.

Suffering on the crowded East Side, where the humidity in rooms was intense, and the public baths were never so crowded.

All the beaches were crowded, but even from Coney Island one death was reported. All the city parks were thick tonight with temporary lodgers.

MERCURY REACHED 92, HUMIDITY NOT SO GREAT Monday Night's Shower a Mere Sprinkle in New Haven.

New Haven, July 25.—Although the thermometer registered 92 degrees at its highest as it did yesterday, the humidity was not so great, 65 being the highest point reached against 73 Sunday. The intense heat was also overcome to some extent by the breeze from the southwest, which blew the greater part of the day and in the early evening. Tonight the wind died down and the heat was as noticeable as it was in the city and the beach resorts were crowded tonight, many of those seeking the coolness of the beaches spending the night on the benches in preference to returning to their hot and stuffy rooms in the city. There was but one prostration reported for the night, that of John E. Egan, who was overcome while at work on a building. The rain which was looked for to cool things off proved to be but a mere sprinkle in the city and did not strike some of the shore places at all.
