

FIRST AEROPLANE M D 3 IN NORWICH ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION.

The Bulletin

Norwich, Tuesday, Sept. 6, 1910.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Ice men are busier than in July. The day does not break now until 3:17.

Monday was exactly thirteen hours long. The Halle club and restaurants were closed for the holiday.

Cattle are enjoying rich pasturage since last week's rains. It meant three days of rest for employees of brokers' offices.

Some cottage owners have already leased their shore places for next season. The best moonlight nights this month will be from the 17th to the 22d.

Yardsticks, fans, tags and whips were in all hands yesterday afternoon. Mabrey's hotel at Ocean beach closes tonight, after a signally successful season.

Plazas along the route to the Fair grounds were well tenanted all day yesterday. For the first month of fall, September has been decidedly reminiscent of summer.

Many social affairs planned for the holiday had to be held indoors because of the rain. A plague of stinging ants and hungry mosquitoes accompanied Monday night's heat and humidity.

Follow the crowd to see Stebbins-Geynet aeroplane exhibition at the New London county fair—adv. Norwich people write home from California of the intense heat, which compels sleeping out of doors nearly every night.

Thunder, sharp lightning, rain in sheets and lightning that was unbearable made the early morning hours of Labor day full of discomfort for those forced to be out and about. In St. Patrick's church on Sunday next high mass will take the place of the low mass and music, which has been the rule during the summer.

In the shore towns, fishermen did not fare well the past week. Only moderate catches were made. This week they will spend in getting their craft in condition for the fall season. The September White Ribbon Bazaar says: Windham county, at its last convention, voted to raise $100, to be used for organizing purposes. Some of the unions have already raised their amount.

The opportunity offered the public to inspect the Stebbins-Geynet aeroplane yesterday was enjoyed by hundreds of people—adv. Throughout the summer there have been few excursions to Watch Hill. Outside of the few special excursions on the Block Island, there have been very few excursions brought to the resort.

In spite of the rain there was a good attendance at the regular high mass for deceased members of St. Mary's T. A. and E. society, celebrated in St. Patrick's church on Monday at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Hugh Treanor. At the confirmation service in St. Joseph's church Sunday, the sponsor of the men and boys was Joseph Kiczuk and for the women and girls Miss Mary A. Cankowska.

Very Low Colonist Rates Via Nickel Plate road to California and far southwest, daily August 23 to September 4 and September 20 to October 14, and to Washington, Oregon and far northwest, daily September 14 to October 14. FAIR OPENING POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAIN.

Everything was in Readiness However, and About 2,500 Were on the Grounds During the Afternoon—Entries in the Different Departments Heavy—Connecticut Agricultural Experimental Station Display—Plenty of Excitement in the Midway With Games and Shows.

George D. Fillmore, I. N. Gifford and Frank Hiltner, who had planned the opening of the New London county agricultural society long to decide to postpone the fair a day and have the opening today instead of Monday. There were many exhibits on the grounds and others kept coming, but there was little hope of a large attendance. The society lost heavily because of the rain, as a holiday crowd can be secured on no other day, yet it is expected that the attendance this year will be up to the average. It is estimated that there were between 2,000 and 2,500 on the grounds on Monday, which indicates the interest in the event, and also what may be expected with pleasant weather. Thousands of course, stayed away, anticipating postponement of the opening of the fair. The grounds are in fine shape this year, the large building having been painted and the refreshment stand on the north bettered. In the exhibition hall practically all the familiar exhibits were there with numerous new ones. The displays were arranged and a large proportion of the fruit, flowers, vegetables and dairy products usually entered were all arranged, and a large proportion of the fruit, flowers, vegetables and dairy products usually entered were all arranged, and a large proportion of the fruit, flowers, vegetables and dairy products usually entered were all arranged.

IN THE CATTLE STALLS.

Sleek Looking Animals Shown in Good Numbers. The cattle of New London county were well represented in the handsome stalls at the fair grounds Monday, although a large number of the entries did not put in an appearance because of the bad weather. The sleek looking animals were unassailable evidence of the possibilities of this part of the county and the ability of its farmers to raise cattle that for quality cannot be surpassed. James B. Palmer, the genial Lisbon farmer, whose reputation as a stock-breeder is known far and wide, has 32 as fine looking cattle as one could wish to see, pure blooded Guernseys with a sprinkling of Holsteins. A four year old pair of Devonians from that pair of fat Herfords are among them. Bond Boy, 8 years old, is the splendid black headed bull. A registered cow among which is Lily Erotas, 8 years old, who holds a butter record of 21 pounds in seven days.

Rooster. Mr. Palmer exhibits 52 sheep, Dorsets, Hampshire, Southdowns, Shropshires and several other breeds, Chester O. I. C's and Chester whiter, Chester O. I. C's and Chester whiter, Chester O. I. C's and Chester whiter.

Next to Mr. Palmer, who has his usual position on the south side of the grounds, the Round Hill farm headquarters next to the horse stables, is a new cattle exhibit. This is Ray L. Harding of Ashland farm, Lyme, who exhibits a fine lot of cattle. The town fully justifies the reputation of that section for choice thoroughbred breeding stock. A registered cow, 2 year old bull, and 19 thoroughbred calves ranging from 4 years down to heifers are particularly fine animals. The owner, Roy L. Harding, all of whom are particularly fine animals.

Attention, three pair being contributed by William Bogue, and one pair each by Stephen P. Sterling, James Lord, and Roy L. Harding, all of whom are particularly fine animals.

Lyme. Mr. Harding has a private team of 11 pair, and as a whole the team is particularly fine. The first time they were driven to the town and to the men who raised them. Mr. Harding is president of the Lyme Agricultural Association, which holds its annual one day fair at Hamburg on Wednesday, Sept. 21.

A. Read of Lisbon, an exhibitor of high class cattle at the fair, for more than a dozen years, has 20 Jerseys on the ground. They are as good as any in the state, their well known owners believe. They are all milk and butter records that are hard to beat. Lady Sunflower, 4 years old, has given 14 quarts of milk a day, a daily average of 21-2 pounds of butter. The head of the herd is King of Connecticut, a splendid appearing 3 year old Jersey bull. Read also shows two breeds of geese, African and Toulouse.

E. Lathrop of Raymond Hill, Montville, has a pair of 6 year old Devon oxen to pull for the prize, while J. Lawrence Raymond of Raymond farm, has a pair of 6 year old oxen to pull for the prize.

John D. Avery of North Stonington arrived late Monday afternoon with a dozen of his Ayreshire cattle; John Marvaring, G. H. Morgan, Pendleton Bros., Gideon Dickinson, George Kahn and other entrants will have their cattle on the grounds today, and when the fair opens on Monday the exhibit will fully measure up to the standards of other years.

Charles H. Ames and Elias H. Chapman have returned from a week's stay at Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Lockport, N. Y. Judge and Mrs. Martin Van Buren Brudge of Montville were the guests of Mr. Brainerd's brother, Louis Brainerd, of this city, on Sunday.

Mrs. Della Wells, who has been visiting Mrs. William H. Mansfield of Poquetanuck, for the past few days, has returned to her home in Willimantic. Misses Belle and Mildred Wells of Willimantic, who have been visiting Miss Phoebe Mansfield of Poquetanuck, have returned home.

Mrs. Charles S. Fuller of Sumers, accompanied by Mrs. Orrin Burden, came to her cottage at Crescent beach, where she will remain two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bates and son Virgil have returned to Ware, Mass., after spending a week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fern Miner of McKinaw avenue.

Mrs. J. A. Randall of Groton and Mrs. S. H. Mead.

Shea & Burke. In the accustomed place occupied by the firm for so many years, Shea & Burke are making a specialty this year of Taylor's baby bed, which excites the admiration of all the young folks. The safety hood, the fact that the clever device can be pushed in under an ordinary bed when not in use, economizing space, that it is absolutely impossible for a child in such bed to have accident or injury, makes the device of interest. In connection with this the firm exhibits carpets, rugs, draperies, dressers, etc. D. T. Shea, assisted by Thomas F. Shea, looks after the exhibit.

Porteous & Mitchell. Porteous & Mitchell have an extra large amount of display space this year, occupying an attractive booth 25 feet long and six feet deep with an exhibit of Rose, Chelsea and Shetucket sewing machines—with the inducement of a machine for every five dollars' worth of goods. The firm also has on display a variety of vacuum cleaners also on view. There is a natty showing of gentlemen's furnishings, coats and clothing, including comfortable looking fur lined coats as a specialty. J. A. Quinn has charge of the clean line of men's suits. John Moos shows the sewing machines.

Eaton, Chase & Co. Eaton Chase & Co. fill a new 28-foot booth effectively arranged with a practical display of carpenter's tools, extra heavy tinware, guns and ammunition, timely now that the hunting season is at hand. Freezers, neckties and a big showing of Sherwin-Williams paints and Starrett's tools. C. E. Sayers explains the merits of this exhibit.

N. S. Gilbert & Sons. N. S. Gilbert & Sons are back in the regulation space with a fine display of Hiram ranges and heaters, the Globe-Wernicke extension bookcase, a novel black oak near-English sideboard which, with a variety of other room furniture, another novelty in Circassian wainut chiffonier and sideboard, mahogany and birdcase maple dressers, a beautiful satin finish brass bedstead, rugs, etc. H. G. Aurelio is pointing out the features of this display.

X-Ray Exhibit. Dr. Gillette's exhibit of ground glass, of eye glasses, the demonstration of what the X-ray will do, etc., is in charge of Mrs. L. C. Tiffany.

Schwartz Brothers. Schwartz Bros. new exhibitors, fill a big amount of space with a fine display of Model 4 and Nickel plated, brass beds, rugs, elegant dressers in birdseye maple, and the superior Ely and Co. bedstead, the only one-made bed on the market. Simon Sigval, Abner Schwartz and Anna Schwartz are showing this display.

Fine Hair Goods. Mrs. L. E. Pratt has something to interest all the women visitors to the fair, a showcase filled with up to date styles in hair goods, including the wavy tilted pompadour, cluster and single puffs, switches, coronet braids, cluster curls and a number of pieces made from ladies' own combings, all her own work. She shows besides a varied assortment of Franco-American toilet requisites.

H. B. Porter & Son exhibit specimens of fine woodwork, doors, columns, a trademark of the Excelsior automobile, exhibited by C. V. Pendleton, Jr., he claims the merits of reliability, economy, speed, cleanliness and the minimum of noise.

Plaut-Cadden Company. As usual, the Plaut-Cadden company is making ready for all fair visitors by means of an artistic showing of high grade pianos, including the Hallett & Davis and the Wasserman. They show, too, the Wasserman player, the Simplex, the Edison Victor, phonograph, the Victor Victrola, at all.

Incidents in Society. Stovell Gilbert of New York was at his home on Broad street to spend Labor day.

Mrs. Robert W. Perkins of Rockwell street has returned from a visit in Fair Haven.

Miss Nannie Pond of Woonsocket, R. I., is the guest of Miss Rose Trumbull of Perkins place.

Mrs. Charles J. Rockwell of San Francisco, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. E. Perkins, is visiting relatives in Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Allen has returned to their home, on Elm avenue, Norwich Town, after several weeks spent at their summer home at Brookfield, Vt.
