OBITUARY.

Bruno Tiesler. One of the best-known and oldest residents of Norwich town, Bruno Tiesler of No. 31 West Town street, passed away at his home on Thursday evening about 6 o'clock.

He was 66 years of age. For a considerable time he had been in failing health and for the last six months had been confined to his bed with a complication of troubles, for which the foundation was laid in his army service in the civil war.

Mr. Tiesler was a native of Germany and was born in Breslau in 1821, being past his 79th birthday at the time of his death. When a young man he came to New York City, and then to a time in New York and then in Massachusetts and working at his trade of a tinsmith. At Readville, Mass., he was employed by the Boston & Company B. of the Twentieth Massachusetts volunteer infantry, serving with the regiment until April 14, 1862.

After the war, Mr. Tiesler resided for a number of years in Massachusetts, but 25 years ago moved to this city. He had a family of four children here since. For the past twenty-seven years he has lived at Norwich town, locating on the East Side (Preston), when he first came here. His shop on West Town street, next to the Congregational church, was a familiar sight for years, but was removed a few years ago. Mr. Tiesler has not been in business for the past seven years.

He was highly esteemed, both as a workman and as a citizen, among all his acquaintances. He was a great friend of those who feel his loss. He was a faithful husband and an affectionate father, doing his utmost for his family. He was a member of the Congregational church and of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R.

He is survived by his wife, four children, Mrs. George E. Bartlett of this city, Mrs. Frank Cotton of Worcester, George A. Tiesler of Worcester, and Miss Anna Tiesler of Norwich. He has parents, also leaves six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

SALLYPORT REPAIRED.

Magazine is Now Being Restored at Fort Griswold.

At old Fort Griswold, in Groton, the magazine appears to extend under the present big flagstaff on the southwest corner of the fort, near to old sallyport. The sallyport has been fully repaired and put back into almost the same condition it was in Revolutionary days. Just a few feet from the entrance to the sallyport the magazine was located. A small structure of English brick, the brick being built right into the stonework, this building had much to do with the memorable occurrences of the time. Colonel Leeward fell. The general belief is that the magazine, which is now being restored as much as possible, was built one of a chain of buildings within the enclosure where the blood which sealed America's freedom was spilled.

The fall flagstaff which marks the fort was erected in the centennial year. When it was anchored it seems that it was planted partly on the large sallyport and partly on the smaller one. The part of the old magazine already uncovered will be replaced under historic supervision. Many of the bricks have crumbled and several of the flagstaffs, the work of planting the big flagstaff, as the upper layers seem to have suffered more than the lower strata.
