BIG OPENING OF Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT COURSE Oratorio Artists Delighted an Audience Which Filled Central Baptist Church.

Those in charge of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course this year have been pleased with the result of the opening number which took place on Tuesday evening at the Central Baptist church, when the seating capacity was practically filled by the large number in attendance, numbering about 800.

The first of the five attractions in the course was the Oratorio Artists, a quartette of excellent ability including the following: Miss Florence Huckle, soprano; Miss Adah Hussey, alto; Reed Miller, tenor; Frederick Wheeler, baritone, while the pianist was William Janaushek. All possessed remarkable voices and provided a programme of eleven numbers which delighted and many enjoyed were given. Enthusiastic applause followed each number and the singers were recalled many times in acknowledgment.

The accompaniments were skilfully played. The voices were well blended and each singer proved to be a master in his line, the solo, duet, trio, or quartette selection being especially rendered with warmth and expression. Miss Huckle possessed a sweet, soprano voice which charmed her hearers in all her numbers while the contralto's voice was likewise well trained and under perfect control. Afton Waters was beautifully rendered by Messrs. Miller and Wheeler were in strong voice and skilfully handled. The pianist's solo was especially noteworthy for its mastery of the instrument. The programme as given was as follows: Quartette—Waltz Song from Song Cycle, Florida; Piano solo—Autumne, Chaminade; Baritone solo—Gloria, Buzzi Peccia; Duet—Home to Our Mountains, from Il Trovatore, contralto and tenor; Verdi Soprano solo—

a. In the Time of Roses, Reichardt; b. A Birch Tree, Schumann; Sextette from Lucia, arranged for four voices, Donizetti; Duet—I Feel Thy Angel Spirit, 80-grano and baritone; Tenor solo—An Old English Song, Wellings; Trio from Faust—Soprano, tenor and baritone, Gounod; Contralto Solo— a. Afton Waters, Old Scotch b. An Open Secret, Woodman; Quartette—Good-night, Belovet, Pensult

GOOD PROGRESS ON ARTESIAN WELLS Still Going Through Dirt and Gravel—Fifteen Feet a Day is Average.

The work of drilling the artesian well at the water works is progressing well and on Tuesday morning the well was down over ten feet. The slowest work is at the start and it is expected that it will commence to average about fifteen feet a day directly. It is to be operated night and day. The drill operates like a churn, water being run into the pipe where it rotates and the mud and water removed by a bucket. The pipe is occasionally driven deeper.

NEW HAVEN TRACK BLOCKED. Coal Car Across the Main Line at the Lower End of the Freight Yard.

Tuesday morning while shifting freight cars in the lower end of the freight yard of the New Haven road an engine was in between several cars and a coal car was not noticed by the engineer that a coal car was on the siding at Sunnyside. This resulted in a hard bump and the buckling of the wooden car which was empty. That was ground into kindling wood and much of it thrown into the river, while the steel car was torn from its tracks and thrown across the tracks, blocking the line for about three-quarters of an hour. The rails were torn up for a distance of five rods and a siding had to be used to get around the wreck.

MASONIC TEMPLE ORGAN. That for the Lodge Room Has Arrived and Will Be Set Up on Once.

Lengthy Discussion of Water Question Matter Was Up for Consideration Before the Board of Trade. Engineer Quick of Baltimore Tells Why He Considers Pease Brook Plan the Best—Mayor Thayer's Attitude and a General Talk on the Subject.

With Alfred N. Quick of Baltimore present, one of the firm of Hill, Quick & Allen, civil engineers, who recommended the Pease brook watershed ten years ago for a water supply, the board of trade, held its meeting on Tuesday evening at the Buckingham Memorial, discussed the question of a water supply for the city.

President Tracy called the meeting to order and the minutes of the meeting were read and approved. Four new names were added to the membership of the board, and Dr. Vernon Hiscox was offered for membership and voted upon favorably, which President Tracy said raised the board's membership to 318, the largest in its history.

Report on Charities. The chairman of the special committee on charities, Gen. William A. Alken, reported on the progress of the work that he had expected meeting with the board of selectmen, but so far the selectmen had not been able to meet with the board of selectmen, which the committee had requested.

President Tracy stated that the transportation committee had not been able to induce the Consolidated road to get the Portland express to stop here, although the chairman had made a personal appeal by a trip to the New Haven office.

Want to Combine Offers. The president also called attention to the fact that New London had voted the sum of $50,000 in the effort to get the Portland express to stop here, although the chairman had made a personal appeal by a trip to the New Haven office.

Water Question Taken Up. The water matter was then introduced briefly by President Tracy, who advised that it ought to be treated with a report of progress, and the question of who proposed any particular site, but for the citizens to decide with only the best interests of Norwich in mind.

Mayor Thayer's Attitude. The mayor affirmed that this was just his attitude in recommending Pease brook and he felt the responsibility of the matter. He said that for something must be done very soon or we shall soon be out of water. He appealed to the board of trade to use the money to do the best thing.

Engineer Quick's Views. Following applause which greeted the mayor's words, President Tracy introduced Alfred N. Quick of Baltimore, who, he said, was now engaged in a project involving the expenditure of eight million dollars in the city of Baltimore to review the reasons for choosing Pease brook when this question was considered ten years ago.

Use of Avery Pond. Civil Engineer Chandler said he was most concerned about getting water from the Avery pond, he asked Engineer Quick if it was not feasible to adopt Pease brook, but extend a pipe line to Avery pond now, from which to fill Fairview reservoir, thus saving the condemnation of twelve miles of land and only paying for what water we need now.

Vote of Thanks. This concluded the discussion, and after President Tracy had expressed the thanks of the board to Mr. Quick for coming here without charge for his time and expenses, the meeting adjourned to the post room, where coffee, sandwiches, doughnuts and cigars were served.

Real Measure of the Cost. The real measure of the value of any scheme to add to the dependable supply is the cost, said Mr. Quick, and he offered some comparisons along that line. An area of 11.9-10 miles above the suggested dam at Pease brook would be ponded one billion feet hundred million gallons, increasing the dependable yield by 6,880,000 gallons, and giving a total dependable yield with the present supply of eight billion gallons. No other site made such a saving in water, and the present source and another half of as most available in opposition to Pease brook, and you would then be faced to face with the present situation. Regardless of whether the Pease brook project would cost $300,000 or more, it would certainly cost less per gallon than any other project. By raising the Fairview dam the dependable yield was increased 25,000,000 gallons daily at a cost of $24,000. The trading one project would cost $300,000 per million gallons increase; another project of this people would cost $300,000 per million gallons increase; but the Pease brook project would cost $59,000 per million

MADE VISIT TO PEASE BROOK AND FAIRVIEW. Enough Water in Brook at Dam Site to Take Care of Consumption. With Civil Engineer A. N. Quick of Baltimore, City Surveyor George E. Picher, Water Commissioner Walter W. Lang and Alderman Gerry Gray, Pease brook reservoir site on Tuesday afternoon, going to the proposed site for the dam. They also went around Fairview reservoir, but did not have time to visit Meadow brook.

At the place suggested for the Pease brook dam there found water enough to more than take care of the present consumption of the city of 1,400,000 gallons daily. At this point the water in the brook is about a foot deep now, is about five or six feet deep and the distance between banks twenty feet.

SUPREME COURT WILL FINISH SESSION TODAY. Business Completed Except for One Case and Part of Another. The supreme court of errors of this state came in here on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for the October session in the Second judicial district. The court was opened by Rev. Hugh Treanor.

The cases of P. W. Marlon, adm., vs. the Connecticut company, Marie Kruck, adm., vs. the Connecticut company, Mary Gordon vs. the Connecticut company and Gilbert S. Raymond, Jr., vs. P. E.
