Thomas W. Biddles to Run for Representative as an Independent Candidate—Rebuilding of Pawcatuck Valley Road Completed—Ex-Governor Utter Nominated for Congress—Prohibitionists Select Nominees—Death of Joseph Chesebro.

Thomas W. Biddles, who was candidate for nomination as representative from the First district, Westerly, to the general assembly, and who was defeated in open republican caucus by Joseph T. Murphy, has bolted the caucus and will make a try for the office as an independent candidate.

Without any personal effort but by the persistent work of the Westerly delegates to the congressional convention, ex-Gov. George H. Utter of Westerly was nominated from the Second Rhode Island district Wednesday to succeed Congressman Adam R. Capron.

Soon after the declaration of Mr. Capron to be a candidate for re-nomination Mr. Utter declared that he was in no sense a candidate for the place and would do nothing to secure delegates favorable to him, but that if the convention saw fit to nominate him he would gladly accept.

The Westerly delegates, however, took a different view and put up a stiff fight for the nomination. They informed the special committee of five that if they failed to present any other name than that of Mr. Utter for the nomination that the matter would be taken up in the convention. The committee decided to make no recommendation and it was a free-for-all contest.

There were three candidates, George H. Utter, Walter R. Stivers and Edward O. Arnold, and Mr. Utter won out by a majority over all. The vote, George H. Utter 91, Walter R. Stivers 51, Edward O. Arnold 24. Utter's majority was 40 votes.

Samuel H. Davis nominated Mr. Utter, Joseph P. Burlingame of Warwick nominated Mr. Stivers and Mr. Sayles of Burrillville nominated Mr. Arnold.

The last congressman from Westerly was Nathan Fellows Dixon, who was elected in 1882 and served to 1871 when he declined re-election.

At the Rhode Island republican state convention Wednesday, all the state officers were unanimously renominated, the governor and a major portion of them for a third term.

Joseph Chesebro died Tuesday at his home in Jersey City, aged 72, and his body will be buried at Wequetequock today (Thursday). He was a brother of Mrs. Frank Larkin of Westerly and Miss Fannie Chesebro of Wequetequock.

A boy employed in the Clark thread mill cut an artery in his left wrist when a knife he used to cut ends slipped.

peel, the point entering the wrist. There was a free flow of blood and the boy was taken to the office of Dr. R. B. Smith for treatment.

No Escape. "Are you in favor of woman suffrage?" she asked. "Oh, yes; enthusiastically," he replied.

"Now, I wish you would tell me why you think women ought to forget their children and their household duties and get out into the world to mix up in political affairs. If you know of any good reason."

"Good heavens! I beg your pardon. I merely said I was in favor of it to avoid arguing with you. Can't a man be safe on any side any more?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bulls. This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots, is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known kidney medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On rising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Lee & Osgood Co.

The Usages of War. War is necessarily had enough under any circumstances, but its laws and usages are steadily changing for the better. In very early times all prisoners were ruthlessly put to the sword or reduced to slavery, and as for the property rights of the belligerents they did not exist. In the famous pact of Justinian it is stated without the least equivocation that an enemy's property of every description is res nullius (that is to say, is without an owner) and that occupancy, by which the captor makes it his own, is an institution of natural law. If things were as bad as that so late as the time of Justinian what must they have been in still earlier times?—New York American.

Zeno's Paradox. Many persons will recall the famous paradox of Zeno by which he sought to prove that all motion is impossible. "A body," he argued, "must move either in a place where it is or in a place where it is not. Now, a body in the place where it is stationary and cannot be in motion, nor, obviously, can it be in motion in the place where it is not; therefore it cannot move at all."

Bodies do move, however, and that is a sufficient answer to the ingenious philosopher.

Banks in France. The "till money" held by commercial banks in France is the only cash they have on hand, and that seldom exceeds 3 or 4 per cent of their deposit liabilities. The joint stock banks, however, have a secondary reserve, amounting to about 15 to 20 per cent of liabilities in "money at call and at short notice," which is money loaned to merchants and others on stock exchange and similar securities.

The Unknown. A Frenchman attended a Jubilee celebration. At the end of the justification a friend asked him if he had enjoyed himself. "Why," he said, he had, with the characteristic French shrug and upturned hands, "it was magnificent. The haggis was good, the whisky was very good, the singing was good, but who was Mr. Auld Langsyne? Was he a Scottish chief?"—Argonaut.

It's All in the Name. Listlessly turning the leaves of the new city directory, Mr. John Jones discovers that there are 694 men of his name in the municipality. "This will never do," he declares. "I must get out and make a name for myself."

That very afternoon he applies to the court for permission to change his name to Alcibiades Chugwater Dobbelennick.—Judge.
