

Norwich Bulletin and Courier. 114 YEARS OLD. Subscription price, 12c a week; 50c a month; $6.00 a year.

The Circulation of The Bulletin. The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper in Eastern Connecticut, and from three to four times larger than that of any in Norwich.

CIRCULATION 1901, average 4,412 1905, average 5,920 Week ending November 5, 1910, 8,550

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKETS. Election Tuesday, Nov. 8th. For Governor, CHARLES A. GOODWIN of Hartford.

HIGGINS FOR CONGRESS. Edwin W. Higgins five years in congress have been years of hard work and of a succession of achievements.

JUDGE AYLING'S RECORD. The record of Nelson J. Ayling, judge of the Norwich court of probate, is first class—every vote for him is an endorsement of a competent official and a just judge.

ACT RATIONALLY. It is up to the republicans to act rationally today and special action does not warrant the punishment of the innocent with the guilty.

GOODWIN FOR EIGHT-HOUR DAY. Charles A. Goodwin, republican candidate for governor, when an alderman in the city of Hartford, as a member of a joint special committee to consider a resolution granting an eight-hour day to the unskilled workmen in the employ of the street department, said to the members of that committee:

THE REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVES. The republican candidates for the general assembly of 1911 are men who are popular with their party.

The Payne law reduced the tariff on 524 articles and increased the tariff on 229 articles. The Payne tariff law increased the tariff on goods the consumption value of which was $4,951,474. A balance of over $1,000,000 on the domestic side of the ledger.

TREASURER COSTELLO LIPPITT. Costello Lippitt, the republican candidate for state treasurer, has been endorsed by the Central Labor union of Norwich because he is the friend of labor.

THE AMERICAN WORKMAN'S EXTRAVAGANCE. The democratic candidate for governor has fixed opinions as to what the American workman should do. Following is a quotation from a lecture of Judge Baldwin's delivered at Hartford, March 8, 1902, as reported by the press of that city:

"A single man earning $1.50 a day should not get married until he had $100 saved up. There was a general tendency to spend more money than necessary; all were spending too much money. If you go down Main street you will find many merchants spending much more money than they can afford; there are a great many such in New Haven. Lace curtains are too frequent in workingmen's houses. I have traveled abroad considerably and saw no other country where they spent so much on the table or ate so much as in the United States. Nobody ought to eat more than two hearty meals a day. There is intemperance in eating as well as in drinking. The American workman eats twice as much meat as the average European. The English, French, German and Italian people do not eat nearly as much meat as the American, who should eat more fruit."

THAT PARCELS POST CIRCULAR. The issuer of the parcels post circular against Congressman Higgins is doubtless as ignorant of the action of our congressman as he is of the foreign parcels service which he misrepresents to deceive nationalized American citizens.

Foreign parcels rate to this country: Incorrect Correct Rate. Rate. Norway, 2 1-2 lbs. 15c . 38 Belgium, 4 1-2 lbs. 35c . 60 Austria, 4 1-2 lbs. 35c . 60 Germany, 4 1-2 lbs. 38c . 60 Italy, 7 lbs. 29c . 54 Italy, 11 lbs. 78c . $1.31 Germany, 11 lbs. 81c . $1.31

"All fractions of a pound count as a full pound and is so charged at all postoffices. This anonymous writer makes the same mistake with reference to the domestic parcels service, and shows he is totally incompetent to discuss the subject.

The people of the Third congressional district have never asked for a parcels post service. The Bulletin has advocated it, and knows that Congressman Higgins may be relied upon to favor it whenever it comes before congress so that he can act upon it.

EVERYBODY SURE OF ELECTION. All the candidates are sure fortune will favor them at the polls today, but the voters know one-half of them are mistaken. It is not easy to predict which one. There is disaffection in the democratic party and in the republican party, and between the change of votes and the errors liable to be made in marking the ticket, no man can predict what will happen, although the republicans have faith that Goodwin is to win.

The New Haven Times-Leader of Monday evening says: "Appearances indicate that there will be at least one landslide in Connecticut tomorrow—a landslide which will give the socialists an increase of 100 per cent over any previous election total recorded for their candidates. There are no other landslides in sight, and veteran observers are confident that most of the socialist gain will be in consequence of democratic loss."

There may be other landslides, but there is no reason to believe that the people are about to bring upon themselves the distressing conditions of 1902.

WHAT MAY BE SETTLED TODAY. The national results today may determine what is to happen in 1912. Ray Stannard Baker is right in his recent assertion that: "A new party—new in the sense of having new ideas and new leadership—has come into being within the last year. Thus far, it is inside the republican party, seeking to control the republican party, which it may or may not succeed in doing."

There is no such word as fall with the new party—it is not the party booked to die. If it cannot make way for a higher regard for the people's interests, it is likely to make a way for itself.

EDITORIAL NOTES. That which is rashly done cannot be well done. Duty should represent intelligent action, not resentment. The throats of the political orators have proved equal to the strain!

The scientists are trying to make out that good nature is due to germs. The democrats are likely to know what the wild waves are saying by 10 o'clock tonight. Happy thought for today: A November wind ruffles the leaves—may it bustle the ballots.

He conducts himself like a good citizen who votes upon his convictions, not upon a tale he has been told. Goodwin is expected to carry Connecticut today by a plurality of 15,000. May the official count verify this estimate!

The Hartford Courant says: "There's one thing about the looking that Brown gave to Yale on Saturday; it was a good one." Out in Illinois the voters are being asked by the press not to send men to the legislature who should be sent to the penitentiary.

The republicans of Massachusetts expect Desper to win over Foss to day by 50,000, and the republicans of Rhode Island expect to carry that state by 11,000 plurality. Mr. Tilden says the tariff causes high prices. Boots and shoes are dearer than ever. Hides come in free,

THE BULLETIN'S DAILY STORY RUSH ORDER

"Now, ain't that the limit!" said Sade, the stenographer, to Mamie, the manicurist. "Ain't that the limit? An almost blond fairly with 50-cent puffs and a red nose, 'doin' the butt-in' act and almost guesing your little Sade!"

Wages in protected industries in the United States are 300 per cent higher, on the average, than wages abroad, and are no lower than the same percentage in the non-protected ones. Free trade would cut down the wages of the American workman.

Of the $787,756,874 worth of goods on which the tariffs were increased, $248,549 came under the head of luxuries, articles of voluntary use, while $240,852,525 came under the head of necessities. In other words, the user of luxuries pays three-fourths of the tariff increases and the user of necessities one-fourth.

"Weasel Words." Having made John Bunyan's "man with the muckrake" famous, Mr. Roosevelt has taken a similar service for Stewart Chaplin's "weasel words." He is quoted in the New Hampshire despatches as having "insinuated weasel words with the meaning of 'words that suck the meaning out of the words that follow.'"

The most important element in the construction of these platforms is what the satirist calls "weasel words." They are the words "that suck all the life out of the words next to them, just as a weasel sucks an egg and leaves the shell so that if you heft the egg afterward, it's as light as a feather and not very filling when you are hungry, but a basketful of them would make quite a show and would tamperize the unwary." Examples of "weasel words" are "wise exceptions," "justly," "undue," "daily," etc., and their synonyms and variables.—The Public Chicago.

The Situation in Uruguay. Between Argentina and Brazil in South America there lies the beautiful piece of country known as Uruguay. It has a population of about 1,600,000 persons and a fine capital city called Montevideo, with a population of about 25,000. The area of the country is 72,172 miles, which makes it clear that the country is not thickly populated. With a commanding position and a most favorable proximity to prosperous and developing neighboring countries Uruguay apparently has a great future.

Uruguay is not very well known in the revolution column, but it appears there is now some kind of political disturbance which has called forth a revolution seems imminent. The despatches recently said the revolution would probably now be under way were it not for a shortage of horses. A great part of the population of before yesterday she shifted the connection after I'd said 'Hello' and old Perkins got something like this from Freddy: "Hello! This is Schlusinger's department store. We want six dozen No. 9 E. E. dining chairs. 'That meant all you go to the show?' 'Eight o'clock tonight.' 'Schlusinger's is Freddy's store. He's head salesman in the soap department, you know. Schlusinger's do buy a lot of Swanson's goods. 'So that perfectly crazy order was entered up with 'Extra' just written all over it, and the little 72 chairs were delivered that day. 'Geel' but a Kansas cyclone never was wild. For hours I was figuring out what kind of death I should suffer if they spotted the source of the fuss. 'But they didn't. I gave Freddy the tip right away to cut out the phone calls till the atmosphere cleared down to at least a little below 200 degrees.' 'Geel' said the manicurist. 'Suppose' it all spotted you?" "Oh, I don't know," replied the stenographer, as she arose to leave the parlor. "When I told Freddy he said: 'Stops will be made in every mining town long enough to enable miners to undergo training in rescue work, and the instructions given will be without expense to the miners. In addition to their educational mission, the cars will be kept in readiness at all times to respond to calls for assistance in case of mine disasters.'—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Western Scorn of Vermont. The best that the state of Vermont could show up in the 1910 census was a gain of 12,315 over the count of ten years before. These figures would indicate that the diminutive Yankee state had about reached its maximum growth. A good, substantial state like Vermont with all of its resources in the hands of private individuals and with no fields of industries to be developed, ought to be well qualified to show a state like Oregon, which adds much population in a month as Vermont has in ten years, the best method for conserving our resources. Old maids have a habit of telling young mothers how children should be managed.—Portland Oregonian.

A Science Now. As an explanation of expensive bacon when the price of hogs is lower, the market is to become more of a science than ever.—Washington Star.

Lower Prices for Meats. Patrick Cudahy has demonstrated the capacity to tell far in advance the direction which will be taken by the prices of provisions. He predicted a standstill now that he says they will go lower it is safe to accept his judgment on the subject as correct, especially in view of the circumstance that in this country is the low price of wheat and corn. Last year grain prices were soaring. It did not pay farmers to keep their stock, for the stock would eat its head out of sheep and hogs and cattle were sold because it did not pay so well to keep and fatten them as to sell them and also sell the high-priced grain which they would have consumed if kept on the farms. Now that, for the time being, Russian wheat has taken the place of American wheat in the markets of western Europe, there is a reduction of grain prices in the American market, which will make it more profitable to the American farmer to convert much of his surplus grain into meat and sell it in that form than to dispose of it directly.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Mine Rescue Cars. The new bureau of mines at Washington is preparing to start its "portable mine rescue stations" on their travels. Six cars are to be equipped with apparatus for mine rescue work, and will be sent to mining towns in various parts of the country. The first car is already on its mission of education in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. The second car is being equipped at Urbana, Ill., and is to visit in turn the coal fields of eastern Illinois, southern Indiana and western Kentucky. Four other cars are being prepared for service, and will have headquarters at Rock Springs, Wyo.; Billings, Mont.; Salt Lake City, Utah, and Knoxville, Tenn. The car which is stationed at Knoxville will visit the mining towns in the coal fields of eastern Kentucky. Every car is to have a complete corps of rescue men, a mining engineer, who will deliver lectures, and a Red Cross surgeon, who will give demonstrations in first aid to the injured. Stays will be made in every mining town long enough to enable miners to undergo training in rescue work, and the instructions given will be without expense to the miners. In addition to their educational mission, the cars will be kept in readiness at all times to respond to calls for assistance in case of mine disasters.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Health and Beauty Hints BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

I. E. H.: I don't quite understand what you mean when you say you "do not want to resort to artificial means to preserve your hair." Surely you try delatone to remove those wild hairs? I have used it for many months. Just mix a little of the powder with a little water, so as to make a paste. Apply to the scalp from which you wish to remove the hairs, let remain two or three minutes, then wipe off the paste and wash the skin thoroughly with warm water. Delatone is rather expensive, and your druggist will charge you a dollar for one ounce, but it is much cheaper than electrolysis. Repeat the application once a week. If the hairs should return, they will be thinner and lighter each time until they finally go for good. Use the paste fresh for each application.

Mrs. J.: Very few of the so-called "egg-shampoos" contain eggs in any appreciable quantity. A shampoo with eggs is rather "mucky" and is not an undertaking. Why don't you use plain canthrox? Then your shampoo will be a pleasure instead of a torment, your head will be absolutely clean, and your hair will be beautifully soft and pliant. First dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water, pour a little on the head each time, rub as you would with any other shampoo; then rinse your scalp and hair in the clean warm water. Canthrox makes plenty of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, removes dandruff and relieves itching. It will not fade the hair, make it dry or brittle, or cause it to break like some soaps do. After a canthrox shampoo, stay-hair dries quickly, and it is fluffy and bright so that you can dress it quickly and neatly.

Q: Yes, I know what the sun and wind have been doing to your complexion. Use this beauty lotion and you will be so discouraged: Dissolve four ounces of spumax in a half-pint of hot water, add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine and let cool. Apply to the face, neck and forehead with the palm of the hand, rubbing gently until dry. Spumax refreshes, cools and whitens the skin, removes freckles, tan, dryness, sallowness, chapping and cracking of the skin due to heat, wind or weather. Use it freely; it won't rub off or show like powder.

Mrs. K. C.: You should begin taking a good, safe, flesh-reducing remedy at once, as the remedy is for one to take an extra flesh during the winter months. By dissolving four ounces of parnotis in six pints of water and taking a tablespoonful before each meal, you will remove your extra flesh rapidly without any harmful effects, and have a more shapely figure. This remedy is harmless, and has proved a wonderful source of relief to many many ladies who were troubled with over-fatness.

Patience: Your complexion will become clear, pure and refined—the admiration of all who see you, or know you—only when you give it the attention it deserves. Managing with astringent cream is the best black-head remover and open pore cure I know. So get from your druggist one ounce of astringent, dissolve it in a half-pint of cold water, add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine, stir well and let stand over night. Use this daily for massaging and as a face cream. The simplicity of this face treatment and the speed with which it clears the complexion of blackheads, roughness, redness, etc., are almost beyond belief. Almozin makes the flesh firm and fair and the skin soft and satiny.
