VARIOUS MATTERS

Yesterday was commemorated as Willis's Temperance Sunday.

Fishermen in the shore towns are pleased that the inshore cod season has begun.

Dr. John L. May of Westerly has been appointed a member of the resident staff of Backus hospital.

Saturday's weather was a mixture of April and November, snow flurries occurring while the sun was shining.

Rev. F. O. Cunningham had charge of the Sunday evening service in the Congregational church at Preston City.

A meeting of the state convention committee of the A. O. H. was held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at Watertury.

The eighteenth annual report of President Schurman of Cornell university, just received by The Bulletin, shows an attendance last year of 5,194.

About 200 attended the marines' dance at the navy yard, Friday night, including guests from Montville, New London, Groton and Noank.

Mrs. George S. Palmer sang the Prayer from the altar for the offertory solo at the First Church of Christ, New London, Sunday morning.

The temperature Sunday morning was below 30 degrees, and the day was raw and disagreeable, with a brief shower and snow flurry during the afternoon.

With the closing of the strike of express men in New York, local agents of express companies expect a rush of matter that has been tied up since the strike started.

H. O. Averill, cattle commissioner of Washington, Conn., has been in East Hampton, consulting with Dr. B. A. Galpin in regard to a case of glanders and tuberculous cattle.

At the postponed meeting of the Connecticut Historical society, Tuesday evening, a paper will be read by Dr. B. A. Galpin on Jonathan Trumbull, The Revolution of an Administrator.

Plans are being drawn for a summer residence at Ocean Beach for Mrs. Sarah Asher of Norwich. It will be a frame house, containing ten rooms, and will be provided with the usual conveniences.

For the second time during the present year the Knights of Columbus will levy no assessment among its members during December. Great abundance of funds accounts for this exemption.

Miss Millie Baker and Miss Katherine Ryan were added to the list of Norwich pedestrians with good distance records on Sunday. They did a 10-mile run from Norwich to New London in good time.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern Connecticut branch of the Woman's Board of Missions will be held at the First church parish house, New London, Thursday morning and evening, with several interesting addresses.

A new local billposting company is erecting a building on the Perkins lot in Laurel Hill avenue. It is to be used for posters, which will not add to the attractiveness of that residential section, and is calling forth many comments.

Rev. William T. Thayer is well settled in his new pastorate, the Wallingford Baptist church, and preached Sunday morning on Paul's Definition of the Church. In the evening his theme was The Disciples Report to His Lord.

Saturday's Meriden Journal said: After seeing the sights of the world as one of Uncle Sam's tars, Arthur Truman Randall, Jr., son of Rev. A. T. Randall, arrived home last night after a full enlistment of three years in the United States navy.

Connecticut, according to reports in the trade papers, leads the United States in the quality of tobacco grown. Its crop being valued at $2,182,000 pounds. The crop was a yield of 1,730 pounds to the acre. The tobacco was all 100 per cent. good.

Norman Lathrop of Uncaeville had a peculiar experience the other day. While out hunting he stepped from the dense brush on a road and just in time to be knocked upside down by a large deer which got away, although the gun was discharged in the mixup.

Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock has issued an order which reduces from thirty to five days the length of time an uncalled for letter, which bears the address of the writer, is held before being returned, this applying where the sender specifies no time.

A series of instructions on the catechism, to be given in St. Patrick's church, was begun Sunday by the Rev. Thomas A. Gentry, who presided on the end of man as defined in the catechism. To know, love and serve God on earth, and to be happy with Him forever in Heaven.

A count will be kept, beginning yesterday, of all letters and packages received on the various trains for distribution and the number of letters contained in the packages and also the number of sacks of papers distributed and the number of papers in the sacks.

As there are no educational examinations for vacant places at the nearby forts, applicants need not appear anywhere to be examined. They simply file application with vouchers, etc., showing their age, physical condition, qualifications, etc. The age must be between 20 and 50.

The executive board of the Soldiers' home at Newton, Judge A. B. Beers of Bridgeport, George S. Smith of Middletown and Past Department Commander May of Meriden, held a meeting at the home Saturday, when official inquiry was made concerning the poisoning that took place last week.

Richard Leont, Middletown weather prophet, has predicted that the 15th and 16th there will be a storm, succeeded by a mild spell, likely to last until November 25. On the 26th and certainly on the 27th and 28 there will be a hard storm, likely to be rain at the start, with snow at the end.

J. E. Crary Sells Farm. James E. Crary, a long-time and well-known resident of the town of Griswold, sold his farm on Saturday to Willis A. Terry, who also lives in the same town. Mr. Terry has been living for a long number of years with his brother, Frank B. Terry, on his homestead. He has not yet decided just when he will take possession of his new farm.

Mr. Crary's plans for the future are unsettled, but should he decide to move away from the town he will be greatly missed, as he has a large circle of friends in that section.

Thanksgiving Cooking demands the best of everything. You certainly can't have a turkey dinner with Vanilla and other flavors.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Franklin H. Brown is ill at her home on Laurel Hill avenue.

Mrs. Catherine Ring Crowley is in New York on a business trip.

District Supt. J. H. Newland of Norwich was in Willimantic Saturday.

Miss Annie Schwartz returns today from a visit of two weeks in New York, visiting in New Haven, also, over Sunday.

W. Norman Lathrop has returned for his senior year at the College of Pharmacy, Philadelphia, after spending several months at his home in the interest of his health.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. William H. Babcock. After an illness of a week the death of Mrs. William H. Babcock occurred at her home, No. 28 Maple street, at 10 o'clock Saturday night, from pneumonia. She had been an invalid for the past six years, being confined to the house during that time because of lameness.

Mrs. Babcock was born in Stonington, June 24, 1824, the daughter of James and Henrietta Fanning Crang. Her maiden name being Margaret O. Cranston. When two years old her parents moved to this city and most of her life has been spent here. She married for her first husband Capt. Henry C. Ewen, and later Norman Park of Canterbury. Her third husband was William H. Babcock of this city, whose death occurred a number of years ago. She came of a family in which longevity is characteristic. She was a member of the Second Congregational church for many years, and was one of the oldest attendants at the Sunday school, having been enrolled there when Rev. Mr. Mitchell was the pastor. She was deeply interested in all work and took a prominent part when able.

Mrs. Babcock was the last of her immediate family. She won many friends by her kind and unassuming manner and was a general favorite, particularly among the young people. She possessed many charming traits and her death will be learned with deep regret.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence, Henry C. Ewen and Mrs. Emma Park, all of this city. She has also one granddaughter, Miss May Ewen.

Byron Johnson.

Byron Johnson of New London died Friday night at the Norwich State hospital where he had been an inmate about six months. Mr. Johnson for many years had been a sufferer from mental trouble and attendants at the almshouse. He was about 57 years of age, and so far as known left no relatives. He was a member of Brainard lodge and that organization has taken charge of the body and will conduct services at the Temple in New London. Byron Johnson during his life was fairly prosperous, and was a considerable estate at his death, furnishing substitutes during the civil war. He and his brother, Charles H. Johnson, conducted a music store and Byron later became an agent for the Continental insurance company of New York. He did not retain the agency long, but George Johnson, where with L. L. Lippitt the agency was conducted for some time. A number of years afterwards Mr. Johnson's health began to fail and his mind finally became affected.

Jerome Burdick.

Suddenly, at his home, at No. 109 North street, Jerome Burdick passed away Saturday morning at about 4 o'clock, at the age of 47 years, after a brief illness. His health had not been of the best for four years past, but as his trouble was not considered serious, his sudden death came as a shock.

The deceased was in his 60th year, having been born in Volantown, July 20, 1851. He was a thrifty and thrifty citizen. He was a carpenter and a good workman. He moved to this city five years ago, and has since been engaged in the building trade. He was a member of the Carpenters' union. Mr. Burdick was married twice. His first wife was Miss Olive Dixon of Sterling and for his second wife he took Miss Nellie S. Burdick.

The deceased was survived by his second wife, one son by the first marriage, James N. Burdick, and four sons by the second marriage, George M. Tracy, R. Albert, and Robert H. Burdick, all of this city. Six brothers also survive, Charles of California, Edward of Athol, Mass., Sheridan of Volantown and John of New York, and Stephen Burdick of Providence, and a sister, Mrs. M. Albro, of Volantown.

Mr. Burdick left a splendid record, having been an industrious and thrifty citizen. He possessed a high sense of honor and was always ready to lend a helping hand. He loved his home and took pleasure in within his power for his wife and children.

Charles H. Ryder.

Charles H. Ryder of South Willington, aged 58, died at the Norwich state hospital on Saturday afternoon, having been there some time. He was a well known horseman, and was known here among horse dealers. He was the son of C. P. and Jennette Dimock Ryder. The body will be sent to South Willington.

RESERVOIR IS DOWN 312 INCHES Expected that Test of First Well Will Be Made Wednesday—More Water Secured.

Fairview reservoir is now down 312 inches and because of the consumption will probably drop two or more inches today, so that it is gradually getting to the bottom. Meadow brook continues to furnish quite a stream.

At the first well in Meadow brook a depth of about 240 feet has been reached and soft water is being encountered. A test on Saturday showed that a good flow of water is being secured and by Wednesday it is thought there is a fair chance of getting a well which will furnish water for the city.

The second well is steadily going down.

City Seeking New Enterprises

Robert Braun of Portland, Me., Formerly of Norwich, Tells How Successful Campaign Should Be Formed.

Portland, Me., has been holding a manufacturer's exposition similar to the exhibition of manufactured articles of this city in the armory a few days ago and on that occasion the exposition the Board of Trade joined in that of that city issued a special number dealing with the manufacturing interests of that city.

One of the contributors to that number was Robert Braun of Portland, Me., who formerly lived in this city. He wrote an excellent article on Seeking New Enterprises on a business basis and told how a successful campaign should be formed. The article would apply of course to Norwich as well, except for the fact that Portland has a large commerce and the facilities for it. Mr. Braun states that the question is not so much the hour in every city and there is a unanimity of opinion as to how desirable and necessary they are to the growth and progress of a city. Such development means more business and greater possibilities to every real estate owner and to the wholesaler, merchant, to the transportation industry, to the banking, life and fire insurance interests, to all classes of professional men and to the general citizen. After enumerating the particular advantages which Portland has over other cities he says that it is a striking fact that the cities which have made the greatest lead in industrial development are in most cases cities that are not blessed with any great natural advantages. The secret of their success is in the progressive spirit of their own citizens. Selfishness, narrowness, and division of interest, and in the division of the past. There has been a lack of civic pride or a perverted pride and again there has been a marked tendency to look to the government for outside investment rather than to assist in the development of the city. There has been a willingness to talk but little inclination to act.

The first move toward a successful campaign for industrial development should be the formation of an intelligent and sympathetic committee for the carrying on of such a campaign. It should be a working committee, composed of representatives of the varied interests of the city. Its first requirement is money, that it might employ competent help to carry on the work. He recommended a guaranteed fund of $5,000 to start with, and stated that his firm would pledge $250 towards it.

There should be a complete tabulation of the manufacturing lines and a survey of present facilities. This would allow the determination of the line of industry most profitable, and which could be encouraged with the best chances of ultimate success. In the matter of facilities there should be definite knowledge of available locations, their approximate cost and rental, available labor, transportation both ways, the general attitude of financial institutions, a definite policy of taxation, convenient relations as to power, insurance, and in fact, all of the vital considerations in manufacturing. The closing of an improvement in express and mail service. Fifty firms employing ten men each are more to be desired than one firm employing ten men. The same applies to the advantages of the city before the people whom we want to interest. The importance of such advertising cannot be overestimated, and the New England and middle states are where it should be done.

The journal also contains his picture as a member of a manufacturers' exposition committee of the board of trade.

DR. SAMUEL H. HOWE CONDUCTED OPENING SERVICE Anniversary Observance by Washington, D. C., Church of Which He Was Formerly Pastor.

In celebration of the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of its foundation the West Street Presbyterian church of Washington, D. C., which was the oldest house of worship in the District of Columbia, began a five day series of services.

Dr. H. Howe of Norwich, pastor of the church from 1872 to 1885, conducted the opening services.

Stephen Bloomer Balch was the first pastor of the church, and tradition says that seven persons partook of the first communion.

The first service was held in a log house. In 1821 a commodious brick building was erected. Thomas Jefferson contributed $75 to the fund.

Dr. Balch's pastorate covered a period of twenty years. He was a resident of Norwich, but formerly of Boston, and Andrew Jackson occasionally occupied pews in the early homes of the congregation.

Dr. Howe's pulpit was filled Sunday morning by Rev. H. J. Wyckoff of the Second church, while Rev. Brownell, Gage preached at the vesper service.

BULLETIN'S FREE ACADEMY FUND CLOSES TUESDAY Has Been Increased by addition of $100 Gift from Mrs. H. H. Osgood, Making It $2,090.

There remains but two more days for those who have been waiting for different reasons before contributing to The Bulletin's Free Academy fund, as it closes on Tuesday. The amount has been increased since the last announcement by the gift of Mrs. H. H. Osgood, which brings the total up to $2,090. There are doubtless many who have been putting off their gifts to the fund for reasons best known to themselves, but they should now see that they are in by tomorrow night. It is a movement which everyone ought to want to be identified with and one which they can be as there is no limit, either way, to the contributions.

Previously acknowledged $1,990 Mrs. H. H. Osgood 100

HIGGINS' PLURALITY OF 75. Odd Result of the Vote in the Town of Thompson.

Official returns from town clerks in all the towns of the district except Griswold, Lisbon, Montville, Old Lyme and Sterling in the London county, Plainfield and Sterling in Windham county have been received by the Hartford Courant. In these towns the following pluralities were taken and the result is as follows:

New London county—Higgins, 6,708, Jodoin, 6,585. Windham county—Higgins, 3,295, Jodoin, 2,943. Total—Higgins, 10,003, Jodoin, 9,528. Higgins' plurality 75.

In New London county Jodoin had a plurality of 277 and in Windham county Higgins had a plurality of 252. Higgins carried 21 towns and Jodoin 13.

The votes of Thompson for governor and congressman were exactly the reverse of those in the other towns. Higgins had 702 and Jodoin 727. Higgins carried 206 and Jodoin 172. Jodoin 267.

This looked so like a clerical error that Town Clerk Dyer S. Elliott went out and personally verified the returns and said the coincidence was a mere accident.

TWO RAIDS IN NEW LONDON. Joseph Leboe's Place and William Vireire's Club Room Visited by Police.

Sunday evening the New London police visited the Park City hotel in New London and arrested Joseph Leboe, proprietor, three women and six men. The men were taken to the police station and the women were held under $200 bonds and the women under $50 each. The charges in keeping a house of assembly and violating the liquor laws for the proprietor, and frequenting for the women.

At 10 o'clock they visited the club room in Railroad street kept by William Dewire, but no liquor was found. He was arrested, charged with violating the liquor law and was held in $50 bonds. The charges were made on warrants issued by the prosecuting attorney.

FUNERAL. Mrs. Henry Raleigh.

From her home at No. 51 Ward street was held the funeral of Mrs. Henry Raleigh Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock. At 9 o'clock there was a service at the First church, which was conducted by Hugh Tinsor. A profusion of beautiful floral tributes were in evidence and among the large number of relatives and friends present were Mrs. J. W. Blamford, Hartford, Tainton, Waterbury, and Bridgeport, Mrs. Robert Joseph and William Sample of Bridgeport, Robert Blair of Waterbury, and Arthur McGee of Hartford acted as bearers. Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery.

The deceased is survived by her husband and a brother, James Hughes, of New York.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR ALL. Not a Patent Cure-All, Nor a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure For Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think that the only way to sell their wares is to claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and indigestion. They are sure to claim that the nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In fact, of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Sturdt's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any such claims. They are sure to claim that the nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

It is a modern discovery, composed of business vegetable ingredients, acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, giving refreshing sleep and the blessing, which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Sturdt's Dyspepsia Tablets no fasting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Sturdt's Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Sturdt's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cts. per package.
