FATALLY SCALDED.

William Graboski Fell Into Boiler of Hot Water.

William, the four and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Graboski, of 73 Elm street, died about 7 o'clock Thursday evening at St. Joseph's hospital, of shock, the result of burns received at his home Wednesday evening. The child was at play in the kitchen where the mother was washing. The mother had placed a boiler full of hot water on the floor and while in another part of the house the child in some way stepped backwards and fell into the water. His body, legs and part of the left arm were very badly burned. Dr. C. H. Girard was called and did what he could to relieve the child's pain. The doctor wished to have the child removed to the hospital at once, so that proper treatment might be given. But the parents were opposed to it, as they wanted the child taken care of at home. The boy's condition became so serious, however, Thursday afternoon that the ambulance was called and he was removed to the hospital, where it was found that his condition was critical from the shock following the burns. Everything possible was done to revive the child, but his condition was such that he could not respond to treatment.

Planning to Raise a Mile of Dimes for Hospital.

The members of the executive committee of the ladies' auxiliary to St. Joseph's hospital and the members of the executive committee of the board of directors of the hospital held a meeting Thursday evening. The board rooms to discuss plans for the approaching carnival.

It was a most enthusiastic meeting. In addition to the members of the committee, Gen. E. S. Boss, one of the incorporators of the hospital, was present, and he made a most interesting, offering good suggestions to the ladies, and he assured them of his hearty support.

General Boss said that the hospital was one of the best institutions in the city and one that must be kept in operation as it is doing a vast amount of good.

The ladies' auxiliary and executive committee have adopted a plan to raise a mile of dimes to clear off the indebtedness of the institution, if possible.

83d Birthday.

Judge James N. Tucker of East Killby, 83, died Thursday evening at his home in East Killby. He was born on the 21st day of December, 1827, and has come down through the ranks of the military of a century, the most wonderful period of transition and development in the history of our country. He was a brave and patriotic soldier, a statesman, a well known in Danielson, as he is throughout the county, and Mrs. Mary Sweet. Both octogenarians are bright and hearty to the last remnants of the day and physically competent to wrest a large measure of fruitful activity from their late afternoon hours.
