Board Of Trade Committees Named

Appointments of President Haviland Approved by the Executive Committee-Committee on Water Added to List. There was a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trade on Monday afternoon, at which there was a long discussion of the water question in the form of a review, but no action was taken except the addition to the list of committees of one on water. The meeting was held in the rooms of the board of trade, Haviland presiding. The list of new committees for the ensuing year, with many of the same chairmen as in the past year, was read by President Haviland and approved by the executive committee.

Nothing was done regarding the next meeting of the board, which will probably be the annual banquet. Other business occupied the time of the committee, and the banquet will come up later for a decision. Standing committees of the Board of Trade, 1911, as named by President Joseph D. Haviland follows: Membership-George A. Keppler, chairman, Henry D. Johnson, Arthur M. Brown, George W. Pringle, Woodbury O. Rogers, James Dana Colt, Archy W. Coit, Nelson C. INDIAN ASSOCIATION. Meeting Held With Mrs. B. P. Learned-Several Articles Read. There was a very interesting meeting of the Indian association at half past 10 Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Beia P. Learned on Broadway.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. F. E. Dowe. Reports of the last meeting were then given by the secretary, Miss A. N. Trumbull, and the treasurer, Miss Sarah Tyler. Mrs. Dowe read an interesting and appreciative letter from Miss Millie Anderson, the Indian girl whose tuition at Hampton is paid by the association. Miss Anderson enclosed in her letter a Hampton of her people about the cedar tree which was read by Mrs. R. W. Kimball. Mrs. Learned then read an article by Dr. Charles Eastman, the Indian scholar of the Ojibwa tribe, who married the actress, Elaine. This article presents the ideal of the uncivilized Indian, painting in vivid tints his virtues, and keeping in the background any vices which he learned from the white man. Miss Elizabeth Huntington read an article describing medicine mountain and the great stone medicine wheel. Miss Trumbull's reading of an article by Rev. Aaron Clark, a missionary to the Dakotas, in which he portrayed the life and habits of the Indians of Rosbud reservation, closed the varied and pleasing programme.

NEW CIVIL CASES. Suits for February Brought by New London Parties. Papers in two new suits returned for the civil superior court in February have been filed with the clerk of the superior court. On a common law case, Andrew Maher has brought suit against Joseph A. Doland of New London to recover $1,200 lent him previous to December 21. In a $500 judgment, Jeanette C. AT THE AUDITORIUM. Vaudeville and Motion Pictures. Three pleasing acts make up the vaudeville bill at the Auditorium, opening on Monday before well filled houses at the matinee and evening performances. In the musical line Davery & Emerson present some novelty instrumental bits, and the double bass euphonium and other instruments, besides winning a good hand for vocal solos in which they also use a pair of megaphones. Boyd and Lorenz make a team of character singers whose vocal numbers and costume changes make their turn attractive, and the humorist, W. B. Patton & Co. in the comedy sketch Getting Acquainted With Mother. The four in the sketch are well cast, and the humorist, a dunder that keeps the house in good humor while they are on the boards. The moving pictures are well chosen and to complete a well rounded bill.

Norwich Pole Robbed. A Norwich Pole, whose name could not be learned, is today minus several hundred dollars worth of iron. The pole went down to New York, intending to secure passage to the old country. He had several hundred dollars, which he was carrying in a sack. He foolishly laid the sack down in the Grand Central station in New York, when he went into the toilet, and when he returned he discovered the money, sack and all, had disappeared. He made complaint to the police of New York, and also to the New Haven road authorities, but up to the present nothing of his money has been seen. He had just about enough money left in his pockets to get back to Norwich.

A Single Tax City. The attention of political economists is just now attracted to the marvelous little city of Edmononton, Alberta, which, after a sufficiently long trial of the single tax system, pronounces it so good that it would not return to the ancient plan. In Edmononton the owner of unimproved land pays no taxes, but his lot a costly building. No more is a premium put on arrested development, nor are speculators encouraged to hold on to their unimproved land to make money through the enterprise of others around them. They must sell or build, or else find their land value eaten up by taxation. The thing is simple, and it appears to be effective.

Edmononton certainly thrives under the single tax and municipal ownership in eight years the city has advanced from a population of 2,500 to 35,000, and when the suburb of Strathcona is added the population will be in the neighborhood of 50,000.-Boston Post.
