Owls Team No. 2, which last week gained a slight lead over Owls Team No. 1 in their duckpin series, jumped back into the lead on Friday night by winning the match at the Rose alleys three straight and by a total of 246. JIMMY CLABBY SAILING FOR HOME TODAY
Milwaukee Weltwright Has a Broken Hand—Will Visit His Norwich Relatives.

Jimmy Clabby, the Milwaukee welterweight, who has been on a tour of the world, with a programme of pugilistic events on the side, sails from England today on the Lusitania for home, even for a good sized bet, expected to be short by the breaking of a bone in his hand in his last fight in London. He will be on the deck in 20 hours, over a British fighter by the name of Harry Duncan. This was on March 22.
Following this, Clabby was compelled to cancel his contracts with Promoter McIntosh, who had him signed up for four other fights. Clabby will return to his home in Milwaukee, first visiting his relatives in this city, which is his native town. Jimmy made a great impression in the Antipodes for his cleverness and ring science and was a favorite with the Australians who saw him in action. At the same time he picked up a great deal of change, which has made the trip a very profitable one for him.

EASTERN CONN. LEAGUE PREPARING FOR OPENING
First Meeting at Jewett City Before the Bell Rings.

President Reeves and the managers of the teams in the Eastern Connecticut league have an important meeting in Jewett City on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, as it is the last before the league season opens.
It is important that every manager should be on hand to hear the final instructions and get in right for four other fights. Orders that may be issued for the conduct of the league. From all accounts, the Eastern Connecticut is due for a promising season; this year and the teams are shipping up a lot of good playing material that will make the scheduled contests all full of fast baseball.
