

INSURRECTOS QUI FERIA BAUCHE

Sudden Cessation of Hostilities Attributed to a Peace Message From Dr. Gomez

FEDERALS DYNAMITE REBEL TRAIN

Damage Was Confined Largely to Two Cars of Railroad Ties—Rebels Lose 40 in Battle Following Attempt to Release Prisoners—American Army Officers Instructed Not to Cross Border.

El Paso, Tex., April 16.—The second battle of Bauche has resulted as the first, fought on Feb. 4. The insurgents left the field and the federals have come back to Juarez.

Cause of Retirement Unknown.
Whether the insurgents retired because of lack of water, as the former occasion, or as a result of a message from Dr. Gomez in Washington remains to be seen.

A Message for Madero.
A message was received last night by the El Paso junta, however, to be delivered to Francisco L. Madero, and this was sent in duplicate by two couriers during the night. Whether Madero was near Juarez the junta was uninformed.

Message Related to Peace.
The message contained the junta officials will not say, but they admit that it had to do with peace and will not deny that Dr. Gomez conveyed indirectly pending negotiations now on with Mexico City. Soon after the message went south the insurgents retired.

Six Federals Killed, Six Wounded.
The federals lost six dead, including Lieutenants Miguel Satorral and Abraham Jimenez, and six wounded, including Captain Porfirio Hernandez. The wounded were brought to Juarez during the night. The dead were brought today.

Federals Fired a Railroad Bridge.
The federals had fired a bridge on the railroad between Bauche, where the fight occurred, and Juarez, but there was no necessity for this in order to block the railroad, because the insurgent train had been wrecked in Bauche on the night of the 15th.

Rebel Train Blown Up.
Federals on Thursday placed dynamite under the tracks and the charge blew up the train. The train carried two cars loaded with railroad ties ahead of the locomotive, and these cars needed the brunt of the explosion.

When the insurgents retired they took their locomotive and some of their cars with them, but left two cars here, these were some bloody clothes, showing that they had some dead or wounded. Some of the left behind were the bodies of some of the dead. Another body had been buried today.

Americans Permitted to Cross Lines.
General Navarro has not enforced the embargo on Americans crossing to the south. The American army has not yet allowed the Americans to cross the line, but the federals returned from the field.

Stars and Stripes Cross Line.
Agua Prieta, April 16.—After a talk with Colonel Shunk, commanding the American troops, the federals carried the stars and stripes across the line.

Message Delivered to Reynaldo Diaz.
McKeehan, it was learned, was official messenger to Reynaldo Diaz, who was in the hands of the federals. The message was delivered by William Williams, who was in the hands of the federals.

Soldiers Warned Not to Cross.
Washington, April 16.—Don't cross the American line, the federal force, do not cross the line, do it by officials. The federal force, do not cross the line, do it by officials.

BALLOON NORDHAUSEN EXPLODED IN MIDAIR
Four Occupants of Basket Thrown Out and One May Die.

Desider, April 16.—A thrilling accident occurred today at the competition of the Saxon Aeronautical society. The balloon Nordhausen ascended and immediately carried the four occupants of the basket, throwing them to the outside of the basket. The pilot of the balloon was killed.

BARNES ACQUITTED IN SLEEPING CAR CASE
Was Accused of Forcibly Entering a Young Woman's Berth.

Anderson, Ind., April 16.—Benjamin C. Barnes of Washington, D. C., was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court on the charge of having forcibly entered the sleeping car berth of Miss E. M. Barnes of Chicago.

Rector Drowned While Duck Hunting.
Charlotte, N. C., April 16.—News was received here yesterday that the Rev. McNeely Dunlap, a well known Episcopal rector, was drowned in Catawba river near Morgantown, N. C., Friday morning while duck hunting.

Cabled Paragraphs

Paris, April 16.—French rentes have recovered from the recent decline owing to the improved conditions in the champagne country.

Berlin, April 16.—Four old warships are to be placed at the disposal of the German high sea fleet this year for gunnery practice and experimental firing.

London, April 16.—Ota Humphrey, an American actress, and Prince Ibrahim Hassan, a cousin of the khedive of Egypt, were married at the registry office in London yesterday.

Berlin, April 16.—Seven hundred dogs were taken to the streets in one week recently because the owners were unable to pay the increased tax of ten marks a year, which came into effect on April 1st.

Calcutta, April 16.—There is a strong feeling among the Indian community that the Hindu ceremony of tulsi—worshipping the king against masses of silver and gold, which will afterward be distributed to the poor—should be performed in the name of his majesty, George IV, in Calcutta.

Constantinople, April 16.—The chamber has ratified the telephone concession for Constantinople and its suburbs granted to an Anglo-French-American syndicate, and approved a bill authorizing the formation of the Ottoman company to work the concession.

COATS AND FURS IN THE EAST PARADE
Aristocracy Not So Well Represented in Fifth Avenue Procession.

New York, April 16.—Flurries of snow about church-going time, a bright afternoon sun, now and then smothered by great gray and white banks of cloud, and cold westerly winds, which sent many an Easter hat and shawl flying, were the ways of the weather in New York today.

Coats and Furs in Easter Parade.
The throngs which joined in the annual Easter parade up the avenue were perhaps as big as ever, but the usual brilliancy of silks and satins was hidden by the winter coats and furs. The color of the serpentine body of the parade was broken up by the white of the Easter hats.

Whittier's Poem Read.
It had been expected that the famous carven quartet would sing, in the tenor of the service in the parlors of the Thomson home, was broken only by sobbing as Rev. H. Sumner Mitchell, pastor of the Unitarian church, read the poem of Whittier's poem "To G. L. S."

Villagers and Friends Follow Hearse.
Besides the poem, the services consisted of a scriptural reading, a prayer, and the reading of a letter, "Old Age," by William Newell, a given by Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

Life-long Friends of Deceased.
Mr. Galvan, an original member of Mr. Thompson's company, and Mr. Knapp was a member of it company with a few years of its start.

Police Needed at Old Trinity.
At four different services, the Old Trinity Episcopal church was so crowded that it required police to handle the services.
