

BOBBY FOUND AT WESTERLY

Believed to be That of Daniel Hiscox, Who Has Been Missing—Yacht Club Officers Elected—Official Seal Decided Upon—Miss Anna L. Burns Addresses Teachers at Providence—Seven Names Added to List of Soldier Dead During Past Year—Capt. H. O. Dunn, of the Idaho, Praised by Admiral Dewey.

The body of a man, so badly decomposed as to be recognizable only by his clothing, was found floating in the river about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, back of the Hillman farm. It was later seen by relatives of Daniel Haselton Hiscox and identified by them. He had been missing since last Thursday evening, notice of this having been given throughout Rhode Island and Connecticut by the Westerly chief of police.

The body was discovered by Robert Pomeroy, who was out on the river in his power boat. While having some trouble with his engine he glanced over the side and saw the body caught in some brush some distance off. It was secured and the police and medical examiner notified. The body was brought to Undertaker Murphy's, where it was seen by the medical examiner. Dr. Morgan found a pipe, a cheap watch and a handkerchief on the body, which tallied with the articles that Daniel Hiscox took with him when he left his home on Pleasant street last Thursday night.

A relative of Hiscox's was summoned and identified the body, basing his opinion entirely on the clothing. Dr. Morgan still has the case under advisement, stating that the man is really Hiscox it is the most remarkable case that ever came under his consideration and it is difficult to conceive how a body could be so completely decomposed in such a short time. Hiscox had been sick with the grip for a week and his friends believe that he was of unbalanced mind when he wandered away and probably committed suicide by jumping from the Meeting House bridge at Potter Hill, the body floating down to the point where it was discovered.

The Westerly Yacht Club elected the following officers at Tuesday evening's meeting: Commodore, Herman Dock; vice commodore, Albert A. Spicer, Jr.; rear commodore, Joseph H. Whipple; board of governors, for three years, J. P. Mauran, E. N. Hillman, for two years, Arthur Barry, William Clarke, for one year, J. Fred Barber, James M. Penfield.

It was voted to adopt an official seal a circular die engraved with the words Westerly Yacht Club, Westerly, R. I., in the form of an anchor.

At a special session of the Public School Teachers' association of Providence Rhode Island, held in the city of Westerly, the following resolutions were adopted: That the teachers of the city of Westerly be and are authorized to use in different sections of the country, and especially of its use in the town of Westerly. The advantages and disadvantages of this system of teaching were pointed out and examples were given illustrating the same. The remuneration of teachers, Miss Burns found, was not commensurate in most places with the services rendered, but that in many of the places visited by her the teachers displayed a liking for the work and taught as if they enjoyed it.

for the colleges. The colleges may be depended upon to look out for themselves, the aim of the high school should be to look out for the high school pupil. Teachers in all such schools expect too much home study from pupils and teach over the heads of their charges. Make the teaching more elemental, within reach of the pupils.

During the past year seven names have been added to the death roll of the Grand Army of the Republic, making a total of 261 soldiers and sailors who served in the Civil war and who are buried in River Bend and St. Michael's cemeteries. Those who died since last Memorial day are: Walter Price, C. Company, Eleventh Connecticut; Isaac F. Wilcox, C. Company, Twenty-first Connecticut; George T. Bacon, Twentieth Maine; Isaac E. Norman, G. Company, Fifth Connecticut; John P. Crandall, Second Rhode Island; Michael Welch, G. Company, Twenty-first Connecticut; Michael Donohue, First Rhode Island Cavalry.

On Memorial day comrades will assemble for parade and decorating of graves in the local cemeteries, and during the forenoon a detail will place flowers on graves of deceased comrades in the outlying districts. On Memorial Sunday the Civil war veterans will attend Grace Methodist church in the morning and the Broad street Christian church in the evening.

Capt. Herbert O. Dunn of Westerly, commander of battleship Idaho, now at Natick, Mass., has received a letter from Admiral George Dewey, who was deeply impressed by Captain Dunn's action in parading the guard, dipping the colors and having the band play as the site of the terrible fight and the sinking of the old ship Mississippi at Port Hudson was passed.

The admiral said in his letter that he was glad to see that the deeds of the old navy were not forgotten by the new. He thanked Captain Dunn in behalf of his old-time fellow officers on board the Mississippi, who, he said, were mostly beyond "the great divide."

The ceremony, Admiral Dewey said, would serve as a patriotic example to the men of the fleet.

Superintendent Coon has erected a wire enclosure and a house for the fox that was captured swimming in the Pawcatuck river, and the little animal is now a park attraction. It delights in being fondled and in captivity is as tame as a kitten.

Apocryphal of the Lally will be the subject of the address of Rev. Dr. Crowley to be delivered at the vesper service in St. Michael's church next Sunday evening. The members of Narragansett council, Knights of Columbus will attend in a body.

The seventy-first annual meeting of the Rhode Island Baptist Sunday School union will be held in Providence, June 6. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Kate I. Rigler, wife of Rev. George W. Rigler, former pastor of the First Baptist church, Westerly, whose subject will be "The Alaskan Orphanage."

In appreciation of the Narragansett lodge, Odd Fellows in giving the members of their lodge rooms to the Masonic bodies while the latter were homeless by reason of the fire, the Odd Fellows presented the Odd Fellows to peddles of the finest quartered oak with symbolic carvings, one for the station of the noble grand and the other for the vice grand. Engraved resolutions of appreciation accompanied the pedestals.

Cannot Learn Attitude of Senate.
(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, May 23.—The attitude of the senate towards the reciprocity agreement is the cause of considerable excitement to the democrats in the house. Having disposed of all their legislative programme, with the exception of the wool schedule, which is about ready for action, the efforts of the house leaders to find out just what is to be done is not satisfactory. They say they took the reciprocity agreement just as it came from the president and passed it as a matter of national policy, with no attempt to amend it or to attach anti-tariff riders. They say that the farmers' free list bill was a matter of their own and need not stand in the way of the bill if the congress was called in extra session to consider it.

The house democrats now claim that the senate republicans are juggling with the agreement and should be called upon to consider it in an amended form. The leaders fear that it will place them in an embarrassing position. They are determined, however, to remain in session until some action is taken by the senate. They will also demand of the senate some action one way or the other, on the free list bill and the wool schedule, when it shall have been passed by the house. This is said to be the ultimatum of the house leaders, and they are prepared to stay in session until it is done. Other members of the majority party in the house, however, say that they do not think that after the senate acts on the reciprocity measure action on the other tariff bills will be initiated, and they will consent to an adjournment or a recess, if the senate gives them to understand that they will not consider at this session the tariff bills.

The leaders expect to encounter the usual family quarrel in the party caucus when the wool schedule is presented to it for its approval. The ways and means committee feel that they have solved the problem and after the usual agitation the schedule will be made a party measure and receive the support on the floor of all democratic members.

Yesterday Senator LaFollette re-announced the Lorimer case in an extended speech on his resolution naming a committee composed of five newly elected senators, of which Senator McLean is one.

It is said that he has been promising democratic support in keeping this question to the fore. In return he has promised to report out of the senate committee on the census, of which he is chairman, the reappointment bill passed by the house. Those opposed to the consideration of the Lorimer

SUNDAYISMS.
You will want the church as a hiding place when the mortgage is foreclosed on your body.

All the institutions that stand for infamy, rottenness and damnation are chosen with men. Seventy per cent. of the church members are women.

There are men who are crushing the heart out of their wives by their in-difference to religion, and whose children never have heard the name of God or Christ fall from their lips except in profanity.

If you will show me where a preacher is under any more obligation to be decent and clean and honest and Christian than you are, I will quit preaching this minute.

I'd rather be a washer and beg my bread from door to door; I'd rather lose my eyesight and grope my way in darkness to the grave; I'd rather lose my mind and be unable to recognize my wife and children; I'd rather have all my friends turn their backs upon me, than to have no hope in Christ.

There are men in hell who no more intended to be there than you do. They simply waited too long.—Rev. William Sunday at Toledo.

A Congressional Jest.
Funny, isn't it, but even the congressmen who are keener for enforcing a two-cent passenger rate upon the railroads invariably vote themselves mileage at the rate of 20 cents.
