ADVOCATES A NEW ANTI-TRUST LAW

Steel Trust Head Thinks We Need Something More Practical Than Sherman Law

HAS POOR OPINION OF WALL STREET

Believes it a Good Place to Keep Away From—Intrinsic Values do Not Count There as Prices Are Manipulated—Asks Committee to Determine His Corporation's Standing Under the Law.

Washington, June 8.—Legislation to replace the Sherman anti-trust law so as to protect property interests and the people's affairs alike, was urged by E. G. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, in concluding his testimony today before the House "Steel Trust" investigating committee.

Wants Definite Legal Standing. Judge Gary said he hoped the committee would give the United States Steel corporation what the committee thinks ought to be the corporation's standing under the law.

Asks Committee to Suggest Legislation. "I wish," said he, "that this committee will take advantage of its opportunity to suggest legislation and use its influence to bring about the enactment of proper legislation calculated to properly protect the property interests of the country, the interests of the government and the people at large so as to permit us the business houses to progress along lines of prosperity."

Constructive Legislation Needed. "Constructive legislation is what is needed in this country if we are to remain our position in the ranks with competing nations of the world."

To Correct Sherman Law. "Would you believe it sensible," asked Representative Littell, "to have congress appoint a joint committee to hear reports of capital and of the so-called restrained and unrestrained trade with a view to preparing an anti-trust law which would correct the Sherman law?"

ASSAILANTS OF STOKES JEERED BY A CROWD.

Court Proprietor Unable to Appear in Court Against Young Women.

New York, June 8.—The condition of W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia and widely known horseman, who was shot last night by two young women in the apartement of the hotel, was reported today by his physicians say he will likely recover. The bullets have not removed.

Two young women, Lillian Graham, an actress, and Ethel Conrad, an illustrator, formally charged with the shooting of Stokes, were taken to the West Side police court.

As they left headquarters they were hooted and jeered at by a crowd of more than 100 who had gathered to get a glimpse.

It was said that Mr. Stokes would not appear in court for about ten days.

The explanation which Mr. Stokes gave for his shooting was that he was last night, alleging that he was because he refused to sign an agreement to pay $25,000 for the return of his property.

Women, was amplified in one report today. Police Inspector Russell said that Mr. Stokes' attorney had called upon him at the Hotel Ansonia a week ago and that he had refused to sign the agreement.

Mr. Stokes replied, Inspector Russell said, that he would not pay a nickel for the letters.

Upon this, it is alleged, she drew a pistol from her pocket and declared she would kill herself in his presence. Mr. Stokes reached the bottle from her.

The original allegation that $25,000 was demanded for the return of his property, was denied by Miss Graham. She insisted that there was no question of money at all. She said that Mr. Stokes had refused to sign the agreement last night, but that he had refused to sign the agreement.

Has Consumers By the Throat

Republicans Vigorously Attack Worst Trust. Democrats Protecting It.

Washington, June 8.—An attack on the democratic wool tariff bill on the ground that it would increase the so-called worsted trust was made in the house today by Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas.

Protecting the Worsted Trust. Mr. Murdock attacked the 40 per cent duty on worsted cloths which the bill contains, declaring that it meant that the worsted trust would be protected against the American consumer.

Trust's Cruel Brutality. "I cannot see how any man here," said Mr. Murdock, "knowing the worsted trust, knowing its law, and seeing its cruelty in the fabric field, can enact it while it continues to twist its long, strangling fingers around the throat of the American consumer."

How Can Americans Do It? "I cannot see for the life of me how any man here," said Mr. Murdock, "knowing the worsted trust, knowing its law, and seeing its cruelty in the fabric field, can enact it while it continues to twist its long, strangling fingers around the throat of the American consumer."

Lowered Quality of Goods. Mr. Murdock said that the worsted trust has so lowered the quality of goods that the consumer buys that anything manufacturers have been ashamed to pass the fabrics on to the wearers.

Cost of Goods Increased. At the same time, he said, the cost of worsted goods has been increased.
