The Bulletin

Norwich, Wednesday, June 28, 1911.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Next Sunday is to be observed as Peace Sunday in some churches.

Mortgages officially reported in Norwich last week amounted to $1,100.

The Crystal Lake cemetery association of Ellington has filed articles of association.

Strollers in the woods claim that the number of fire, fat gray squirrels is unusually large this year.

The annual session of the Stonington Baptist association will be held at Sterling today and Thursday.

Though several weeks in advance of dog days, Tuesday was a good imitation of the uncomfortable article.

Swedish people in a number of places have been celebrating midsummer, as is the custom in the old country.

Excursionists down the river are having a good view of the yachts, which are gathering for the boat races.

The ferryboat Colonel Lydard leaves today for Boston and will return to run between Old Lyme and Old Saybrook.

Thursday being the feast of St. Peter and Paul, there will be the celebration of Holy Communion in the Episcopal churches.

Tuesday, July 4, the thirty-second annual reunion of the Scott Family association will be held at the home of Edmund L. Griswold, in Seymour.

In St. Patrick's church Monday there was a requiem high mass for deceased members of the K. of G. and on Tuesday for those of Division No. 1, A. O. H.

Major Miller, one of the most popular officers at Fort H. C. Wright, will leave this week for Fort Moultrie, S. C., where he has been assigned for duty.

In concurrence, the name of the Thames college at New London was changed to the Connecticut College for Women by vote of the house at Hartford on Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Ives, formerly pastor of All Saints' church, New London, has undergone a serious operation in a New York hospital. He is doing as well as could be expected.

Judge Wheeler in chambers at New London Monday heard arguments for the setting aside of the judgment in the case of the Niantic Menhaden Oil company vs. Luce.

At the alumni day at Trinity college on Tuesday there was a large attendance from the Connecticut College for Women by vote of the house at Hartford on Tuesday.

Engineer Arthur B. Gordon, who has been running on the steamer Gardner, is to take the place of Engineer Hodgson on the ferryboat Governor Winthrop at New London.

An item of interest here is the appointment by Bishop O'Donnell of New Britain of Rev. George F. Foster, a native of New London, to be rector of Trinity church of Montclair.

Work will be finished in a few days on the spur track of the Groton and Stonington railway, and the new freight house on Morgan's dock, Groton, will soon be in working order.

The name of Clifford Perce, son of C. A. Perce, was printed incorrectly in The Bulletin as being the graduate class of the Unceville school, so that the young student did not receive the credit due him.

Charged with the theft of a knife, Alexander Brown was allowed to settle the matter in the city court on Tuesday by paying costs of $4. It was dropped in a saloon and the bartender would not give it up.

It is probable that the spreading of the tarvis on Broadway will be started today. It is expected to cover the section from the Soldiers' monument to Broad street and the remainder on the second day.

There is talk of having the Connecticut grange adopt the method of the Massachusetts grange, of offering free courses next winter in the agricultural college for essays on farm topics.

Three petitions in bankruptcy were filed in Connecticut last week, with total assets of $4,676, and total liabilities of $12,987. In the same week of 1910, the number was three, with total assets of $15,150 and liabilities of $28,531.

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kingsley of Montville, formerly of this city, was celebrated on Sunday with about 35 friends in residence. There were received a number of gifts and refreshments were served.

Fifty-five thousand acres of woodland and cut-over land have been burned during 1911 in this state, with a loss aggregating more than $200,000, according to the annual report of the state forester, Samuel N. Spring, just made public.

By an important railroad change, in effect this week, which benefits travelers north, a train arriving at Worcester from Providence at 7.40 p. m. is extended to New York on a through coach to Montreal. The train leaves Providence at 6.05.

Just at present Groton is having a awakening for a more strict observance of the state laws. The movement was the arrest last Sunday of the man who keeps the terminal fruit store of the trolley road. He is to be tried within a day or two.

The recent cool weather has raised apprehensions among state oyster growers as a "set" this season. Shellfish are just beginning, but there are no signs of spawning because of the cold water. The cool weather makes the spawning season backward.

OBSCURE OPERATE STATIONARY

Low Water is Again Affecting the Uncas Power Plant But Both Stations Are Able to Look After all Requirements.

At the electric light station it is necessary to operate the steam plant now in addition to the Uncas power plant in order to secure enough current to carry the loads. This has been the way for ten days now because of the low water in the Shetucket river, which is seriously handicapping the plant.

The big engines at the local plant is in constant operation, the Uncas current coming in at 7 a. m. and continuing until 11 p. m., with stops for the dinner and supper hours. This help is of much value, as the power plant cannot continue long unless there is rain, which will make it necessary to put the big engines to work.

The Uncas plant can help through the day and the two machines will then be ready to take the load, which is not as great as the day load.

The turbine engine has been received here and is on its foundation, but the condenser has not arrived and it will be a month before the turbine can be used.

He is of the opinion that the local steam plant will be able to look after the business end of the turbine ready, with the assistance the power plant can give from time to time.

In general, the electric company has three representatives here setting up the new switchboard, which requires much work. The old switchboard is being moved out into the large room at two and a half feet and will be equipped with all the modern improvements. It is assumed that it has to be done with all the connections working and not possible to disturb them. It is necessary to work in a delicate manner, and the switchboard will be a decided improvement when it is completed.
