Whittall Rugs The Rugs with Grace and Excellence

In most homes it is the parlor which receives the most consideration, and therefore, while we have many less expensive rugs, some even made by the same celebrated mills, we shall recommend for this room what, in our judgment, are the finest rugs made in America.

Whittall's Anglo-Persian Rugs

are as finely and carefully woven as the rarest Oriental. Its lustrous, elastic pile of finest worsted is as durable as a Royal Kermanshah, costing hundreds of dollars.

The delightful blending of its colors, the fastness of its dyes and its mirror-like sheen recommend it to all who wish to purchase a domestic rug of universal excellence—price $55.00, size 8x12.

Other Whittall Rugs we carry are the Anglo-Indian Rugs.

This rug resembles the Anglo-Persian, finely and carefully woven, with a very fine lustrous and elastic pile of worsted, is as durable as any rug produced in America—price $47.50, size 8x12.

Whittall's Worsted Rugs at $42.00, Whittall's Teprac Rugs at $37.50, Whittall's Peerless Body Brussels Rugs at $27.50.

NO MORE SHORT MEASURE. Willimantic Citizens Have An Official Who is Right On His Job.

Dealers who have occasion to use measures and scales of any kind are well aware that at last there is a sealer of weights and measures in town who is doing some work. Since Auman A. Trudeau was appointed to the office by the board of selectmen upwards of 100 measures and scales have been tested, which is considerably more than any previous sealer of weights and measures so tested that the town has had, in recent years at least. Mr. Trudeau has only had the job a short time and he is making the various merchants conform with the requirements of the law.

The milk dealers are going to be looked after now. The sealer of weights and measures is also contemplating getting after vendors of ice cream and confections to ascertain if they are living up to the law with respect to pint and quart boxes. In some instances it is the opinion of consumers that several merchants are short measuring the trade in ice cream and candy. If there are any such dealers Trudeau will soon find them out. A live official is always appreciated by the people generally, if not by sharp tradesmen.

Break At Turnerville Station.

Chief of Police E. H. Richmond was called up by phone Monday afternoon and notified that the railroad station at Turnerville had been broken into and all the tickets and money therein stolen by thieves unknown. The chief and his men kept a lookout for suspicious characters around town all the afternoon and evening but no clue to the robbers was found.

ABOUT CIVIC IMPROVEMENT. Delay In Awarding Contract For New Sidewalk Around Town Building Starts Talk.

Civic improvements have been advocated for about a year past, but nothing of a lasting nature has been done along this particular line and many of the citizens are commencing to believe that the "talk is about all there is to it. One thing in particular that is disgusting to the people of the town and city is the woeful inactivity of the standing committee on streets, who have charge of the sidewalks.

OBITUARY. Alvin I. Corey.

The body of Alvin I. Corey, 81, who died at Danieson, R. I., Saturday night, to be buried at Danieson, R. I., today (Tuesday) for burial. Mr. Corey has been ill about a year. He was a resident of the town of Sterling for many years, and lived there until he became feeble a year ago, when himself and wife went to the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. E. S. Phillips, at Danieson. In his early days Mr. Corey was a seafaring man and he was also a veteran of the civil war. Since that conflict he has lived in the town of Sterling, where he was honored by election to various of the important town offices, and has principally been engaged in farming. He leaves his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Phillips, and two sons, Charles H. and Frank L., both of Sterling.

DEATH OF ATTORNEY HAGGERTY Promising Webster Young Lawyer Was Well Known in Putnam.

William Francis Haggerty, formerly a member of the Massachusetts legislature, a selectman of his town and a practicing lawyer in Webster, died at his home in that city Sunday after an illness of three months with heart disease. He was one of the most popular men in Webster and was well known in Putnam, where he frequently came to appear at sessions of the superior court. He leaves three brothers and two sisters, one of the latter being Mrs. Elizabeth Sharron of Westley, I.

Attorney Haggerty was a young man of great natural ability and was admitted to the bar in March, 1905, after six years of hard study while working as a clerk in the Webster postoffice. In the fall of the same year he was elected as a democrat to be a member of the Massachusetts legislature. He became known as one of the best of the younger orators in the state. He leaves a wife and two daughters.
