STOLYPIN SECURES TO WOUNDS

Russian Premier Dies Peacefully After Enduring the Greatest Agony

CONSCIOUS ALMOST TILL THE LAST

Authorities Take Precautions to Prevent Reprisals Upon the Jews—3000 Troops Arrive at Kiev to Protect Jewish Community—Governor-General Issues Order Forbidding the Carrying of Arms—Recent Crimes.

Kiev, Sept. 18.—The Russian premier, Peter A. Stolypin, died tonight after a long and agonizing illness...

Conscious Almost to Last. Almost until the last the premier was conscious, and for an hour before he died he was in a lucid state...

Suffered Greatly Toward End. Towards the end Stolypin suffered greatly. He groaned incessantly and threw himself about in a convulsion which he lay. Finally the heart action became weaker and, as the body grew cold, the premier realized that death was overtaking him.

Extreme Uncertainty Administered. At a brief interval a priest administered extreme unction. The Metropolitan Filaret, assisted and consoled him in his last moments. Frequently he called: "Give me the letter. Take it. Give me a red pencil. Lift me up."

Died Peacefully. Half an hour before his death Stolypin asked the doctor to turn him on his side. He died peacefully, surrounded by several of his relatives and state officials.

Hope Abandoned in Morning. All hope for the premier's recovery was abandoned this morning. On Saturday night indications of peritonitis were noted which rendered his condition on Sunday. The bulletin issued by the attending physicians this evening clearly stated that the premier's condition was hopeless. It was signed by seven doctors and read:

The Early Bulletin. At 5 p. m.—Stolypin's condition during the course of the day became aggravated. Towards evening the pulse was imperceptible. Condition hopeless.

Authorities Protect Jews. Preliminary reports of the premier's death were current for hours before it occurred. Several missions and embassies were notified by these reports and notified their governments. The news of the premier's death until morning, fearing anti-Jewish outbreaks. This was found to be incorrect and the news of the premier's death was made all the attention of the authorities was centered in the protection of the Jews.

Jews Were Panio-Stricken. Representatives of the Jewish community were panic-stricken and begged for protection from the authorities. The city is depressed but calm. M. Kozlovsky, the minister of finance, was appointed to the post of premier after Stolypin was shot. Has sent a telegram to the maintenance of order in the city on excellent authority that M. Kozlovsky will be appointed premier.

An Autopsy Today. An autopsy was held this morning at an early hour tomorrow morning, after which the premier's body will be left to the authorities. The autopsy was held in the presence of the governor-general and other officials.

Forbidden to Carry Arms. Governor-General Trofimov has issued a public notice that disorders will not be tolerated in any form. The notice is published forbidding the carrying of arms. It is officially announced that the troops are returning to Kiev. Outlying towns are crowded and double trains and double cars are leaving Kiev every hour. Hundreds of Jews are departing from the city.

An Administrator of Ability. Peter A. Stolypin was a tall, handsome man of 55 years. His short-cropped hair was gray, but his beard was dark. He was a man of great ability, an administrator of ability. He was neither a bureaucrat nor a reactionary. He was a man of high character and high ability. He was a man of high character and high ability.

Had Been Called "Murderer." Stolypin's life was attempted again in August of that year when a bomb that killed thirty persons was exploded at his home. The minister escaped with slight injuries, but two of his children were wounded. As minister of the interior preceding his premier-ship, Mr. Stolypin came into collision with the duma and when he made his first speech before that body he was greeted with cries of "Murderer."

Stamped Out a Revolution. An governor of Saratov he took steps against the terrorists and the alike at the same establishments of the advanced parties, and his life was attempted in 1905. He was appointed prime minister by imperial decree on July 19th, 1906, and stamped out the revolution that had grown to threatening proportions during the preceding years.

"Wets" Win On Latest Count

MAJORITY OF 26 FOR REPEAL IS FIGURED OUT

BY GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL

Absolute Correctness of Returns Still in Doubt—Clerks to Have 20 Days to Make Corrections—The Final Figures

Augusta, Me., Sept. 18.—Complete official returns from the special election of last Monday, when Maine voted on the question of the repeal of the constitutional prohibitory amendment, as canvassed by the governor and council tonight, showed a majority in favor of repeal of 26 votes.

Many Discrepancies Found. Various discrepancies were found in the returns, and when compared with the tabulations compiled by the secretary of state's office. The latter indicated a majority of 136.

Desired to Get at Real Facts. Governor Plaisted, who presided at the meeting, today assured those who were present that the only desire of the council was to get at the real facts in the situation. The tabulation of the vote was complete tonight, after the council had been in session since mid-afternoon.

A Doubt Still Exists. Some doubt still remains as to the correctness of the returns, and Governor Plaisted announced that city and town clerks would be given an opportunity to make corrections during the next 20 days.

Returns Disagree in Many Cases. In more than a dozen instances the figures as received by the governor and council did not agree with those sent in by the city and town clerks. It was shown that a majority in favor of repeal of 136 votes.

Towns Reverse Figures. The returns from several of the towns were reversed. Limestone and Matinicus Isle, for example, which had been reported as having voted for repeal, were reported as having voted for prohibition.

MACHINES OF 30 AVIATORS OUT OF COMMISSION.

New York, Sept. 18.—C. P. Rodgers and J. J. Ward, the aviators who are flying to the Pacific coast from New York for the Hearst prize of $50,000, are companions in misfortune tonight.

Both Machines Wrecked. Rodgers' flyer is a wreck at Middletown, while trying to make an initial flight of about 80 miles from Sheepshead Bay, and Ward is at Cornwall, about 250 miles from New York, with the engine of his machine so badly burned that it is useless.

Rodgers Struck a Tree. Rodgers met with his accident by striking a tree while trying to make an early morning start from Middletown. The aviator narrowly escaped being caught under the engine of his machine. The plane was practically ruined, but telegrams this afternoon went to the effect that he might patch up the machine and proceed by Wednesday.

Ward Brakes Oil Feed. Ward, who is flying 13 miles 13 minutes from Oswego to Corning, was forced to alight because of the breaking of an oil feed which allowed his engine to burn out. The engine was repaired and the plane was ready to start again this afternoon, but the engine will not fly on tomorrow.
