Advisability of Trade School in Norwich

Socialists Show Pronounced Sentiment for One, Also Commercial Courses at Academy.

At the meeting of the socialist party Thursday evening George S. Hildebrand was elected chairman. Two candidates were elected to membership.

The organizer reported that a speaker from local Norwich visited Williams Academy, Sunday and held a successful meeting.

The treasurer reported a goodly balance on hand and it was voted to put 20 per cent. of net proceeds of all entertainments into the campaign fund for 1912.

The literature agent reported that thousands of leaflets for men and women had been distributed the last ten days in Lisbon, Montville, Bozrah, Salem, Ledyard, Preston and Griswold townships.

Albert Boardman, a member of the committee on the relations of the town of Norwich to the Norwich Free Academy, made an interesting report of the meetings which have been held and of the lines of progress which are proposed by the committee.

The sentiment for a trades school and for commercial courses in the Academy was pronounced. At the next meeting Mr. Boardman offered to speak on the advisability of locating a trades school in Norwich. This meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 30, and all interested can attend even if it is Thanksgiving evening. Two weeks from Thursday Leonard H. Bristol, socialist candidate for mayor of Williams, was invited to lecture on local meeting rooms here on Rent, Interest and Profit. It was voted to purchase two signs to be placed at the entrance of the building announcing the location of the headquarters and the time of meetings.

Mr. Boardman and A. W. Burnham were elected a committee to investigate the advisability of arranging a social dinner in the near future, to be addressed by some put of town speaker.

A motion was carried that this local protest to Congressman Higgins and Senators Brandegee and McLean against ratifying any treaty with Russia as long as Russia discriminated against the passports of American citizens of Jewish birth who desired to visit Russia.

The local voted to reconsider the action of the previous meeting and decided to send $2 to help Los Angeles socialists to capture the city Dec. 6th. The room is being made more attractive with stronger lights and with appropriate wall cards containing socialist slogans displayed at intervals around the room. No acceptor of the challenge to debate had been heard from as yet.

Direct from their supreme and grand officers who were here Thursday night for a district meeting, the local members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen received new inspiration and encouragement, the meeting being held with Norwich lodge, No. 12, in Germania hall, and members from lodges in Jewett City, Tatville, New London and Groton attending. The visiting officers were Supreme Master Workman Will M. Narvis of Muscatine, Iowa, the head of the order; Supreme Foreman John Currier (Gardner) of New Haven and Grand Recorder John H. Stroh of New Haven.

There were about 50 members of the order present when Master Workman John Ringland of Norwich presided at the meeting to order and expressed the welcome to the visiting dignitaries. The new grand master workman of the state, Charles S. Bechtman of Stratford, was detained and was not able to attend.

The visiting officers occupied most of the evening in stirring addresses upon the scope and stability of the order, fortifying the members with a lot of valuable information which they are using in their push for new members, which the supreme and grand officers desire them to take up. It was shown that in the 43 years the order has been in existence, being the first fraternal beneficiary society organized in the United States, it had paid out two hundred million dollars in death benefits. The speakers emphasized the adequate basis of security upon which its insurance policies were issued, figured out according to the best actuarial knowledge. They likewise placed a heavy emphasis upon the endorsed certificate and extended protection plan which this order was the first of fraternal societies to adopt. All the strong points of the order were brought out by the speakers and the representatives of the various lodges present were urged to start on an active membership campaign.

The evening concluded with a social hour, in which sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served, those officiating in this service being James W. Blackburn, W. Smith Allen, Fred Wilson, Dwight L. Allen and Frank Haglund.
