THE CONGRESS GIRLS ARE ACCUSED

Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty in Cases of Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad

TRIED FOR SHOOTING OF MILLIONAIRE STOKES

Four Ballots Taken Before Agreement Was Reached—Miss Conrad Has Attack of Hysterics Upon Hearing the Verdict—Crowd Cheers Girls as They Pass From Court-house—District Attorney Flays Three Principals in Case.

New York, Dec. 15.—A verdict of "not guilty" was returned late today, freeing Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad of the criminal charges on which they had been tried last July for shooting the millionaire sportsman and hotel proprietor, W. E. D. Stokes, in the legs.

The shooting "show girls" was tried on a indictment of three counts, the first being attempted murder of Stokes. Of consideration of this most serious charge the jurors were relieved by Justice Marcus, who announced the defense by the eleventh hour announcement that the district attorney would withdraw the first count. The court restricted the jury to the second and third counts, the charges respecting assault in the first degree, with intent to kill, and assault in the second degree, with intent to do bodily injury.

Miss Graham Requires Assistance. While the jury was deliberating the two defendants were held prisoners in one of the ante-chambers of the court-room. The suspense was obviously severe for both of them. When summoned to the courtroom, indeed, was well on the road to recovery. "Miss Stokes is ignorant of the account of Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad," added Dr. Thornley. "He has not been permitted to discuss the case during the past days and does not know the chances of my patient's recovery by discussing it with him or allowing anyone else to do so."

Miss Conrad in Hysterics. A moment later, when the young women faced the jury and the foreman requested the girls to give their names, Miss Conrad went into violent hysterics. She sank down upon the court floor, sobbing and shrieking at the top of her voice.

She recovered as suddenly as she was attacked, and, with Miss Graham on her arm, issued from the courtroom to be greeted by a crowd of sympathizers who gathered outside. Many persons stepped forward to pat the girls on the back and shake hands with them. They were escorted to a taxi cab and were whisked away to dinner. Robert M. Moore, counsel for the girls, said that the hysteria was no surprise. He said she had been on the verge of it throughout the trial and during her ordeal on the stand were but evidence of it.

The jury arrived at its verdict after taking four ballots. On three of them the jurors voted 11 to 1 for acquittal, the one vote dissenting being an advocate of conviction for assault in the second degree. The spectators who crowded the courtroom were greatly surprised. No one was present representing the complainant, Stokes, except the court reporter, who, who had been in the court most of the day, had decided not to wait the outcome of the trial. The girls, who had been in the courtroom for several hours, were not permitted to leave until after the verdict was returned.
