STRIKERS LOSE $750,000 IN WAGES

Industrial Struggle at Lawrence Estimated to Have Cost Nearly $1,000,000.

MILITIA HAS COST STATE $100,000.

City of Lawrence, Already in Financial Doldrums, Will Have to Bear Share of this Expense—Child Taken to New York Without Consent of Parents—Philadelphia Bakers Plan to Care for Strikers' Children.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 11.—Today, which marked the beginning of another month in the struggle of more than twenty thousand mill operatives to secure increased wages by a strike in every mill in the city, was one of general activity. The Central Labor union officials busied themselves in drawing up the demands to be made upon the agents of each mill, but were unable to get them into shape so as to be presented tomorrow, as was hoped. The Industrial Workers of the World leaders spoke at a number of meetings during the day, urging solidarity among the strikers and making arrangements for a resumption of picketing tomorrow morning.

$750,000 Lost in Wages.

It is estimated that the financial loss due to the strike already approaches the $1,000,000 mark. The major portion of this has fallen upon the strikers, whose idleness has cost them $750,000 in wages. Most of the mills are said to have protected themselves against great financial loss by having their work performed at factories elsewhere owned by the same companies or on a sub-contract by which they receive a share of the profits.

Hast Cost State $100,000.

Next to the loss of wages by the strikers the expense of the armed guard of 1,500 militiamen has been nearly $100,000 to date, or about $4,000 a day, and Adj. Gen. W. P. Mason has been forced to petition the state legislature for an additional appropriation for his department.

Lawrence Must Pay Share.

While the state of Massachusetts will shoulder most of the burden, the city of Lawrence is expected to bear its share. The city also bears in full the expense of additional policemen, numbering several hundred.

Moving Picture Theaters Thrive.

An estimate in figures of the extent to which business has suffered because of the strike is impossible. Practically all lines of trade in the city have experienced adverse effects of the strike, and several lines are paralyzed. In the midst of all this business depression, however, the moving picture shows thrive.

Industrial Revolution.

Some mill officials claim that 1,000 operatives are now at work, but the military observers at some of the factories state that only seven or eight hundred hands go in where usually 3,000 are employed. Leaders of the industrial workers of the city assert that this strike is but the beginning of an industrial revolution.

Loafers to Return to Work.

That there will be some accessions to the ranks of workers in the mills some day is not doubted. The action of the boom fixers. Members of this craft employed in the Arlington mills have voted to return to work, and the manufacturers of the city are said to be anxious to have them back. It is independent of both the

CUTLERY MEN OPPOSE REDUCTION OF TARIFF

Norwich and Meriden Workmen Much Better Paid than Germans.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Washington, Feb. 11.—A. Curtis of Meriden, representing the table cutlery manufacturers of Connecticut, appeared before the finance committee of the senate in opposition to the proposed cut in the rates on table, butcher, carving, cooking, hunting, and other knives from 40 per cent to 25 per cent. He said the manufacturers of this class of goods in Connecticut had accepted the rates established by the Payne-Adams bill and were making small profit out of it, but could not understand the reduction proposed in the bill under consideration. He said the Connecticut makers of knives paid workmen from $18 to $24 a week, while in Germany the same class of workmen receive but $8 to $12 for the same time. In England, he said, the workmen receive about midway between the two extremes.

Mild Weather Now Predicted

COLD SNAP BELIEVED TO BE EFFECTIVELY BROKEN.

HARBOR ALMOST ICEBOUND

New York Ferry Service Paralyzed and Steamers Experience Difficulty in Docking—Canton, N. Y., Coldest.

New York, Feb. 11.—The cold snap which made its presence suddenly felt early yesterday in the eastern section of the country, sending the mercury down to lower figures than have prevailed for years, in many localities, gradually northern New York, was measurably broken late today. The thermometer rose to somewhere near the normal winter average, but the effects of the abnormal temperatures were still felt. Frost thickets on upstate railroad lines were only partially melted and ice barriers in harbors along the coast made navigation difficult or impossible.

Canton, N. Y., Coldest Spot.

Morning temperature readings were still very low. Below zero reports came from Albany, where 10 was reached, Buffalo 3, Portland, Me., 6, and Providence 2 while Canton, N. Y., was officially the coldest spot in the country with 2 below. This city's minimum was 1 below. Temperatures slowly rose all during the day and tonight were generally from 10 to 15 degrees above the earlier figures. The local weather bureau expected a further rise tomorrow.

New York Harbor Almost Icebound.

New York harbor today was about as nearly icebound as it ever gets as a result of the severe cold. The surface of the bay was thick with heavy ice floes and navigation was extremely difficult. Poor officers had trouble in boarding incoming vessels by the closing hours which were borne along on the tide with irresistible force.

Ferry Service Demoralized.

Huge blocks of ice piled up on the shores as the tide rose. The ferries docked with difficulty and ferry service on all sides of Manhattan was demoralized. The Long Island sound entrance to the East river was impassable. It took steamers several hours to break their way through the ice of Throgs Neck. The steamer Puritan, from New York, was one which had a hard time of it.

Two Deaths from Cold.

An unidentified fishing smack was sighted in distress in the ice in the lower harbor, and since life jackets were unable to be fastened, the crew were asked to aid her. Suffering in the poorer quarters in the city during the frigid night was intense. Two deaths from the cold were reported.

SPELL OF MODERATE WEATHER IS NEAR.

Weather Bureau Expects Cold Spell to Be Broken This Week.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The most severe and prolonged cold spell of several years will probably be broken this week, and the unusual winter which has partially paralyzed transportation in the land and sea, and caused unusual suffering in all parts of the country will give way to more reasonable temperatures.

Observers of the weather bureau do not expect the cold to be so severe as cold waves this winter, but they predict that the next week or ten days will be the forerunner of a spell of moderate weather.

Since the last week in December, save for short periods, in all the country east of the Rocky mountains, new records for extreme low temperatures have been set. But while it was extremely cold in the east, temperatures were above normal on the Pacific slope, where the times have recorded as low as far south as Tennessee, Arkansas, northern Texas and Oklahoma, and frosts were recorded in Miami, Fla., where the temperature has never been below 30.

Lake Superior, the greatest of the Great Lakes, is reported to be frozen over from shore to shore, something never before recorded. The mercury at Northfield, Vt., 26 below, while in San Francisco it has never been lower than 46 degrees above.
