LORIMER COMPARED TO ANCIENT MARTYRS. Counsel Argues That Two Trials Violates Spirit of Constitution.

Washington, March 1.—An attack on the senate's authority to act on the charges against Senator Lorimer on the ground that the case was finally disposed of at the last congress and a declaration that putting Lorimer on trial again on the same issues was a violation of the spirit of the constitution were made in a brief filed today by Mr. Lorimer's counsel, E. B. Loring, with the senate committee on elections.

Much of the brief is devoted to an argument against the influence of popular opinion and it cites the persecution of the Christians at Rome, the burning of Joan of Arc, the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots, Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette and the Girondists, and the Salem witchcraft persecutions as illustrations of justice done by a public clamor instead of by law.

SAYS MOTHER IS NOT NECESSARY TO CHILD. Remarkable Declaration by Justice in Supreme Court at Brooklyn.

New York, March 1.—A child has no essential need of mother love, declared Justice Marean in the supreme court, Brooklyn, today, in giving a father the custody of his nine year old son, despite the mother's pleadings.

"A mother is not necessary to her child," remarked the court. "All children are selfish. Their minds are on their own pleasures. So long as they have their toys and their enjoyments, they are satisfied. Once away from the mother they very quickly forget her and affect their lives only as she can serve them. They grow just as well without her."

The youngster whose plight called forth these sentiments is Leroy H. Thompson, whose father, William L. Thompson, owner of the Ardenraja Inn, at Fort Jefferson, L. I., divorced his wife in 1907.

Justice Marean was asked to decide the question of the wife's right to see the boy at the times specified in the divorce decree. The lad said he preferred to remain with his father, and the latter declared that the visit of his erstwhile wife, who has remarried, had proved embarrassing and annoying to Leroy. Thompson, too, has remarried.

Justice Marean said that he deemed it best to give the father sole custody of the lad.

Won't Accept The Increase

VOTE TAKEN BY LAWRENCE STRIKE COMMITTEE. DEMANDED 15 PER CENT.

All But Two Lawrence Mills Announce Advance in Wages—Party of 13 Children Leaves for Washington.

Lawrence, Mass., March 1.—All the textile mills, both woolen and cotton, with two exceptions, offered their striking employes an advance in pay today, or stated their intention to do so. The exceptions are the Everett mill, where a lockout has been in effect since the strike started, and the Kilmahart mill, the agent of which stated yesterday that an increase at this time could not be considered.

Demand Made for 15 Per Cent. In most cases the mills have announced that the scale will be raised at least five per cent. in all departments, to take effect Monday morning. The demand of the strikers was for 15 per cent.

12 Per Cent. Increase in Some Cases. In the case of the American Woolen company the offer made today made an average increase of eight per cent., according to the statement of an official of that company tonight. The five per cent. is explained, is the minimum, and in some cases nearly 12 per cent. will be added to the pay of the operatives.

Strike Committee to Reject Offer. Soon after the concessions were posted the strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World met and voted to reject the offer. Of the 12,500 of the 18,000 still on strike are affiliated with this organization. Tonight the Central Labor union, which represents many of the skilled craftsmen, met, but gave out no statement of its attitude.

CHILDREN LEAVE. Thirteen, Four of Them Girls, Make Trip to Washington.

Lawrence, Mass., March 1.—The party of working children of strikers which has been requested to appear before a congressional committee in Washington tomorrow forenoon left this city at 7:11 today. Instead of numbering 50 boys and girls, the delegation included 13 children, four of whom were girls.

Among the children, all of whom have worked in the textile mills here, was Charles Peck, a 15 year old girl, who about a year ago while at work in a mill lost a part of her scalp when her hair caught in the machinery. Although suit was brought against the mill company, no damages have yet been awarded the girl.

REDDING WRITES Letter from Alleged New Haven Murderer to Hamden Man.

New Haven, Conn., March 1.—The Journal-Courier will print tomorrow a letter written by George Redding, who is held for the murder of Morris Greener, to Leonard C. Lewis of Hamden, in which he makes reference to allegations against the indicted suffragette, and then says there is no use in doing that, as he did it himself and confesses to it, adding that he doesn't know how he came to do it, but that it is all up now. The letter, dated New Haven, Feb. 28, 1912, is as follows:

"Dear Len: You ask me to send you clippings from the newspapers regarding the case. There is no use in doing that. I did it myself. I confess to it. To tell the truth, I do not know how I came to do it. But it is all up now. Good-bye, "GEORGE."

It was denied tonight that Mrs. Hudson, Redding's alleged sweetheart, had been arrested in the Hamden wood at Highwood on January 23, 1908, have begun working on a theory that Redding knew something about that case. He would have been only 17 years of age then.

The police having recalled to mind that Catherine Fletcher was mysteriously murdered in the Hamden wood at Highwood on January 23, 1908, have begun working on a theory that Redding knew something about that case. He would have been only 17 years of age then.

Suffragettes on Wild Rampage

CAUSE HEAVY LOSSES TO LONDON SHOPKEEPERS.

MRS. PANKHURST LEADS

Plate Glass Show Windows Shattered and Offices Wrecked—One Hundred and Fifteen Arrests Made by Police.

London, March 1.—Because the coal miners were able to gain government recognition and the grievances they threatening the business of the country, the suffragettes late today also entered upon a policy of intemperate trade. And they carried it out subsequently and with an order, resulted in heavy financial losses. They caused consternation among the merchants in the most prosperous shopping district in the city and paralyzed business at the busiest hour of the day. The police were taken completely unaware by the onslaught by the women, and before they were able to muster their forces and restrain them, the streets were covered with shattered plate glass which had once been the show windows of stores.

Windows Broken, Offices Wrecked. It was a broken-breaking expedition, and a thoroughly organized one. Hundreds of windows in many of the most famous shops of the world and in several of the government offices in the city were wrecked by the suffragettes. The damage done will aggregate many thousands of pounds. The losses, however, will not all fall upon the shopkeepers, because many of the above windows, especially the costly ones, were covered by insurance against breakage.

115 Women Arrested. One hundred and fifteen women were dragged to the police stations by police or by excited and indignant shopkeepers. Many others, however, escaped. All those arrested were released during the evening on bail, coupled with the promise that they would refrain from further activities in window wrecking.

Shopkeepers Barricade Doors. Some of the shopkeepers who saw the storm coming were able to close their shutters and barricade their show windows against the infuriated suffragettes. The trouble centered about Trafalgar square, where the big membership companies have their headquarters, and ranged along the Strand, eastward to the Admiralty and Regent street—Piccadilly and Oxford streets, where the fashionable jewelry and druggists houses are. The windows of several of the membership offices were smashed.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the veteran of many a suffragette battle struck the first blow, smashing the windows of the premier's residence in Downing street. The suffragette leaders say that it is their purpose to continue their campaign of window breaking until, like the coal miners, they force the government to take up their claims for suffrage to protect business interests.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS FOR FREE SUGAR BILL. Expected to Reduce Price of Sugar One and One-Half Cent Found.

Washington, March 1.—A bill to put sugar on the free list, abolishing $34,000,000 in annual customs revenue, and another to extend the present corporation tax to include in various and co-partnerships doing business of $5,000 a year or over were ratified tonight by the house democratic caucus.

The excise tax, so-called by the ways and means committee, is in effect an income tax. The bill is so drawn that it is expected to comply with the supreme court's decision against the constitutionality of the income tax. Its effect would be to tax every person who earns more than $5,000 a year on the excess of $5,000 at the rate of one per cent.

The estimate by Chairman Underwood and the other members of the ways and means committee is that the proposed sugar bill will save a revenue of between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year.

Facing sugar on the free list, the democratic leaders estimate, will reduce the price of sugar to the consumer about a cent and a half a pound.

Peking Atrocities Shock Dr. Sun. Nanking, March 1.—President Sun Yat Sen was shocked today when he received advice from Peking concerning the outrages there, which he considered indicated an entire lack of control by the government. A Keen-Eyed Reader and Critic

There is no one doing more to keep newspapers clean today than the keen-eyed reader and critic, although the circulation managers are working together to eliminate all scheme advertising which represents bush whisking competition, upon the ground that there is not gratuity for patrons to compete with the lara and sharp practice artists who make swindling an art. Publishers are not offended by a kindly criticism of an offensively written advertisement, and the criticism of the readers is a good foundation for the printer to be upon when he rejects them. There are too many kinds of swindles and swindling which the lay does not touch, but it is reading around new corners for them every day and the time appears to be coming when they will most often be driven out of business. The lying advertisements always has a swindler behind it, and in Kansas they have just passed a law to make such advertisements a crime and to punish the authors of them as they would any other swindler. The fewer of these there are in any publication the better character it has and the more confidence the readers have in its announcements. The Bulletin and every other reputable paper has a grand against criminal and immoral advertisements for it cannot afford to accept them if it would keep its columns inviting.
