Farmers' Institute at Pachaug Addressed by Everett E. Brown and J. H. Putnam—Exhibit of Fruit and Canned Goods—General Discussion.

A farmers' institute in connection with the Pachaug grange was held at the town hall Thursday, the committee from the grange being Walter C. Tanner, Willis C. Terry and Simon E. Water, Jr. Worthy Master W. C. Terry presided and announced the programme, which was opened with a song by the choir, Miss Susie Morgan at the organ. The address of welcome was given by Lecturer W. C. Tanner.

Address by Everett E. Brown. The morning address was on Raising the Old Apple Orchard, by E. E. Brown of Pomfret. Mr. Brown said that thirty years ago he taught in the Boardman district and was for that reason much pleased to visit Pachaug.

He spoke at first of the benefit derived from the institute, but judgment was used as to whether the advice fitted the conditions. He emphasized the need of industrial education, and cited Germany's example in that line. He has been interested in the growth of apple orchards for thirty years, actively fifteen years, and finds if one must satisfy the inner man and the market man he must do it by the sweat of his brow.

His opinion was that for the amount of time and money, apple raising is the best for New England farmers. The apple is the most valuable fruit, as it lasts for so long, is used in a great number of ways, and yields better than any other fruit. The most of the work is with the old apple-trees.

He compared the care of trees to that given animal life. The amputation of the limbs and covering the exposed part to keep out the air and microbes, the feeding of the trees like the practice of medicine which is to assist nature. The modern treatment for growing trees is fertilization, cultivation, pruning and spraying. Until the last three or four years, it is of no use to spray. The cultivation should be done according to circumstances and soil.

Trees should be set forty feet apart. Where the soil is natural grass ground on the hills use the mulch treatment, cutting the grass and leaving it as fertilizer, and bog hay or coarse litter is a form of cultivation. On lighter water soils use cultivation and be thorough; not too deeply and as often as once a week. In regard to pruning old trees, he placed the most stress on letting in the sun and light at the top.

First cut all dead wood and limbs on which there are stores. Do not cut off the large limbs, but trim out. Do not cut off all water sprouts as they are very useful. The sap goes to the top of the tree, making heavy foliage, and the lower limbs are smothered. In speaking of spraying, the time to do it is in the winter season, or now before the leaves are on.

San Jose Scale. The San Jose scale must be killed by contact. Use either soluble oil or lime and sulphur. Some people use it alternately. In the summer there is more trouble with chewing insects, for which use arsenical poison. There are also fungus troubles called apple scab and sooty fungus.

To Combat Rot. The variety of rot one must keep ahead of as if it once gets on the apple it cannot be got off by spraying. Use Bordeaux mixture for summer trouble.

The leaves are the lungs of the tree and must be looked after. Thin out the apples in July or August. He also said there should be a better system of selling fruit.

Noon Collation. After singing by the choir, W. P. Holmes read a section on the Old Apple Tree. A fine lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served by the ladies of the grange.

Afternoon Session. In the afternoon, Miss Ola Tanner recited God's Judgment on a Wicked Bishop. Leonard H. Bealey, secretary of the state board of agriculture of North Woodstock was present and spoke of the good results of these institutes which were begun thirty-nine years ago. He told of the growing interest taken by manufacturers and others in the state board of education has taken it up, and forty out of the forty-six superintendents of schools in the state are willing to enter into the plan. He said it paid best to take your best to market, and practice the modern methods of agriculture. At this point Miss Susie Morgan read A Place for Each.

J. H. Putnam Speaks.

J. H. Putnam of Litchfield Hills, who has one of the finest Jersey herds in the state, spoke on "Breeding the dairy cow, or ten years' work with the milk records." There are two essentials to successful dairy work—the man and the cow. The man must have more than the ordinary intelligence and be interested and persistent in his work. There are two ways to get a good cow—to buy or to raise her. Breed a cow if you want a good one and be particular about the selection of stock and then of its development. He advised Jersey or Guernsey breeds for creamery, butter or good milk trade. The Jersey makes a pound of butter for every pound of milk, the other cow.

He approved of registered animals, but they even may be a scrub. Never mix bloods. He had milk records which he explained at some length. He said never to raise a calf which will not be a good cow. Do not let them get too fat and feed grain as soon as they know how to use it, and give them plenty of fresh air. He does not desire to do in constantly buying new cows and mixing the herds. He said a summer sale was coming to be a necessity. His summer feed is cabbage, fed twice a day, directly after milking, and he never has had bad results. He also gives beet pulp as an appetizer.

General Discussion.

There was some talk on the parcels post, and the depredations of the deer which Mr. Brown said the state had no right to allow. A man has to turn his cattle into his neighbor's garden. The choir sang, and a vote of thanks was extended to the speakers and the ladies. There were sixty people present.

Holmes, corn and popcorn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong, apples and canned fruit, and Mrs. Andrew Chesbro, canned goods.

Thirteen dollars and ten cents were netted from the sale. The proceeds are to be used to purchase new collection plates for the church.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING CONTRACT.

Mason Work Sublet to Oliver L. Willard.

Latham & Crane, who have the contract for the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. building on Main street, have sublet the mason work of all kind above the foundations to contractor Oliver L. Willard of the city. Mr. Willard stated Thursday afternoon that he would get right to work upon his portion of the job as soon as Ahern Brothers have excavated and laid foundations sufficient for him to do so. The walls of the Y. M. C. A. building are to go down ten feet lower than those of the new theater for A. P. Dorman that adjoins the Y. M. C. A. site, so the wall on the east side of the Y. M. C. A., therefore, will have to be built before that of the new theater. Mr. Willard said that in all probability he would commence work upon this wall within three weeks' time at the outside, and that he would be doing work upon the remainder of the job within about a month's time. He said that, as far as possible, he intended to employ local masons and plasterers. He will also employ one of the youngest contractors in the city, but of late years built a number of buildings in the city and was foreman on the new Windham silk mill job.

NO TRACE OF CAMPBELL BOY.

Mother Dreams He Was Lost in Woods—Theory That He Has Shot Himself.

Up to a late hour Thursday afternoon nothing had been heard of Eugene Campbell, who has been missing from his home since last Saturday forenoon. The last seen of him was when he walked across the footbridge in this city some time Saturday afternoon.

There is a story going the rounds in North Windham that some time ago a young Campbell's mother had a dream and in it saw her boy lying in the woods. The dream was so realistic it is said that Mrs. Campbell described the spot accurately as being near a stump of white Birch trees. Thursday as was the case Wednesday a number of men from North Windham who are intimately acquainted with the Campbells scoured the woods in the vicinity of that place, and also this city, and all about the outskirts, but without finding any clue of the missing lad. It is believed by some that the boy shot himself accidentally while trying out his new automatic revolver that he purchased in this city Saturday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell, parents of the boy, left North Windham Thursday forenoon for Portland, Me., but continue the search, because as they have an idea that he may have gone there, as they formerly lived in that city.

18 Inches of Frost.

Men in the employ of the Willimantic Gas & Electric Light company are digging a trench near the lake, and say that the frost on the ground is on the ground for a depth of 18 inches, but at that depth they again found it for 18 inches to two feet more. In shady spots they found that the frost had not left the ground to any great extent.

Work Begins for New Theater.

Thursday Contractor J. O'Sullivan commenced work staking out the cellar for A. P. Dorman's new theater, on Main street, opposite the Hotel Hooker. Ahern Brothers have the contract for the excavating and building the foundations for the Y. M. C. A., and they also started work Thursday. The two jobs adjoin one another, and for the next few months there will be a plenty doing on that section of property abutting Main street.

In the matter of the state against Louis Feiner, charged with assault, that was adjourned until Thursday morning, the assistant prosecuting attorney, Samuel B. Harvey, nolle the case. A Preventive of Tea Kettle Scale

Every housewife who lives where water is hard, knows how the lime and other salts form a coating on the inside of the kettle. This may be largely prevented, and the outside of the teakettle kept free from soot and grease, by washing thoroughly inside and outside every day or so, with hot water and Gold Dust.

The hard lime and other salts are dissolved by the Gold Dust and the inside of the kettle will be kept smooth much longer if thus cared for. Be sure to rinse thoroughly with clear warm water, then refill with cold water for heating.
