HORSE CASE BEFORE COMMON PLEAS

April Term Opened Here—Walter H. Wibberly Bought Horse For $100 From A. Ray Button—Claims Seller Misrepresented the Animal—Value Much Less.

The court of common pleas, with Judge Charles B. Waller on the bench, came in here on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for the April term.

The first case on the list was entitled Lafayette F. Main vs. James Davis, which had been tried some time ago, the jury disagreeing. It was a suit for back wages, which claimed Davis took from one of his barns.

Cases Settled and Postponed.

Judge Waller called up the attorneys, A. M. Brown, John H. Barnes and H. M. Rathbun, before the trial started, suggesting to them that the matter could be adjusted without trial. The lawyers went into conference with their clients, later informing the court that the matter had been settled. It was understood that Mr. Davis paid a certain amount and recompensed Mr. Main for lawyers' fees.

The case of Peter Loscano vs. City of New York Insurance company was postponed for a week, and the case of William H. Robinson vs. Peter Navvockie was also postponed. Later in the day it was reported by the lawyers interested that this case had been settled.

Afternoon Session.

When court opened in the afternoon the trial of the case of Walter H. Wibberly of Canterbury against A. Ray Button of Glasgow, which is an appeal by the defendant from the decision of a justice, was begun.

The jury panel included Alvah E. Gardner, Lucius E. Penton, Norwich; Nathan H. Hale, Preston; Harry Grubbert, Colchester; W. R. Palmer, John McBroom, Griswold; Frederick G. Stark, Frederick A. Burgess, Lebanon; John H. Miner, Bozrah; Henry Bellows, Franklin, Conn.; L. Hazen, Sprague; George Bromley, Lisbon; Wilfred H. Nye, North Stonington; Albert Fargo, Salem; A. G. Brown, Voluntown.

It was increased by the calling in of one, taking Nicholas Spelman, because of challenges by the attorneys, T. E. Babcock for the plaintiff and C. L. Stewart for the defendant.

Wibberly vs. Button.

The suit is over a horse which A. Ray Button sold to Walter H. Wibberly for $100 in December, 1910, the plaintiff making the claim that the seller said the horse was sound and kind and a good puller and backer. The horse proved balky and Mr. Wibberly brought suit, claiming he had been deceived by the seller of the horse.

COLCHESTER MAN IN $10,000 SUIT

Case Has to Do With Transferring of Property Without Consideration.

Before the April additional session of the jury term of the civil superior court at Hartford Tuesday, the suit of William A. Polyan, trustee, against the insolvent estate of Myer B. Cutler of Newington, against Mr. and Mrs. Cutler, for $10,000 was taken up for trial.

The complaint alleges that Mr. and Mrs. Cutler conveyed their real estate and personal property in Newington to Mr. Levine voluntarily without consideration and with intent to hinder, delay and defraud their creditors. The trustee asks that the transfer of the interest of the defendant, Myer B. Cutler, in the property be declared null and void and set aside; that the title to the property be adjudged to be in the plaintiff; that Samuel Levine be ordered to recover the property to the trustee; and such other equitable relief in the premises as the court may deem just and proper, and $10,000 damages.

Allegations are that on October 11, 1911, Mr. and Mrs. Cutler, while insolvent, and for the purpose of removing it out of the hands and reach of their creditors, pretended to convey the real estate, then of the value of about $15,000, together with personal property to the value of about $10,000, to Samuel Levine, who is now in possession of the property.

The probate court for the district of Hartford on December 2 adjudged Myer B. Cutler insolvent.

That the pretended conveyance of real estate and personal property to Samuel Levine was made in view of insolvency, and for the purpose of preferring Samuel Levine, and with the knowledge on his part that it was so made, and within sixty days prior to the institution of proceedings by the trustee for the purpose of recovering the estate of Myer B. Cutler settled as an insolvent estate is alleged.

The answers of Myer and Esther Cutler and Samuel Levine are similar and deny anything fraudulent in the transaction.

IDEAL CLUB WAS AT HOME TO FRIENDS

Fine Entertainment Given in Preston City Church Vestry.

Saturday evening the Ideal club of Preston City was at home to its friends. The club secured the vestry of the Preston City Congregational church and all joined hands and obtained a pretty decorative effect in blue and gold, the club's colors.

The programme for the evening, the effort of the entertainment committee for the past month, passed off successfully and received well merited applause. The programme was as follows:

Address of welcome, President Webster D. Coopy; song, America, entire club; recitation, A Crushed Hero, Lester Main; composition, The Ideal Club, Miss Jessica Pendleton; song, Where Are You Going To? Miss Ruth Richardson, Miss Sophia Hollowell, Miss Josephine Hollowell, Shulton Keneston, John Peckham; speaking, Shulton Keneston; debate, "Resolved, That city life is more advantageous than country life," affirmative, Miss Ruth Richardson, Miss Hattie Bennett, negative, Miss Sophia Hollowell, Miss Gertrude Peckham; recitation, John Hollowell, Grant Swan, Floyd Maine, Earl Wheeler, Henry Bates, Charles Burdick; club song, Blue and Gold, entire club.

The debate was closely contested, and it was only after much deliberation on the part of the judges, Rev. L. M. Keneston, Mrs. Herbert Richardson and Henry Bates, that the decision was rendered in favor of the negative.

At the close of the programme, a social hour was enjoyed by all, and the club served cake and coffee to the guests.

This meeting of the club was an event in its life that will always be looked back with deserved pleasure and pride. Those present could easily see that this society can do nothing less than assist the young people mentally, socially and morally.

All the members are enthusiastic, and their watch word is "Keep up the good work."
