TO GET B-L FACTORY IN OPERATION AGAIN

New Purchaser Will Operate Plant Here—Arrangements Made for Machinery Sale.

Through terms of settlement reached by Trustee Benjamin F. Lewis in the matter of the B-L company bankruptcy, which are to be submitted to a meeting of the creditors, the way has been cleared for the sale of the machinery at the factory in Greenville to a purchaser who stands ready to take it, it is practically a sure thing.

Trustee Lewis stated Thursday evening that the factory in Greenville will be reopened within a short time and be running with as large a complement of help as it had before the bankruptcy.

The purchaser is George H. Smith of New York, representing either himself or other interests which are now engaged in a similar line of business.

In the course of the bankruptcy, a certain lot of machinery was a subject for dispute as to ownership, but it has now been sold to the company on a contract under certain conditions upon which Referee A. A. Browning was acting as a referee.

He ruled against the machinery people, from which they took an appeal, as his ruling allowed the trustee to dispose of the machinery for the benefit of the creditors.

While the appeal was pending, Trustee Lewis had an offer from the New York company to buy the machinery, and in order to make the sale possible there was to be a hearing before Judge Platt in Hartford on Wednesday.

The hearing was held on Wednesday, the intention of the trustee to secure permission to make the sale, but leaving the question of the disposition of the proceeds to be settled later.

Before the time for the hearing the terms of settlement were agreed upon acceptable to the court, but to be submitted to a meeting of the creditors. The purchaser has to complete his payment by the first of June, and it is expected he will at once take steps to get the plant into operation.

Desiring to know whether there was a large attendance of the old soldiers, the treasurer's report showed a balance of $191.74. The following officers were elected: President, E. H. Talbot, Rockville; vice president, George P. Edwards; Collinsville; secretary, J. B. Baldwin, Willimantic; treasurer, Charles Fenton, Willimantic. It was voted to hold the next reunion in Willimantic in 1913.

President Paul H. Hillard, who was ending his term in this office, conducted the session.

Necrology for the Year.

While the nominating committee was at work on the program for the 13th General Burial decided to make a final attack the following day. He selected 12 regiments, and to lead the "front hope" the Twenty-first was chosen. Later in the morning word came that the attack had been abandoned.

The regiment joined the Army of the James at Fort Monroe, February 7. The 13th of Maine was ordered to the siege of Suffolk, Va., for its services in the siege it was highly commended by General Getty. In June the regiment went to Portsmouth and took part in the "blackberry raid."

First to Enter Richmond.

In January, 1864, the regiment made a dash for the railroad at Farmville, capturing a large number of rebel supplies. On May 16 the regiment took part in the battle of Lewisburg, Va., where it captured 700 prisoners and men. On June 24 the regiment took part in the battle of Cold Mountain, where it captured 1,000 prisoners of the war. The regiment was at Petersburg from May 28 to September 30. It took part in the siege of Fort Harrison, September 29 to October 1. On March 4, 1865, the regiment was moved to the entrenchments at Appomattox, where it was the first regiment to enter the rebel capital.

LIGHTING INVESTIGATORS

HOME FROM MASSACHUSETTS. Probable that the Flaming Arc Will Be Recommended for the Street Lighting, With an Increase in Number.

Following several days investigation in cities of Massachusetts, the committee which represents the city and the Business Men's association returned on Thursday evening well satisfied with their trip, and it is believed firmly in the Flaming arc.

The committee visited Westfield, Pittsfield, Boston and Lynn, the plants of the General Electric company at Pittsfield and Lynn being visited, through which they were shown the two kinds of lights are manufactured there.

In Westfield, Pittsfield and Boston the existing systems of lights were looked over. In Westfield the magnetic light poles were closer than the others, it being considered that the flaring light is white, which is its chief advantage over the yellow flaring arc, but the objection to such a system here would be that a direct current is required to operate them, and the local plant furnishes an alternating current.

A resident would have to be installed to change the current for magnetic lights.

The reports have not been formulated, it is believed that the flaring arc is to be the lighting of the city.
