Harvey Gay, 60, Found Dying After Night of Exposure and Dissipation—Priests of St. Mary's Parish in Sympathy With Working Men, But Opposed to I. W. W.

F. C. Whiting, who resides a mile above the town, was notified by some children Saturday morning that a man was lying under the wall near his home. Mr. Whiting upon investigation found the man was Harvey Gay, Dr. H. H. Agnew was notified by telephone, but there was no response to his treatment, and in an hour the man was dead. Death was due to alcoholism and exposure. He had lain there all night, and his clothing was soaked by the heavy rainfall of Friday evening. Harvey Gay was the son of Dr. Donald Gay, forty years ago a famous local physician in this section. He was 60 years old, and had lived in Griswold all his life. Priests of St. Mary's Parish Warn Workingmen Not to be Hoodwinked.

The priests of St. Mary's church at the several masses Sunday, in speaking of the labor difficulties which have arisen in Jewett City, stated that they have no inclination to decide on the merits of the controversy. They expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the workingmen, Christ Himself was a workman. The church and its representatives, many of whom were recruited from the ranks of workingmen, are in sympathy with any movement looking toward the betterment of the working condition, provided that the means employed are lawful, just and reasonable. The right of the workingmen to organize cannot be denied. They wish to place themselves on record as issuing a warning against the I. W. W. They are not a labor organization, are opposed to religion and are a bad element in any community.

There was no run scored in the seventh, but on the eighth inning Windham tied up the Bacon boys and then, after two were out, with Bob Kelley at the bat on Windham's game was won handsily as Kelley struck out a double batter, scoring two of his team mates.

SNAKES AND RATS. Disturbed in Removal of Refuse During Clean-Up Week.

Whistles on notice to the public at 3 o'clock Saturday morning that the time for the final spurt in clean-up week had arrived. The volume of sound was sufficient to thoroughly impress the necessity for prompt and vigorous action upon all, whether liable or not to pay attention. Saturday was the big day of the busy week. Loads and loads of refuse collected during the previous days of the campaign were collected by more than a dozen teams that were in the service and hauled to the dumping ground. This morning Putnam is a much cleaner and brighter city than it was a week ago, and the amount of work done is showing big returns in the way of satisfaction over a laudable accomplishment.

Members of the committees of the Clean City League tell some interesting stories about the experiences of the past week. At one place where a particularly unclean backyard received attention more than a score of rats were driven from their covering of refuse, not disturbed since unwritten date, and killed by the clean-up men. In other places the removal of garbage brought snakes to light, these also being killed.

What has been done this spring has been done so well that the benefits could hardly be overlooked by a blind man, so the clean-up period may hereafter be looked for every spring. (Additional Putnam News on Page 8.)

PUTNAM

Strike at Mechanicville Deplorable—Only Grievance System of Finest—Operatives in General Well Paid and Well Satisfied—End of Clean-Up Week—Rats and Snakes Disturbed by Refuse Collectors.

With the passing of the first flash of interest in the strike at Mechanicville the attention of business interests in this section has turned to consideration of how a quick termination of the difficulty may be secured. Apparently there is a great desire that this be brought about. Everybody involved, directly or indirectly, is losing money—the manufacturing company, the strikers and those tradesmen with whom the operatives spend their money.

While no step toward an agreement had been taken by either side up to Saturday, the basic cause of the strike is not so grave as to prohibit the speedy reaching of an understanding. The strikers have made no formal demand for a conference, nor has one been proffered. It is now thought that the friendly offices of some disinterested parties may be secured in an attempt to adjust the matter.

The plant of the French River Textile company is an important one and a feeder of many thousands of dollars yearly, through its employes, into the business channels of this city. It is a mill where a high grade of help is employed and where a schedule of wages as high as any and higher than most of the mills in New England usual facturing the same line of goods is paid. It is an A 1 plant. Weavers, it was said by one of the bosses Saturday, average $18 per week, and when they do overtime work, which is frequently, the best of them earn from $20 to $22 a week.

Not since the strikers have come away from their machines have any of them, as far as is known, claimed that they have been underpaid. Their grievance is over the firing system. How grave such a grievance is to the strikers no one on the outside attempts to say, but prominent business men here are a unit in the opinion that in the face of it, it is not so serious as to preclude adjustment, and a quick one.

The business men of this section have always appreciated the class of help employed at Mechanicville and the regret that the operatives cannot see their way clear to close the strike up at once.

The second week of the strike begins today. There is no indication that the strikers will return to work, although they have been notified that the mill will be open for them to return.

The picket line was established about the plant Saturday. It was reported here Saturday morning by officers who had been on duty there that no attempt at violence had been made against those going in to work by the pickets, but an officer quoted one of the latter as saying in an employe on the way to the mill: "Won't you stay out?
