

SIGHT-SEEING IN WESTERLY

Delegation of Grand Trunk Passenger Agents Given Joy Ride to Watch Hill—Italians Fined For Keeping Liquor For Sale Buncoed by Countryman—Light and Power Plant Passes to New Ownership—Firemen's Memorial Tomorrow.

The delegation that went to Washington to urge that the Westery power office building be constructed of Westery granite was politely but positively informed that it was against the policy of the government to specify any special granite in asking for bids for granite buildings, but that bids were open to all granite dealers without regard to location.

That there is evident inconsistency has been demonstrated this week when local granite dealers were invited to submit bids for a lighthouse to be built at the breakerwater at Buffalo, and the best of Westery granite is to be used in its construction.

As a result of the recent seizure of liquor at Bradford, Michael Capabio, Natale Capabio, Natale Pucel and Nunziata Pucel were brought into the Third District court Friday by Constable John Catto on complaint of Thomas E. Brown, chief of police. Each was charged with keeping liquor for sale contrary to law.

Immediately after adjournment of court there was considerable talk in the Italian tongue of a decidedly exciting nature. The topic of discussion was a general misunderstanding of the situation. It was given out that the accused men had paid to a fellow countryman the sum of $17 each and were given to understand that he had settled the cases for them.

The Washington Trust Company of Westery, one of the oldest banking institutions in the state, of which Charles Perry is president is planning to increase its capital stock from $200,000 to $300,000 next week, according to reports in circulation Friday evening.

The meeting of the Society of Friends is to be held in the meeting house in Elm street, known as the Quaker Meeting house, on Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Members of the society will be present from several sections of the country, the larger number coming from Pennsylvania.

The representatives of the Grand Trunk railway system who are on a two days' trip to become better acquainted with the summer resorts in this section recently reached the city and close connections, arrived at Watch Hill just before noon on the steamer Watch Hill from Stonington, having come to the return trip by way of the Groton-Stonington trolley road to Stonington. The party, numbering 39, came from Montreal in a special train that left at 8 o'clock Thursday night and arrived in New London at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

The reception committee of the Westery Board of Trade arranged for the entertainment of the party during this hour scheduled to remain here before making the trip to Block Island. Chairman Arthur M. Cortland and his associates were tendered the use of 25 touring cars and these were all in line when the visitors arrived, and as they neared the wharf they could readily read along the line of automobiles the words Westery Board of Trade, one large letter being attached to 20 of the cars in rotation.

Upon arrival the visitors were escorted to the automobiles and were taken all over Watch Hill, out to the golf club, and then came on into Westery by way of Elm street, through Grove avenue, High street, Broad street, Granite street and back to Watch Hill by way of East avenue. All along the route the points of interest were explained to the visitors. A halt was made on the return trip at the Ocean house, where Landford Frank Champlain was the host, and refreshments were served.

The party was then escorted to the Block Island pier, where the steamer Restless was moored, gaily bedecked with flags. It was planned that the party was to make the trip to Block Island and back to New London by this steamer, but just as the Restless was making the landing some of the boiler tubes blew out and in consequence there was delay until steamer Munnatawket could be substituted.

The visitors gave enthusiastic appreciation of the reception, and were pleased with the friendly and advantageous of Watch Hill and Westery and the evident enterprise of the people. Such a reception was unexpected and they were overjoyed with the agreeable surprise.

The reception was made possible by the generous action of automobile owners who cheerfully gave over the use of their cars under the direction of the committee. If more cars had been required they were within the call of the committee. It was noted that nearly all the cars were new, practically new, and it is doubtful if a more valuable lot of cars can be found in any other place in the state the size of Westery.

The visitors spent Friday night in New London and will be entertained in that city today (Saturday), the hospitality including a state dinner at Ocean House.

The Seventh-day Adventist camp meeting conference is now in session and will hold daily sessions for two weeks. The camp site is located in Westey street and all the services are open to the public. There are 21 regular assembled delegates at the conference representing local organizations. The opening service was held Thursday evening and the sermon was by Elder W. B. White of the Atlantic Union. Friday morning Elder A. J. Haysner of Nashville, Tenn., gave an address on Foreign Missions. Elder White and Elder C. H. Edwards were the speakers in the afternoon, and Rev. C. H. Edwards in the evening.

On the Sabbath there will be preaching by Elders C. S. Longacre, W. B. White and H. C. Hartwell. On Sunday Elder Longacre will preach in the morning and Elder J. C. Stevens in the evening.

When it was announced three weeks ago that there was a change in ownership of the Westery Light and Power company and that Rudel & company of Providence were the purchasers, the fact was denied. Friday the following official announcement was made public:

Considerable more than the control of the stock of the Westery Light and Power company has been purchased by Rudel & company, which they have placed in a five-year voting trust, the three voting trustees being J. J. Bodell, Philip B. Simonds of Modell & company and Arthur B. Lyle, general manager of the Narragansett Electric Lighting company.

Most of the old directors will retire and the following will make up the new board of directors: William Clark of Westery, president; William L. Hookman, president Title Guarantee company, Providence, Frederick S. Peck, president Asa Peck & company, Providence, and vice president National Exchange bank; Lyman B. Goff, president Union Wadding company, Pawtucket; George K. Wooster, Webster company, Attleboro; Philip S. Ewell and Joseph J. Bodell of Providence.

This company furnishes electric light and power to Westery, Watch Hill, Ashaway, Pleasant View, Pawtucket, Stonington, Mystic and part of Groton. It also furnishes gas to Westery and Pawtucket. The company is paying regular dividends of five per cent on its preferred stock and three per cent on its common stock and the new interests have purchased the company with the idea of developing and extending the business. Mr. Clark has been president of the company since its organization, and Martin H. Spelman, who has been general manager for several years, will continue.

The Westery fire department, in union with the Westery Firemen's association, will observe Memorial Sunday afternoon. Several fire companies, with the veterans, will assemble at the fire house in the afternoon and, headed by the Westery fire company, will march to the cemetery where the graves of former members of the department will be strewn with flowers. The services at the cemetery will include prayer by Rev. J. M. Collins, an address by Rev. J. W. Ford, singing by a quartette and selections by the band.

The Holy Name and Potter Hill baseball team will play a game on Vose park this (Saturday) afternoon. A delegation of the New London Business Men's association accompanied the Grand Trunkers to Westery, Watch Hill and Block Island Friday.

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's parish has accepted an invitation to the field day demonstration to be held in New London in September.

Eugene H. Pendleton attended the funeral of former Governor Royal C. Taft in Providence Friday. Mr. Pendleton was a personal aid to the governor.

The new town council will meet for organization and business Monday. It is probable that the several offices within the gift of the council will be distributed at that time.

Supt. Stephen Kehoe of the Norwich and Westery Traction company gave notice to the reception committee of the Westery Board of Trade that if the Grand Trunk representatives desired to visit Pleasant View that cars of the company would be at the disposal of the committee for that purpose. The offer was declined with thanks by the committee, as the trip could not be included in the itinerary within the prescribed one hour's time.

STONINGTON

Pawtucket Residents Will Not Sign For Summer License—Grand Trunk Agents Entertained—Close of Mechanics' Band Fair.

It is understood that those who are getting out of the town for the application of the Stonebridge Manor Inn people for a summer hotel license are meeting with some refusals in the Pawtucket end of the town, and the proposition is looked upon favorably, not quite the required number of votes has been obtained, the signature of half the voters of the town being necessary before the license will be granted. Pawtucket people claim that if there are to be any summer hotel licenses there should be regular liquor for the town for all the year around, that they would be opposed to endorsing a petition for license for the summer.

Accompanied Grand Trunk Sightseers. The Grand Trunk passenger agents who were enjoying a trip through New London, Groton, Westery and Watch Hill, were met at the station here Friday by Dr. C. O. Main of Stonington, James H. Stivers and James H. Lord, of Lord's hill. The gentlemen were afforded the pleasure of telling the party about the town and showing up the beauties of Stonington. Mr. Stivers, Mr. Lord and Dr. C. O. Main accompanied the party to Watch Hill, then around from Block Island, and the visitors seemed pleased with this section of the country, feeling that they could instruct all who wished to know regarding this part of Connecticut and Rhode Island, and its values along the shore. There were about 100 in the party.

Wampasset Inn is soon to be opened for the summer season, electric lights and telephones having already been installed.

Another Curiosity. Dr. C. O. Main has added another curiosity to his menagerie, a fine specimen of a wood turtle, coming from North Stonington. He is tenderly caring for it in his aquarium in the hot-house.
