N. E. O. P. meets tonight. Frank A. Bill has the exclusive sale of Ladies' Patriotic $3.50 and $4 shoes, oxfords and pumps. See them in black russet and white. Read Miss Adles advertisement about her new, finely appointed business suit. She will be in Norwich all this week. See adv.

Attractive Program at Auditorium Today.

The Auditorium management are considering themselves lucky in securing a program for the first half of this week the great comedy team of Ross and Ashton. Mr. Ross is a Hebrew comedian of exceptional ability who is funny without trying to be; he possesses a good singing voice. His partner, Mr. Ashton, is a corking good singer, and his "straight" work makes an excellent opposite for his funny partner. See this act. A clever and refined singing specialty is offered by Miss Dorothy Ringold, who is known throughout the country as "The Silver-haired Singer with the Golden Voice." Collins and Kent are also on the list for today, with their bright little comedy act entitled "The Bachelor and the Lady," which is one continuous smile. Don't miss the Animated Weekly No. 14 this week; it is a very interesting national convention in Chicago. They are all there, Teddy, Taft, La Follette, all of them.

Breed Theatres.

Out of the extra strong bill of feature pictures at the Breed today, it would be a difficult matter to select a leader, but one of them is entitled "For the Honor of the Name," and is a powerful drama of the home type. Two sisters love the same man, and the older one is successful in capturing him, and after some time the younger one is seen in poverty and illness. She writes to her sister for succor, and is taken to her beautiful home, where she regains her health. Two years pass and one day she hears of her sister keeping a rendezvous with a friend and learning that her brother-in-law knows it, hurries to the place of meeting and takes her sister's place with intensely dramatic results. There are superb educational pictures as well as exceptional comedy which is supplied by the Biograph firm.

YANTIC HAPPENINGS

Setting of Guinea Hen's Eggs All Hatch—Townpeople to Hear About Equal Franchise—Farmers Complain of Train Schedule. Mrs. Charles Barber recently set sixteen guinea hen's eggs under a Rhode Island Red hen and Wednesday a full hatch came off. William Burns spent Thursday in Newport. John Atchison of Lynn, Mass., was a visitor here Thursday. Oliver Gardner of North Adams spent a few days here recently. Equal Franchise Campaign. The Women Suffragers, as one of the natives calls them, were in town Saturday in a car decorated with automobile with banners, "Votes for Women," prominently displayed. They distributed pamphlets and obtained the use of the Engine Hall for Friday evening, July 13, when they will exploit their cause. Thomas McGrath of Peace Dale, R. I. spent Friday with friends at Pine Tree Cottage. Miss Alice Laughlin was a recent visitor to New London. Annoying Train Schedule. The farmers who ship milk from the local station to Providence find the summer schedule on the C. T. V. very inconvenient. At present they have to leave the hay in the middle of the forenoon to carry the milk to the train, as each man has to put his milk on the train and receive it. Josh Anderson recently fell through the station platform and injured himself when loading cans. Mr. and Mrs. Ewan Jones and son Ned have returned to Waterbury after a brief visit with relatives here. Peter Nawrocki was moving a Polish family to Plymouth Saturday and when he stopped in front of the barn the horse started for the barn. Mr. Nawrocki attempted to back the horse when the load tipped over, damaging considerable of the goods, breaking a wheel of the wagon and loosening the wagon body from the front wheels. Mr. Nawrocki procured another team and continued with the remainder of the load. Joseph Rebenski is building a barn on his property on Oakland avenue. Samuel Crumlish has returned from a brief stay in Shelton and New Haven.

Brief State News

Norfolk.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel sailed last week for Europe on the Rotterdam of the Holland-American line. New Britain.—Principal Marcus White of the State Normal school and his family are spending the summer at Watone, Me. Litchfield.—The first annual horse show under the auspices of the Litchfield Lawn club will be held Saturday, July 28, 1912, at Kilmavock, Litchfield. Meriden.—A set of rules to guide the owners of horses as to the treatment of their animals during the hot weather has recently been issued by the Meriden Humane society. New Haven.—The New Haven board of education recently voted to include in its estimates for next year the sum of $24,375 for the erection and maintenance of a trade school. Waterville.—Rev. Matthew J. Traynor, pastor of St. Michael's church, is spending a two weeks' vacation in Canada, where he is the guest of his brothers, who are also members of the priesthood. Enfield.—The attorney general has approved the lease to lands in Enfield which the fish and game commission is to take under lease from a number of property owners for a game preserve. The tract includes 700 acres. Hartford.—William C. Steele, 41 years a member of the Hartford police force, and better known through the state as drum major of the First regiment, C. N. G., has resigned from active service. He is 61 years old.

NORWICH TOWN

Building at Glen Woolen Mill Burned—Various Briefs and Personals.

About 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning a fire broke out in a material situated near the Glen woolen mill, caught fire and was burned to the ground. Three tenements near by were in danger, but by prompt action of the mill fire department they were saved. By the request of Manager Hilsch, the auto chemical was sent out by Chief Stanton, but upon arrival it was found that the truck was not needed. It is not known how the fire started.

At Sheltering Arms Second Church Pastor and Quartette Conduct Inspiring Service.

Rev. Herbert J. Wyckoff of the Second Congregational Church spoke at the Sheltering Arms Sunday afternoon service. The shadows of all the evenings are stretched out. To some people the coming of night has always seemed like God's turning his back on the world, he said. "On the other hand, this should be the time when we are able to draw near into the shadow of the Almighty and read most clearly the spiritual meaning of the night." The shadows of all the ways be welcome, because they are resting, refreshing, friendly and luminous. Assisting in the service was a quartette consisting of Mrs. Rouben P. Potter, Mrs. George T. Lord, G. Currier Hill and William A. Lund, with Miss H. Louise Fuller at the piano. "The Evening," "Thine Thine" by M. O. Lord, by the quartette, afforded the listeners much pleasure. The solo by Mrs. Lord, "Just for Today," was given impressively and in sweet tone.

Tidings from the Shore.

A local resident who is at Quonochontaug writes: "At East Beach, Quonochontaug, the Fourth day was as still as an old New England Sabbath day. No daily papers, among them The Norwich Bulletin, came, as there was no R. F. delivery, and only fire-works at Watch Hill and nearby places lighted the sky. "Some of the cottages are being repaired and additions made. Over half the 24 cottages at East Beach are now opened. Surf bathing is daily enjoyed though the water of the ocean is much colder than is usual in July."

Nineteen Attend Clambake.

A clambake was given last Thursday by Walter Grant at his home on the Old Canterbury turnpike. Nineteen were present.

Brief Local Mention.

Miss Gertrude S. Hyde of Washington street has returned from a visit in Hartford. Miss Martha Holcomb of the Old Cemetery lane is spending a week in Providence. Mrs. Dora E. Holdbrook is moving from 24 William street to 354 Washington street. Mrs. Wilson of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting her mother, William Lyman of Washington street. Daniel M. Peck spent the week end with his uncle, Henry S. Markham, in East Hampton, Mass. Daniel C. Brown of Mystic was a week end guest of his son, Rowell J. B. Brown, of West Town street. Mr. and Mrs. John McGarity and family of Hartford are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Croker on Huntington avenue. Personal Interests. Miss Lucy Lord of New York, who has been in the general office of Wells of Town street, has left town. Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Northrop and family of Beach drive have left town to pass the summer at Pleasant View, R. I. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Austin of Washington street were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne Huntington at their cottage at Ocean Beach.

CURIOUS OCCUPATIONS.

Smoke Bottler, "Dock Walloper," Dealer in Walrus Whiskers. When the thirteenth census is completed—that is, when the last compilation has been made and each individual has been put in the proper class, it will be the most exhaustive classification ever made by the census bureau. For instance, says the Scientific American, what mechanics will, of course, be put in the class of general heading, each of them will be classified according to the particular work he is doing, and so with other trades and industries. Some occupations which will contain but a single name. This will bring to light a number of queer ways in which some people are engaged in earning a livelihood. As far as the work has revealed there is only one man classed as "snake merchant." This man has a snake ranch in Texas, and has for more than seven years made a business of handling snakes. During the year 1910 he sold over 100,000 rattlesnakes and blacksnakes, the price ranging from 25 cents to $2 each. They are sold to zoos, side shows of circuses, medical colleges and scientists. Under the shoe industry one would hardly expect to find persons subsisting as judges, makers, plowers, plowers, shavers, bustlers-out, criddle chasers and panache-makers, but there they are. Another man who will be all in a class, and that is when the work is finished by a resident of Kansas City. His sole business is to bottle smoke of burning Hickory logs. He claims that when this smoke is let loose in an ordinary room it produces the same results upon the meat as though it had been smoked in an old-fashioned smoke house. Such titles as "whittler," in a straw hat factory, "toiler," in a straw hat factory, "doek walloper," a longshoreman, "pawser," in a hatmaking establishment, "whitener," in a hat factory, "loner," in connection with oysters, "teaser," in a glass factory, are some of the other queer designations used by the census taker. Indeed, there are as many women as there are men who pursue odd ways of earning money, one class of which would be designated as "gaiters," were a common expression of the times used for it, as their business is to be "discharged" from the department stores in which they are "employed," a number of times each day, or as often as necessity might demand. When a grouchy or naughty customer makes complaint of dissatisfaction or when not wanted a clerk, one of the "gaiters" is summoned to the office as the person in charge of that particular department. There she is given a good talking to before the angry customer and ultimately dismissed and the complaint goes away rejoicing. Women peddlers are becoming rather commonplace. We have a woman chief of police in Kansas; a town in Pennsylvania boasts a fair deputy sheriff, who is a college graduate and

Los Angeles was the first city to appoint a woman to its police force. One woman in Pennsylvania earns her daily bread by raising Porcini mushrooms and selling them for from $25 to $100 each. She not infrequently makes large sales to wealthy eat fanciers. Still another in Maryland devotes her time to pigeon raising, claiming her income from the industry to be about $700 a year. One of the most unique trades of the entire list, however, is that carried on by a man in Seattle. His business, and a profitable one, too, is to secure the mistletoes from walrus killed in Bering straits and sell them to the Chinese for toothpicks. These stout bristles are plucked from the nose of the walrus by Indians, tied into small bundles and sold by him on the Pacific coast to agents, who ship them to China, where they are in great demand. In an aged bull walrus, the bristles are about as thick as a lead pencil. Besides being extremely tough, they can, when made, into picks, be pushed between the teeth without injury to the animal. Last year this dealer cleared something like a thousand dollars by his traffic in walrus whiskers.

Finger Prints in Banks.

If a system which is rapidly gaining in favor with officers of savings banks in New York is eventually adopted—which the Evening Post of that city thinks probable—persons who go to banks in the future to withdraw part of their accounts will be compelled not only to submit specimens of their signature and answer all questions put to them by paying tellers, but they will also have to furnish copies of their finger prints before being permitted to take away any of the money rightfully belonging to them. Six months ago an Englishman with a theory of identification by means of finger prints arrived in New York and began to urge his system on the local bankers. He was received cordially at first, but early in April gained assent from the Williamsburg Savings bank in Brooklyn for an experimental use of the system. Since that time different institutions have realized the value of finger print identification, and it was announced a few days ago that twenty savings banks in the city and through the state had enthusiastically adopted the plan.

FOR SALE. Fronting Atlantic Ocean, 50x50 feet of land, I have been fortunate in securing a tract on the seashore, between Pleasant View and Charlestown Beach. These lots have one of the finest beaches along the coast, and the trolley will pass over them. These lots will increase in price right away. All I ask for a customer, and after July 1st, this year, if any are left, the price will be $2,000. For information, the survey is nearly completed. Arrangements to view the property made by appointment. Transportation free in auto. Investigate. $100 will put you in possession of an 10-acre farm, large 10-room house, barn, wagon shed, woodshed, two head of milk cows, 3 acres all planted, including 1 acre of potatoes; place situated only 1 1/2 miles from Waterbury, R. I., and a 10-minute walk to trolley. Owner lives out of the state and will sacrifice if sale is made right away. Possession given at once. WILLIAM A. WILCOX, Real Estate Broker, No. 41 West Broad St., Rooms 1 and 2. 7j8d
FOR SALE. No. 138 Laurel Hill Avenue, known as the K. H. Leavens property. Fine grounds available for 2 building lots. Residence can be altered into two-family house. Proposition will be considered for exchange for smaller property. JAMES L. CASE, 40 Shetucket St., Norwich, Conn.
