

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Acts directly and peculiarly on the blood; purifies, enriches and revitalizes it, and in this way builds up the whole system. Take it. Get it today.

Points of a Good Cellar.

An ideal cellar should have good ventilation, plenty of light, a good drain and a high ceiling. The walls and floor should be smooth and preferably of finished cement.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Murray's Boston Store

Kitchen Utensils

That have been marked for quick clearance during the July Sale.

WOODEN WARE

No. 4 Floor Brooms, extra good quality, 4 sewed, regular 40c value—July Sale 27c.

Dualens Hardwood Floor Mops, regular 55c value—July Sale 45c.

Trojan Map Handles, regular 15c value—Sale price 8c.

Smith's Ten-arm Clothes Dryer, regular 50c value—Sale price 39c.

Five down Perfect Cotton Pina, value 1.00—Sale price 75c package.

Ideal Tooth Picks, hardwood—July Sale price 2c box.

Willow Clothes Baskets, oval shapes, small size, regular 70c value—July Sale price 55c.

MISCELLANEOUS Mrs. Peter's Sad Iron, three in a set, full nickel finish, value $1.25—July Sale price 95c set.

Red E Cleanser, guaranteed to give good satisfaction, value 15c—July Sale price 8c can.

Veteran Dust Absorbing Compound, 5 pound can, value 50c—July Sale price 25c.

Large Dustless Dust Cloth, value 25c—July Sale price 18c.

Straw Beach Seats—July Sale price six for 25c.

MATTRESSES Good quality Cotton Mattress, regular $2.50 value—$2.25.

Combination Cotton Top Mattress, two parts, value $4.50—$2.65.

Blank Floss Mattress, full size, value $15.00—$12.00.

BED COVERINGS Full size Hemmed Bed Spreads, reduced to 85c, $1.19, $1.39 and $1.89 each.

Summer Blankets, reduced to 54c and 84c pair.

Good quality Straw Tickings, reduced to 9c and 10c yard.

The H. C. Murray Co.

JAY M. SHEPARD succeeding ELMORE & SHEPARD

Funeral Director and Embalmer

60-62 North St., Willimantic

Lady Assistant Tel. Connection

DR. F. C. JACKSON Dentist,

Painless Extracting and Filling a Specialty

752 Main Street, Willimantic

Auto Truck Moving

LONG DISTANCE WORK A SPECIALTY

Address: P. A. WEEKS, at Phone 150-2, 838-12 or 264-5, Willimantic St.

HIRAM N. FENN

UNDERTAKER and EMBALMER

63 Church St., Willimantic, Ct. Telephone: Lady Assistant

E. H. SPRING, Piano Tuner

These 100-4, Willimantic, Conn.

Wilmington, Danieson and Putnam

WILLIMANTIC

What is Going On Tonight. Special City Meeting This Afternoon. Moving Pictures at the Bijou and Bessie Temple.

THROWN FROM MOTORCYCLE.

Benjamin J. Thompson Badly Bruised When Front Fork Broke.

Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock, Benjamin J. Thompson figured in an accident on Pleasant street. Mr. Thompson had recently purchased a motorcycle and was riding it along Pleasant street after his day's work and was going along at a pretty fair rate of speed when, at a point just west of the head of Bridge street the front fork of the motorcycle broke, throwing him to the road pretty heavily.

Charged With Assault.

Thursday noon time Mrs. Wingersman rushed up the street and lodged a complaint with Chief E. H. Richmond that her husband had just thrown her down and choked her.

Herbert Case Continued.

The case of the state against Roy Herbert, aged 13, who accidentally fired a shot from an air rifle into the eyebrow of three-year-old Adalard Charron was taken up by Deputy Judge James A. Shea in the police court Thursday morning.

More Cottages at Lake.

Contractor E. H. Brindaman has just completed the erection of a cottage at Lake Waugumbaug, South Coventry, for E. F. Ellsworth of this city.

Oiling Nearby Roads.

The work of oiling the road between Willimantic and North Windham has been completed by men in the employ of the repair department of the state.

NO CHANGE IN STRIKE SITUATION.

There is no change in the strike situation at the Willimantic Silk company plant. Thursday a weaver blew into town from east Pennsylvania, but he had not been in the city long before he was introduced to the striking weavers.

Various Items.

Holden Arnold of Lebanon was taken Thursday morning to Fairview hospital to undergo treatment for appendicitis. Mr. Arnold was taken ill last Saturday.

Persons.

M. J. Kelly of Norwich was in Willimantic on business Thursday. S. H. Reeves of Norwich was in Willimantic on business Thursday.

TEA GARDEN'S FOURTH DAY.

North Stonington's Fete Largely Attended Thursday—Two More Days.

Ideal weather and a large attendance combined to make the fourth day at the North Stonington tea garden, for the benefit of the children's playground, an unequalled success.

NO CASE AGAINST ABBY.

Assurers Couldn't Prove Their Lost Property and Prisoner Was Discharged.

There was a rather lengthy session of court at the city hall this morning when the case of Abby Baker, East Killingly, charged with breaking and entering a house in that section of the town and taking two watches, came up for hearing before Deputy Judge James N. Tucker.

THE DIFFERENCE.

The difference between Dr. Wilson's (and Colonel Roosevelt's) jaw is that the cartoonist says the Doctor's almost as much as the Colonel enjoys his own—Harold Times.

Drawing the Line.

Just as was expected, the Kern boom collapsed. The glorious United States refuse to be ruled by a man who wears whiskers—Milwaukee Sentinel.

DANIELSON

Figures Give Lie to Statements of Extravagant Town Management—Abby Baker, Accused of Stealing Watches, Discharged from Court—Killingly Factory Will Soon Be Running

Rev. A. W. Robertson of Nova Scotia is to preach at the Methodist church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley P. Mills of Boston were visitors in Danielson Thursday.

Mrs. John McDowan of Westley is visiting with relatives in Danielson.

George C. Witherby of Providence visited with friends in Danielson Thursday.

Miss Ruth Smith and Prescott Smith were at Newport Thursday.

Leiter Bill, son of Judge and Mrs. A. G. Hill, has charge of the electrical work to be done at the coliseum building at Forest Glen, Md.

Miss Corinne Thetreat of Putnam has returned here after her vacation.

Rev. W. H. Raymond has been in charge of the singing services much of the time this week at the Douglas camp meeting.

Mrs. Philip Maynard is spending the month at the Maynard cottage at Oakland beach.

Mrs. Joseph Bodo is at the Bodo cottage at Oakland beach for the month.

Trouble Moving Road Apparatus. Difficulty has been experienced in getting the road building machinery that was unloaded here over the highway to Foster, where it is to be used.

Several days have been required for the work.

Light Frosts Threatened Here. The temperature dropped again Thursday morning to a point that threatened light frosts in this section, but not were reported.

The teaching staff for the public schools of Killingly is now completed for the school year that will commence in September.

The great majority of the teachers have had previous experience in school work in Killingly, so that they will be familiar with their duties and additionally valuable on that account.

Let Off With Fines. Joseph Boutin was presented in the town court Thursday for the third time within the past two months, intoxication being the charge on each occasion.

Extenuating circumstances of the police department in the city, things that he has previously agreed he would not do again, but did, got him off with a fine and costs amounting to a little more than $10.

Will Be Running Two Months. Superintendent boys of the Killingly Manufacturing company said while in Danielson Thursday that it is hoped to have the plant in partial operation in about two months.

The new equipment, machinery, beams and beams have been set up at the plant and there are more than 200 looms there which were not removed at the greater part of the year.

Manufacturing company said while in Danielson Thursday that it is hoped to have the plant in partial operation in about two months.

Increased Expenses Due To New High School and Town Hall—Otherwise Debt Would Have Decreased.

Some figures taken from the town records are of very much interest at this time when, within the past two weeks, absurd claims have been made as to the amount of the town debt running in debt during the past few years on account of extravagant management.

Starting with the admission of the town reports to have been $12,000. The town hall building cost, $12,000. Subtracting these two amounts, totaling $24,000, from the total debt of the town in 1911, shown by the town reports to have been $125,000, the net result would be $101,000.

Subtracting these two amounts, totaling $24,000, from the total debt of the town in 1911, shown by the town reports to have been $125,000, the net result would be $101,000.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

These figures therefore indicate that if Killingly had not built the high school and purchased the town hall building that the debt at the end of 1911 would have shown an average yearly decrease of $35,444 since 1893.

PUTNAM

Stonington Wreck Sends Trains Through Here to Boston—Archel Berger, 13, Arrested on Charge of Stealing Pocketbook—Appointment of Two More Teachers.

"Is this the circus train?" (an animal show was booked in here on the day) asked a little boy of a railroad man when he saw a string of red cars at the station shortly after 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

PUTNAM

Stonington Wreck Sends Trains Through Here to Boston—Archel Berger, 13, Arrested on Charge of Stealing Pocketbook—Appointment of Two More Teachers.

"Is this the circus train?" (an animal show was booked in here on the day) asked a little boy of a railroad man when he saw a string of red cars at the station shortly after 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.

A watch of no great value figured in the proceedings. Various witnesses attempted to identify it as Pennery's. Pennery said he bought his watch from Leon Pierce, who runs a grocery store over in the wilds of Foster and sells about everything from beer to bicycles.

Mrs. Pennery's watch was said to have been more valuable than her husband's. It was a high priced one and was in good condition excepting that its crystal was smashed and one of the hands was broken off.

There was considerable talk of the Pennery home. The prisoner was found not guilty and discharged.