

MURDERERS HIDING IN NEW YORK

Three of Them Said to be in Sore Straits and Will Soon Be Forced to Come into the Open

NO CLUE TO THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE FOURTH

Police Discover Another Eye-Witness Who Corroborates Statements of Waiter Kresse in Many Respects—Sure He Can Identify Two of the Gang and Possibly All of Them—One Assassin Pushed Revolver into Rosenthal's Face.

New York, July 28.—Police officials tonight believe that the lines are tightening about the remaining fugitives sought in connection with the assassination of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who was murdered thirteen days ago. The four men most wanted by the police are still at large, but of these it is said that "Whitey" Lewis, "Lefty" Louie and "Gyp" the Blood" (Harry Horowitz) are now almost within the police dragnet.

Hiding in New York City. These men are believed to be in hiding in this city, without funds, and in sore straits. It seems to be but a question of time before they will be forced into the open. Sam Schepers, the fourth man of the quartet, has fled the city and his whereabouts are not known.

Another Important Witness. Another important witness whose identity is being carefully concealed by the police has been found by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty. This man stood within a few yards of Rosenthal when the latter was shot down, and he is believed to be in front of the Hotel Metropole. He saw the gray murder car at the curb, he saw the four men standing about the entrance of the hotel, waiting for the prey to come out, he saw a man who placed his revolver almost in the gambler's face and shot him. At least two of the party he is sure he can identify and possibly every one of them.

Pushed Revolver into Rosenthal's Face. This is part of what the new witness has told the police: "I remember the faces well. I saw those four men run away to the gray automobile. One of them carried a revolver. I saw the man with the revolver distinctly at the time of the shooting, as he was running to me. He pushed the revolver into Rosenthal's face and pulled the trigger. I am sure the muzzle of the weapon was not more than six inches from Rosenthal's face when the shots were fired."

To Throw Just in Public's Eye

PURPOSE OF THE NUMEROUS ROOSEVELT CONTESTS WERE ALL FRIVOLOUS

Statement Given Out in Reply to Colonel's Cry of "Theft and Fraud"—All Were Abandoned But 74.

Washington, July 28.—A statement, approved by President Taft, defending his nomination by the Chicago convention, was made public at the White House today. It reviews every contest before the republican national committee and the credentials committee of the convention and asserts that each contest was settled logically, upon its merits. The statement was submitted to the cabinet at a recent meeting and received the approval of the president's official family.

Contests Not in Good Faith. A resume of the statement, prepared by Charles D. Hillis, formerly President Taft's secretary and now chairman of the republican national committee, takes up each contest briefly. This resume opens with the declaration that the Roosevelt contests as originally filed before the national committee were not instituted in good faith.

Intent Was to Deceive Public. "The total number of delegates summoned to the convention," the resume says, "was 1,075, with 561 votes to a choice. Mr. Taft had 361 votes on the first and only ballot and was declared the nominee. There were instituted against 238 of the delegates the charge of not being in good faith on behalf of Roosevelt. These contests were avowedly instituted not for the purpose of really securing seats in the convention, but for the purpose of adverting evidence which would lead any respectable court to entertain the contests, but for the purpose of deceiving the public into believing that Mr. Roosevelt had more votes than he really had, as the conventions and primaries were in progress for the selection of delegates. The 238 contests were reduced by abandonment, formal or in substance, to 74. The very fact of these 164 frivolous contests itself reflects upon the genuineness and validity of the remainder."

Credentials Committee Misrepresented. An appeal to the report of the credentials committee to the convention, in which the statement issued by the Roosevelt committee attacking the majority of the committee was limited as to prevent their being taken into account in discussing the charges, the report said: "The statement is a grossly and maliciously untrue. It was intended to convey the impression that the time for hearing cases was so limited as to prevent their being properly presented to the committee. The untruthfulness of this statement is clearly shown by the records of the committee and the newspaper reports of its deliberations. The committee rules make liberal provision for time in presenting the cases, but in every instance where the parties presenting the charges asked for an extension of time, it was granted."

Bias of Roosevelt Members. "The committee on credentials of the republican national convention consists of 11 members. The committee in every case insisted that the credentials of the members of the national committee, and in no case by a majority of less than two-thirds. This statement of facts, indorsed by 40 members of the committee, who listened patiently through all-day and all-night sessions to evidence and argument in order to be able to judge cases as they came up, is a sufficient answer to the reckless, unwarranted and untruthful assertions contained in the statement signed by 11 members of the committee, who in every case for the delegates known to be present at the sessions of the committee, did not hear any of the evidence presented, and nearly all of whom indicated their dissent by voting against the charges, including numerous cases in which the action of the national committee had been unanimous for the 'No Tamers' clause."

Barbarity in a Mexican Prison

Strung Up by Thumbs Beaten With Sabre While in This Position—Afterwards Confined in Dungeon For 43 Days—Finally Released.

San Antonio, Tex., July 28.—Amado Suarez, who claims to be a citizen of New York, has arrived in San Antonio from Matamoros, Mexico, and relates a story of cruelties which he alleges he suffered at the hands of Mexican federalists.

Kept Standing in Cell. Suarez asserts that he was arrested, suspected of being a rebel, and held three days after his arrest, Suarez declares, he was kept standing in a narrow cell, a sentry being on hand to prod him if he attempted to sleep or fell to the floor from exhaustion.
