

TELEGRAPH MANAGERS ON STAND

With Single Exception They Declare That Originals of Messages From Hockin to McManigal Have Been Destroyed

—Salt Lake City Manager Produces Telegram From J. E. Munsey to J. J. McNamara—Trial of Dynamiters.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Telegrams signed "Ping," alleged to have been sent to Orville E. McManigal, directing him where to "drop" dynamite bombs on his trips about the country, were sought by the government through the examination of the first witnesses called in the trial of the accused "dynamite plotters" today. Managers of telegraph offices in Buffalo, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Evansville and Salt Lake City testified. With one exception they asserted that the originals of telegrams asked by the government, covering a period as far back as 1908, had been destroyed in the ordinary course of business.

Managers Asked for Explanation.

The government asserted it has possession of the telegrams as received, and it called the witnesses to show the reason why the original messages as sent cannot be produced. It was during this period that McManigal and the McNamaras formed the "committee" of dynamiters, the government charges, and often sent McManigal out alone and equipped with a suitcase filled with explosives to await orders by the telegraph as to what he should blow up.

Could Not Remember Messages.

When James W. Noel, one of the counsel for the government, asked why the telegrams were not produced, Senator J. W. Kern, counsel for the defendants, asked the witnesses: "You don't know that such telegrams ever existed, do you?" The witnesses replied that they could not remember individual messages. The telegrams, Mr. Noel said, were sent by Hockin, newsclerk secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and at present on trial, to McManigal's home in Chicago. They shifted him at times, the attorney asserted, from Chicago, to St. Louis, from Cincinnati to Indianapolis, and from Chicago to Holyoke, Mass.

One Telegram Produced.

P. A. Knight, manager of a telegraph office at Salt Lake City, was the first witness to produce a telegram. The telegram was dated October 10, 1910, and purported to be signed by J. E. Munsey, known as "Jack Bright," one of the defendants. According to the government's charges, J. B. McNamara, after blowing up the Los Angeles Times building on October 1, 1910, hid for two weeks in places secured by Munsey. J. J. McNamara, then secretary of the iron workers' headquarters in Indianapolis, was anxious about his brother after the Los Angeles explosion.

Munsey's Telegram to McNamara.

The telegram, as identified by Knight and by Mrs. Charles McCarty, who was the counter clerk at Salt Lake City, was as follows: "J. J. McNamara, Indianapolis: 'Everything is O. K. Glad C. is coming. Patient is in a little danger, and will get well. He is improving right along. You can depend on me to handle matters carefully. Will wire if there is any change.' 'J. E. MUNSEY, '3225 Southwest Temple St.'"

Clancey Changed His Mind.

It would be shown, the government claims, that "C." referred to was Eugene C. Clancey of San Francisco, on trial here, who had been in Boston when the Times disaster occurred, and who was about to start on a fishing trip with Michael J. Young, also a defendant, but news of the loss of life at Los Angeles induced Clancey to change his mind, and after sending a telegram to San Francisco "to clean out the office," he had decided to hurry west.

The examination of telegraph managers had not been concluded when court adjourned until tomorrow.

the textile strike last winter, argued on the motion today. Judge Quinn, District Attorney Harry C. Atwill, who is conducting the government's case, and at the close took the matter under advisement. He asked the attorneys to be present at court in the morning.

The defendant's attorneys argued that the constitution does not prohibit the bailing of defendants in murder cases and cited cases where such defendants have been released under bonds. Judge Quinn, in questioning them, referred to the fact that many of the citations were supreme court procedure rather than from superior court decisions.

A TONIC LAXATIVE

Pe-ru-na, an Up-to-Date Family Medicine That Should Be In Every Home

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Nearly everybody is obliged more or less to take a laxative. There are of course a few exceptions. A great many people also need occasionally to take a tonic. Probably few households exist that do not make use of tonics and laxatives.

The remedy Peruna is a laxative tonic. It not only operates as a gentle laxative, but also as a tonic.

The benefit derived from such a remedy is a great deal more in the prevention of disease than in the cure. After a person has really become sick, either with an acute or chronic ailment, the rule should be to employ a physician, or some one who can give the case his personal attention. But long before this happens the person will complain of this or that symptom, which is not severe enough to interfere with his regular activities. If at this place before the disease has really ly gained a foothold, in the system, a person was to take a dose or two of a good tonic laxative the great majority of cases of sickness would be prevented.

Peruna is a remedy that should be kept in the house. Its virtue as a preventive to disease is the thing I wish chiefly to emphasize.

A slight condition of constipation may lead to serious sluggishness of the bowels, biliousness, re-absorption of poisonous material and finally sickness. Or apathy of the stomach in which the food is not relished, may gradually lead to atonic dyspepsia or to the acquisition of some acute disease. For either one of these conditions a few doses of the tonic laxative Peruna would set matters right. This is why the remedy should always be kept handy by.

When once the value of Peruna as a household remedy is understood no home would be without it. Cathartics, pills and powders would be discarded. Irritating tonics would be no longer taken. Alcoholic drinks would have no place. With a few doses of Peruna a vigorous appetite is produced and if there be any sluggishness of the bowels their functions are gradually restored.

Most laxatives are weakening in their effect. A tonic laxative guards against this weakening effect. Until right living has become so thoroughly established that all medicines are superfluous, Peruna will be needed. It is exactly the remedy that meets numerous necessities of the household. Sold at all drug stores.

Mr. John B. Perkins, 22 Wilting St., Plymouth, Mass., writes: "I think Peruna is a number one medicine. I was troubled with catarrh and bowel complaint. I tried several doctors, but could not find temporary relief. I took Peruna and am glad to say that it cured my catarrh and corrected my bowels."

Pe-ru-na, Man-a-lin and La-on-pia manufactured by the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

EXPRESS COMPANIES MAKE STRONG PROTEST

Claim That Proposed Rates Will Put Them Out of Business.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A net loss of $22,000,000 a year in the revenues of the express companies and the railroads would result from putting into effect the express rates proposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to figures submitted by the companies to the commission today at the public hearing.

This loss, it was estimated, would be substantially evenly divided between the express and the railroad companies. Representatives of both classes of transportation companies protested vigorously against the enforcement of the proposed rates. It was asserted by counsel for the express companies that the commission's rates would put their clients out of business.

The hearing was attended by many representatives of express companies and railroads, and also by representatives of commercial organizations and shippers.

CEREAL CROPS NEVER SO BOUNTIFUL BEFORE

Corn and Potato Crops Will Be Greatest Ever Harvested.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Never before have the great cereal crops of the United States been so bountiful as those of this year. Records of production for almost every cereal have been surpassed in some instances by millions of bushels.

The October crop report of the department of agriculture issued today shows spring wheat, oats, barley, rye, and hay, all have exceeded the best record production, while the crops of corn and potatoes from present indications will be the greatest ever harvested.

TO TEST CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE NEW NEWSPAPER LAW

Suit Begun in U. S. District Court by New York Publication.

New York, Oct. 9.—Suit to test the right of the government to enforce the federal law of August 24, 1912, requiring newspapers and periodicals to publish their circulation figures twice a year, and imposing other requirements, was filed in the United States district court here this afternoon by the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin company, publishers of the Journal of Commerce.

The suit is directed against Postmaster General Hitchcock, Attorney General Wickham, U. S. District Attorney Wise and Postmaster Morgan of New York. The petitioner charges that the law is unconstitutional and prays for a temporary injunction restraining its enforcement until final adjudication. It also requests that the defendants be required, by subpoena, to answer.

Back of the action, according to Robert C. Morris, of counsel for the complainant, is the American Newspaper Publishers' association.
