

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pine Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NORDICA WITHDRAWS HER $50,000 SUIT. Terms of Settlement With Railroad Company Not Made Public.

New York, Oct. 16.—The suit brought by Mrs. Lillian Nordica, the singer, to recover $50,000 from the Southern Railway company for injuries received in a wreck while traveling on the company's road, which has been dragging through the higher courts of this state for the past ten years, was today dismissed by Justice Ford on a stipulation signed by counsel for the singer and the railroad company.

Mrs. Nordica is now the wife of George W. Young, a banker. The terms of the settlement of the case were not made public.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE AND GRIP. LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE REMOVES THE CAUSE. There is only One "BROMO QUININE." Look for signature of E. W. GROVE, Inc.

King's PURE MALT Combined with Hypophosphites OF Iron AND Lima Is the Ideal Tonic. Send for Prices to Your Druggist Or to Us. KING'S PURE MALT DEPARTMENT 35-38 Hawley Street, Boston

HOW ARE YOU FIXED FOR OATS? If you are in the market for oats—pure white, sound and sweet—at prices that will appeal to you, we've just what you want. Don't buy an inferior grade of oats when you can get ours at such a bargain. Call and see us before buying—it will pay you.

CHAS. SLOSBERG, 3 Cove Street. SATURDAY CANDY 29c. A full pound in every box. DUNN'S Pharmacy 50 Main Street.

The Chelsea Savings Bank Deposits $9,119,910.72 Surplus $86,441.55. WALL PAPERS. P. F. MURTAGH 82 and 94 West Main St.

A PENSION FOR KILLING ROSENTHAL

Becker Said Public Would Give Him One When Sensation Blows Over, According to Testimony of James D. Hallen. Mrs. Rosenthal Said Becker Claimed to Have Raided Her Husband to Save Himself.

New York, Oct. 16.—"When this sensation blows over the public will give me a pension for killing that d—n skunk Rosenthal."

These are the words attributed to Police Lieutenant Charles Becker by James D. Hallen, his fellow prisoner in the Tombs, at today's session of Becker's trial on the charge of investigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler who "aquealed" against him.

Mrs. Rosenthal Testifies. Hallen was one of fifteen witnesses who testified today for the state. Assistant District Attorney Moss announced when adjournment was taken tonight that he had only one or two more witnesses to call to complete the case for the people.

Mrs. Herman Rosenthal, widow of the gambler, the first witness of the trial testified that Lieutenant Becker, her husband's alleged partner in his gambling house, had said to her on the occasion of a raid he had made on the establishment:

"It's either Herman or me." Had Only $100 to Bury Her Husband. This is the so-called "fake" raid which the prosecution claims was forced on Becker by his superior officers.

Mrs. Rosenthal testified that when she came to bury her husband she had only $100 to her name, all that had been left her by Rosenthal. This was a bit of testimony elicited by the state with intent to spike the guns of Becker's defense.

"We introduce this," said Assistant District Attorney Moss, "because it has been claimed by the defense that the gambler gave Rosenthal $25,000 or some such sum to insure his silence."

Becker Frequently With Rose. Members of the household of Jack Rose, Becker's alleged graft collector, told of frequent visits of the accused police official to "Bald Jack's" home. Rose's Swedish maid swore that Becker was accustomed to breakfast with her master "nearly every day since Christmas." Two waiters from the Union Square hotel told of frequent meetings between Rose and Becker in the hotel dining room, when "they talked a long time."

One of the waiters said he saw Rose pass Becker a bunch of bills.

Hallen Admits Signatures. Hallen, who was a lawyer before his conviction and was employed at one time by the government of Haiti as fiscal agent, denied that he hoped to obtain clemency through his testimony.

Mr. McIntyre called for Hallen's notes, read them and passed them to his associate counsel, John W. Hart. He then handed Hallen two slips of yellow paper and asked him if the signatures on them were his. The witness replied in the affirmative and the papers were marked for identification.

Denied Writing to Becker. "Did you tell Becker in the Tombs that somebody was trying to hurt you or him—that the newspaper talk was 'all rot'?"

"No." "Did you write him to that effect?"

"Never." Mr. McIntyre handed Hallen a paper. "Did you send that to Becker?"

"No." "Is that in your handwriting?"

"Positively not." Hallen Writes from Dictation. Mr. McIntyre paused and looked hard at the witness. Reaching into his vest pocket, he pulled out a pencil and offered it to the witness.

"Now write this," Mr. McIntyre ordered, "reading from Hallen's notes of the alleged conversation between Becker and White."

Text of Alleged Notes. Friday—Chief, I looked for you in your cell. I heard straight from Whitman's man that Louie had been found and that he told Whitman everything. Oh, hell! and suppose he had? It's only the say-so of mere crooks. Now, see here, Jimmy. We have no one to knock us but professional criminals. No jury on earth will believe them. Sit fast—just sit fast.

Hale's Honey Of Horehound and Tar Will Stop Your Cough And Cure Your Cold. Contains no opium nor anything injurious. All Druggists. Try Pike's Toothache Drops.

FLOOR PAINTS SENOUR'S FLOOR PAINT Dries over night. There is nothing on the market that will equal it. We solicit a trial from Fred C. Crowell's 87 Water Street.

MISS ELLA M. POTTER Instructor of Piano and Harmony Room 6, Alice Bldg. Tel. 968 and deny everything. I tell you when all this sensation blows over the public will give me a pension for killing that d—n skunk Rosenthal."

Hallen's Writing Offered as Evidence. Hallen placed a big pad of yellow paper in his lap and wrote slowly from Mr. McIntyre's dictation. When he had finished he gave the pad to an attendant, who handed it to Becker's lawyer.

The paper was offered in evidence for use as a standard of comparison. Mr. McIntyre indicated that he would attempt to prove that Hallen had denied his own signature.

"Where is the disputed writing?" asked the court. Mr. McIntyre handed a document to the bench.

Mr. Whitman asked to see it, but Mr. McIntyre objected and was sustained. McIntyre Was Hallen's Lawyer. Mr. McIntyre asked the witness if he had forged several names to checks, mentioning the names.

"No, I never forged—" began the witness. "Oh! I know you," exclaimed Mr. McIntyre.

"Yes, you ought to," responded Hallen; "you were my lawyer."

"That's not so," snapped Hallen. "You were paid $500, and I got a long term in prison."

The till over, Mr. McIntyre read name after name and asked the witness if he had forged them to checks.

"Never," was Hallen's stock reply. In response to further questions, the witness said that he was in one shower bath and Becker in the other when the alleged conversation occurred.

Unable to Describe Man Who Talked With Becker. "Describe the man who talked with Becker," instructed Mr. McIntyre.

"I couldn't do it in the slightest degree," the witness admitted. Becker, who had been watching the witness intently, brightened up at the table, looked back at the reporters and smiled when Hallen said this.

The witness declared that he had made his memorandum of the alleged conversation in his cell an hour after he heard it.

Alleged Note to Becker. The note which Hallen denied signing and said was not his handwriting reads as follows: "Becker: 'Of course, this is utter nonsense. No such rot would be put in my name. Someone is trying to injure you or me. As for myself, I have troubles of my own.' 'J. D. HALLEN.'"

Police Officials Called. Hallen was dismissed and William H. Kipp, chief clerk at police headquarters, was called. He identified memoranda of Becker that just previous to the murder had been sent to the central offices of the police department.

Chief Inspector Schmittberger then took the stand and said that on July 16, Becker was assigned to the central squad 17, consisting of forty detectives.

Deputy Police Commissioner Testifies. Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty was then called.

Dougherty said that he saw Becker at the West Forty-seventh street police station, where Rosenthal's body was taken on the morning of the murder. He saw him again the day of the murder at police headquarters, when Becker told him of his movements on the night before the murder, mentioning his visit to the price fight at Madison Square Garden with Jack Sullivan and a visit to his attorney, John Hart.

"Becker did not fix the time he arrived home," Dougherty said.

Asked Becker About Jack Rose. "I asked him when he had last seen Jack Rose, Becker said 'Friday or Saturday on the street.'"

Dougherty said that Becker told him of Harry Brown (Sam Scheppe's alias) calling him up on the night of the murder in reference to a visit to Dora Gilbert, Rosenthal's former wife.

Becker said, according to the witness, that Harry Brown had told him that if he (Becker) would send a representative to the Lafayette bath he would take him to Dora Gilbert's house.

After Justice Goff had excluded questions of Mr. Moss intended apparently to determine what efforts had been made to arrest Jack Rose, Dougherty was excused without cross examination.

Becker Wanted Rosenthal's Affidavit. Isaac V. White, reporter on a New York newspaper, was called. He told of meeting Becker and his attorney, John W. Hart, at his office the Saturday night before the murder.

"Mr. Hart asked me," said the witness, "whether my newspaper had obtained an affidavit from Herman Rosenthal. I told him that we had."

Mr. Hart said that he wanted to use that affidavit for the arrest of Rosenthal on a charge of criminal libel.

White said that he had shown Becker and Hart the printed proofs of the affidavit, which his paper was about to publish.

The witness then identified the affidavit and the proofs were put in evidence.

Becker's Denial Published. "What further conversations did you have with Becker and Hart?"

"I told Mr. Hart that we were willing to publish any denial of the affidavit, or any statement he cared to make in our second edition, our first having gone to press." Mr. Hart then prepared a statement.

The witness identified a copy of the statement referred to, adding that Becker had written part of it.

The statement was discussed paragraph by paragraph, Mr. White said.

Becker Made Statement on Night of Murder. "I suggested that they might make a more detailed statement for publication in Monday's paper," continued the witness. "On Sunday I had another conversation with Becker at my office and Becker said he had not thought it advisable to make any further statement."

"On Tuesday, the night of the murder, Becker came to my office and made a statement as to his movements of the night before."

The witness said further that during this conversation Becker had said "ord," and had asked him for any clippings in the possession of the newspaper bearing upon raids on his gambling and other police cases Rosenthal had been involved in.

Rosenthal's Affidavit Read. Mr. Moss then read into the record Mr. Rosenthal's statement, which was a general denial of charges made in the Rosenthal affidavit, together with the affidavit.

As Mr. Moss read the dead gambler's affidavit, Becker sat back in his chair, looked at the wall high over the witness' head and toyed with his glasses. "Did Mr. Hart read the proofs of the affidavit?" asked Mr. Moss, when he had concluded reading.

Crawford Parlor Stoves. Crawford "Parlor" Crawford "Wood Parlor". Walker & Pratt Mfg. Co., 31-35 Union St., Boston For Sale by M. HOURIGAN, Norwich Agent.

"Parts of it he read to Becker," Mr. White replied.

"The other parts he did not read aloud."

"Why did Becker and Hart want to see the original affidavit?"

"They said they wanted to apply for a warrant for Rosenthal's arrest on a charge of criminal libel. They wanted the warrant issued that night, but found it was too late."

Never Asked for It Again. "Did they ask you for the original affidavit?"

"Yes, I told them I would keep it and they could come to me when they wanted the warrant issued."

"Did they ever ask again for the affidavit?"

"No." The witness repeated his previous testimony almost verbatim on further cross examination.

Court adjourned until 10.30 tomorrow morning.

STONINGTON

Registrars in Session—James R. Leahy Returns from Milwaukee.

The registrars met this week and in the First District received 11 applications of those claiming the voting privilege at the November election. The board will meet with the selectmen Friday to examine and admit to the elector's oath those who are found qualified.

Borough Notes. Those who were candidates at the town election for offices have until Oct. 23 to file their expense accounts with the town clerk.

Mrs. F. C. Joseph is spending a few days with relatives in Providence.

James R. Leahy has returned from Milwaukee, where he attended the convention of the Moulders' union.

It's easy for a man to be patient with a stupid woman if she is pretty.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Sudden Death of Miss Catherine Giltrap—Alfred D. Cady Dead at 90—Democrats Nominates Mix and Walbridge.

Miss Catherine Giltrap, aged 26, died rather suddenly of acute indigestion at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lee J. Schindler, in Staffordville, Monday night. She had worked in the mill all day and at 6.30 ate her supper as usual. A little later she went to the post-office for the mail, and when she returned complained of headache. She soon became hysterical and a physician was summoned, but nothing could be done to save her and she died about midnight. She is survived by one brother, who lives in Worcester, and three sisters, Mrs. W. J. Alberty of Stafford Springs, Mrs. Henry O'Brien of Springfield and Mrs. Leo Schindler of Staffordville.

Alfred D. Cady. Alfred Dana Cady, 90, died at his home in Stafford Hollow Tuesday morning after an illness of several months incident to age. Mr. Cady has been one of the foremost citizens of the town, and in his younger days was prominent in local politics, being a democrat of the old school. He leaves two sons, Herbert F. Cady of Stafford and Arthur M. Cady of Hartford, and three daughters, Mrs. W. A. King of Williamstown, Mrs. Richard Beebe and a daughter, Chella, both of California.

Dennis—McCluskey. Miss Grace G. McCluskey and Geo. L. Dennis were married at the Congregational parsonage Monday morning at 10 o'clock. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Dennis will reside on East Main street.

Democratic Caucus. At the democratic caucus held in Borough hall Monday evening Charles B. Pinney was chosen chairman and A. W. Kingsbury clerk. J. Allen and William E. Walbridge were nominated for representatives. The justices of the peace nominated are Henry C.

Fisk, Karl C. Adams, William H. Bumstead, Myron F. Avery, Lucius D. Colburn, Willis E. Belcher, Napoleon Pero, Jr., Frank A. Barrett, William E. Hanley, William H. Heald. Burial of Joseph Lambert. The body of Joseph Lambert was brought here from Worcester on the 3 o'clock train Tuesday afternoon for burial in St. Edward's cemetery.

Brief State News

Meriden.—The Hebrew young men of this city have organized a dramatic society.

Norfolk.—Richard Billings and family left in their private car Tuesday for a two weeks' stay in Vermont before returning to Norfolk for the winter.

Stafford.—Mrs. Maude M. Hincks, president of the Connecticut Woman's Suffrage association, will preside at the meeting of the Stafford Women's Suffrage association this (Thursday) evening.

Winsted.—The Winsted Business Men's association has sent a communication to the Torrington and Waterbury Business Men's associations suggesting plans for improving the early morning mail service.

New Britain.—A purse containing $100 was found in a shoe which was brought to the cobbler shop of Tony Iannelli the other day for repairs. A woman had sent the shoe in to be mended and forgot that it was the one she used as the family bank. The cobbler returned the money to her.

Torrington.—Rev. F. J. C. Martinez has resigned as pastor of St. Peter's Italian R. C. church to become assistant pastor of St. Michael's church in Hartford, N. J., and instructor of Italian at St. Michael's parochial school in that city. His resignation will take effect on the last Sunday of this month.

Coffee Poisoning is a frequent cause of many human aches and ailments. But people seldom lay the blame where it belongs until troubles multiply and the doctor says "quit coffee". The coffee drinker who is annoyed by headache, nervousness, indigestion, heart palpitation, biliousness or lack of sleep, can prove to a certainty whether coffee is the cause by stopping it ten days and using POSTUM. This healthful beverage, made entirely of choice Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar-cane, tastes much like coffee but contains no caffeine, the habit-forming, health-destroying drug in both tea and coffee. Everyone can drink Postum with fullest benefit. Thousands of former tea and coffee drinkers have found it a means of regaining health and increasing their comfort. "There's a Reason" Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.