FIFTEEN WEARS PASTORAL

Rev. C. H. Ricketts Has Been With Greenville Congregational Church for Decade and a Half—Preaches Anniversary Sermon—But Two Other of Present Pastors Here as Long.

There was an unusually large attendance at the morning service of the Greenville Congregational church on Sunday.

The sermon was by Rev. C. H. Ricketts, pastor of the church, on the anniversary of his coming to the church.

He said in part: The statement I made last Sunday in announcing that my anniversary sermon would be on the text of this discourse.

These years have meant a great deal to me, and how they have meant a great deal to you.

My thought flows along two lines: what significance have these years had to me, and how they have meant a great deal to you.

We all have something to thank God for every moment of our lives, and as my mind goes back over the years I feel like thanking Him for my vigorous health which I still possess.

It is impossible to overestimate the blessings and advantages of sound physical health. It means more to a minister, but to the average minister it is quite indispensable to successful parish work.

Minister's Success Time. Some parishes feel that they must be over-stimulating their ministers.

Advantage of a Long Pastorate. I cannot close this sermon without saying a few words about the advantage of a long pastorate.
