IS IMPOSSIBLE TO CONTROL MONEY

J. Pierpont Morgan Says It Could Not Be Done With All Money in Christendom

TESTIFIES AT MONEY TRUST INVESTIGATION

Says He Has No Knowledge That He Wields a Vast Power and Has No Ambition to Do So—No Way, He Asserts, in Which One Man Can Get a Monopoly of Money—Does Not Mind Competition But Prefers Combination.

Washington, Dec. 19.—J. Pierpont Morgan today told the money trust investigation committee of the house that "all the money in Christendom and all the banks in Christendom" could not form a monopoly that would control money.

For nearly five hours the chief witness called by the committee in its probe of the intricacies of modern finance stood a running fire of questions that covered a large range of financial operations.

Mr. Morgan gave at length his views on competition, combination, co-operation and control in industry and business particularly the latter.

Throughout the long examination to which Mr. Morgan submitted with an evident willingness to answer there was not a moment when interest lagged.

Morgan Favors Co-operation. The question of competition and combination brought to the fore the interchange between the noted financier and Mr. Undermyer, the latter opening the floor with the suggestion that Mr. Morgan was opposed to competition.

Does Not Look for Great Power. "You and Mr. Baker (George F. Baker) dominate the anthracite coal road situation, do you not?" asked Mr. Undermyer at one point in the examination.

Do It for Good for Interests of Country. "This consolidation and amalgamation of systems and industries and banks does not look to any concentration, does it?" asked Mr. Undermyer with a smile.

AN INJUNCTION ISSUED AGAINST CUCKOO SHEETS. Prevents Insertion of Advertising Matter by Newsdealers.

Woman Knew of Buonomi's Crime

ALLEGED MOTIVE OF THE STRATFORD MURDER.

CLAIM OF THE STATE. Three Other Defendants Lived Same Sort of Life—Saloonkeeper Tells of Purchase of Champagne.

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 19.—Stratford Attorney Stiles Judson outlined definitely in the criminal superior court this afternoon the case which the state proposes to prove against the four Italians now on trial for the murder of Jenn Cavagher at Stratford last October. The state will attempt to show, said Mr. Judson, that the victim of the shooting was slain by "Chicago Joe" Buonomi because she had knowledge of crimes committed by him in Chicago, and that the other men now on trial with him, James Matto, Frank Pizzolom and James Riccio, were selected by Buonomi as his aids in the plot against the woman, because they lived the manner of life he lived.

Woman Was "White Slave." The state will also attempt to show, said Mr. Judson, that Buonomi used the woman for immoral purposes in Chicago, New York and Bridgeport, and that before she left Chicago he made arrangements for her to come to this city.

Andrew Capone Still Missing. Another feature of the day's proceedings was the bringing in for the first time of evidence in the indictment of the name of Andrew Capone of New Haven, as one of the five men who accompanied the woman to her death and who stood by the defense.

Cloth Bag Introduced. State Policeman Frank Virelli was called by the state when court resumed in the afternoon to identify a black cloth bag found near the spot where the murder was committed, and to identify the articles it contained.

Saloon-Keeper Testifies. The testimony of Joseph De Vira, a saloon-keeper of Water street, aroused considerable interest in the trial. It is alleged that the party started on the ride which ended in Stratford. It was there also it has been testified that two bottles of champagne were purchased.

Turks Cause of Another Delay

PEACE CONFERENCE ADJOURNS TILL SATURDAY.

FRESH INSTRUCTIONS. Delegates Plead That They Are on Way from Constantinople—May Be Waiting for Intervention by Powers.

London, Dec. 19.—The peace conference held brief session today. The Turkish delegates announced that fresh instructions had been despatched from Constantinople by special courier, therefore adjournment until Saturday was taken, by which time the instructions should reach London.

News comes from the Ottoman capital tonight that the government is empowering the delegates to proceed with the negotiations with the Greek as well as the Balkan plenipotentiaries. This decision is like an American declaration that there has been a suspension of time so that they might strengthen their army.

Similarity to Portsmouth Conference. The conference is now in exactly the same position as the Portsmouth conference after the first week's work. The different parties are daily feeling the ground before striking a decisive blow.

Rehad Pasha strongly recalls Count Witte's shrewdness while the Greek premier, Venizelos, can be compared with Komura's tactlessness, his cool attitude and unshakable calmness. There are other very interesting personalities. Dr. Danoff, chief of the Bulgarians, is like an American politician; Novakovich, the ex-premier of Serbia, is an experienced statesman, the Montenegro Mlyuskovitch a keen diplomatist.

Some of Delegates Disgusted. After the sitting today some of the Balkan delegates expressed disgust at the way affairs were dragging while five armies and three besieged towns were enduring all the sufferings of war and the respective countries were the prey of desolation, misery and death.
