

WHAT IS INTERESTING WESTERLY

Over 4700 Birds Entered for Poultry Show—Rev. John M. Collins becomes Pastor of North Stonington Baptist Church—Mrs. Charles P. Chapman Dead—Democratic Leaders to Dine with Congressman-Elect Gerry—Amos H. Allen Dies, Aged 87.

It is not the custom to change members of the Rhode Island general assembly as often as in Connecticut, as he rule in the former state seems to be once a legislator always a legislator, unless there happens to be a change in party ascendancy. Therefore, it is more than passing strange that of the 24 members of the next assembly from Washington county one-quarter of them are new members. The oldest member who does not return is Senator Joseph E. Smith of North Kingstown, who will be succeeded by William F. Hamby, in Narragansett. Louis Taylor becomes senator and Lewis A. Briggs representative, a South Kingdon, Edward Walker, who has served in the house, will become senator, and Grafton I. Kenyon will be the representative. Charles A. Pratt will be the new senator from Exeter.

As usual, Senator Louis W. Arnold and Representatives Joseph T. Murphy and Albert H. Langworthy will represent Westerly, and there will be no changes in either branch from Charlestown, Richmond or Hopkinton.

The several organizations of the Rhode Island National guard will be inspected by officers to be designated by the commanding officer of the eastern division, United States army. By order of Charles W. Abbott, the adjutant general, all organizations of the state are directed to appear in dress uniform, with service hats and leggings and service belts without bayonet. According to the schedule, the Fifth company, Westerly, will be inspected Jan. 25. All organizations are directed to be on the floor of the armories promptly at 8.15 o'clock upon the evening to which the inspections are assigned, and no change of date of inspection night will be permitted. Officers and enlisted men temporarily absent from their home stations at the muster of their organizations may be attached by proper authority to any other organization for muster.

With a view of determining, as far as practicable, the efficiency in indoor instruction of organizations inspected, the war department desires that organizations be formally inspected and given such exercises in drill and other forms of indoor instruction as inspecting officers consider necessary. When, for any reason, such a procedure cannot be carried out, the necessary answers to general questions called for in the inspection reports will be from general observation. To this end the inspections for the year 1913 will be made formal occasions as far as practicable.

Congressman-elect Peter Geeslet Gerry of the Second district, which includes Westerly, with Andrew Farrell as committee man, will entertain the members of the democratic state central committee of the district, with the chairman and secretary, at the Crown hotel in Providence on the evening of Jan. 5. The dinner will be served at 5.30. Since his election Mr. Gerry has been desirous of meeting the democratic leaders of the district that he might do this that the dinner was held at the Crown hotel in Providence, which is not within the district he represents, and is the successor of the late Congressman George Pitts, who died in 1908. Mr. Gerry is now in Washington to attend the diplomatic reception this week and will return Saturday to complete arrangements for the dinner.

The Rhode Island State college fourth annual farm course will be held at the college from 8 and 7. The lectures and courses are given by W. H. Ingling, general manager of the Monmouth County Farmers' exchange of New Jersey, and Prof. J. H. Truitt, director of the Connecticut Agricultural college. These annual courses for farmers who cannot attend a long course have proven successful in past years, and have attracted large numbers of the state have attended.

The sixteenth annual poultry course at the Rhode Island State college will open next Thursday and continue to Feb. 12. Prof. D. J. Lambert has charge of the poultry department, and in addition to his regular class room work and the practical work in caring for incubators and brooders, he has planned as usual to have prominent and practical poultrymen lecture before the class. The closing week of the course the class usually holds a poultry show, and a poultry institute concludes the course.

Local Lacerias. Gilbert D. Beebe and Miss Rose Ahearn are to be married before New Year's day.

Over 4,700 birds will be on exhibition at the South County Poultry association show in Westerly.

Plans for another superintendent of construction on the new postoffice building, making the third since the work was commenced, although there has been but little work accomplished above the water table.

Rev. John M. Collins of Westerly accepted a call to the pastorate of the Second Baptist church in North Stonington. For the past seven years he has resided here, but was in charge of no church, although he did considerable church work.

Amos Hall Allen died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Everett Watson, in his 87th year. He is survived by Mrs. Allen and besides Mrs. Watrous a daughter, Mrs. J. Nelson Lyon, of New London. He also leaves a brother, Daniel D. Allen, of Providence, and a sister, Mrs. Prudence Gardner, of North Stonington.

Rev. F. C. A. Jones conducted the funeral services of Mrs. Clara Tifford Rogers-Morgan, wife of Charles A. Morgan, at her home in Elm street Saturday afternoon. Burial was in the Rogers family lot in River Bend cemetery. The bearers were Eugene B. Penfield, James M. Pendleton, Dr. Russell B. Smith, Dr. Thomas E. Robinson, Thomas McKenzie and D. Court Edgcomb.

Elizabeth Wilcox Chapman, widow of Charles P. Chapman, died Saturday morning after a long illness at her home in High street in her 82d year. She was the possessor of considerable valuable real estate, being the sole beneficiary under the will of her husband. Mrs. Chapman was an attendant at the First Baptist church. She leaves a son, Charles Deacon Chapman, and two brothers, John G. Wilcox of Charlestown and Nathan T. Wilcox of Shelter Island.

THREE MYSTIC MEN HELD IN HEAVY BONDS.

Arrests Follow Suicides of Haulisch and Edgar Williams—Village Stirred by Relations of Gross Immorality.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Mystic, Dec. 28.—Mystic was all stirred up Saturday when the fact became known that H. J. Haulisch of Greenmanville avenue had committed suicide by jumping from the attic window of his barn after being pursued by the police on Friday night, followed by the suicide of Edgar Williams, who hanged himself in the dining room of his home at West Mystic and the arrests of three prominent men of the village by Officer William Foley of Mystic, Officer Christopher Ledwith of Stonington and State solicitor Isaac L. Brown of Westerly, at Hartford, with prosecuting attorney Benjamin Hewitt. The men taken to custody were Nathan H. Newbury, 57, commander of William post, G. A. R., and harbor master and bridge tender of Mystic, Alfred A. Baker, 65, who works at the Wilcox Fertilizer plant, and Stephen Duke, a velvet mill weaver. They were taken to Stonington Town court Saturday morning and arraigned before Judge W. A. Breed. Newbury is charged with indecent assault on Leah Barracough, aged 12 years and Addie Rathbun, aged 12. He first pleaded not guilty but later entered a demurrer which was overruled and he was held for a hearing by the higher court on $100 bonds. Duke was held for indecent assault on Leah Barracough and for rape on Lizzie Hall, under $1,000 bonds. There are two counts of sodomy against Baker as well as the indecent assaults upon the girls in the other cases. Baker was held in bonds of $2,000 for appearance in the higher court. All three men furnished bonds. It is said that the state police will make more arrests soon, the West Side of the town is to be looked after as well as that of the East Side. People in the village are shocked and indignant over the disclosures and desire that those who are guilty be dealt with severely by the law.

The bearers were her five brothers and brother-in-law, Fred Benjamin, Henry, Carol and Herbert Adams and Charles Brightman. Burial was in Stonington cemetery.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

The Eternal Feminine.

The progress of the human race will tend as a rule to unite all humanity, to make level and uniform all people. Eventually, beyond a doubt, all races will be absorbed into one; nationalities will disappear in the one universal republic; there will be no more negro, yellow nor white men but a composite type.

There is one difference, however, that will widen and not lessen, and that is the difference in sexes.

The present movement is to give women equal rights politically and legally with man. When that is accomplished, as it certainly will be in time,
