FACTORY ON LAUREL HILL WILL SOON BE IN FULL OPERATION

Force of 150 Men and Girls Employed There Now—New York Plant Has All Been Moved Here.

Thermos company is unexcelled and employees express their appreciation of the excellent conditions maintained. The old Davenport building was somewhat undesirable to work in and the change to the new quarters appreciated by those who were employed in the old elevator building.

There is a 24-foot monitor in the building to remove the heat. Manager Blumhardt states that in his experience he has never seen the heat thus arranged or more bright and sanitary factory. One woman is kept busy all the time cleaning the machinery in the condition, and one man is employed with no other duty than to keep the floors clean.

Manager Blumhardt also states that the wages for inexperienced help are probably the highest in the state. The statement is made that the working force is about evenly divided, men and girls. To do away with the drinking cup, they have installed fountains all about the building.

Another feature which appeals to employees is the fact that the company is providing for the company during the noon hour. The reason for this is that the factory is being repaired and improved for use as an office building, has been papered and the plumbing is being installed.

MRS. STOTT SENT BACK TO HOSPITAL

Was Found Wandering in New London Streets With Her Children.

Mrs. Leslie Stott, who with her family of small children had been found on Bank street, New London, Friday, apparently in a destitute condition, has been recommitted to the Norwich state hospital, which she was discharged about seven months ago.

Mrs. Stott is subject to attacks of mental illness and has been confined in the state hospital at Brewster's Neck in the past. About seven months ago Mrs. Stott secured her release, although she states that Dr. Pollock was reluctant in giving the permission.

Her mental condition, however, while Mr. Stott was away in Hartford, and resulted in her squandering the money which had been sent her by him and causing her to wander about the streets with her little brood.

Saturday application was made to the Hartford police for the arrest of Mr. Stott, and he was brought before a justice there. As soon as he had shown the magistrate the receipts for the money orders he had sent home and the amount of the money which had been sent her by him and causing her to wander about the streets with her little brood.

Mrs. Stott lost no time in getting to New London, and she and her children in complaining of the publicity which had unwillingly been given her. Mrs. Stott was sent back to the hospital, Mr. Stott is arranging to take the children to Hartford with him as soon as he can pack up his furniture.
