TWO VETERANS DIE AT GETTSBURG

Old Soldiers From Maine and New York Pass Away Suddenly--Many Heat Prostrations

TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE ON THE BATTLEFIELD

Six Passengers Injured, But None Seriously--Elmira, N. Y., Veteran Knocked Down by Buggy and Seriously Injured About 25,000 Arrivals Yesterday--Senator Brandegee in Senatorial Delegation--Ground Baked Hard by Sun.

Gettsburg, Pa., June 29.—Gettsburg stepped fifty years backward today into the halo of history and looked again upon an army of blue and an army of gray, meeting at her doorstep to join in the semi-centennial celebration of the greatest battle of the war between the states, and to show the world that scars are not so deep as the feeling of American brotherhood.

More than thirty special trains came into the village during the day and thousands of veterans who tramped up from the Shenandoah on their last visit rode in the luxury of soft-backed coaches from Harrisburg, Baltimore and Washington. Instead of the roar of guns, the thunder of charging cavalry and the vocal tribes of automobile drivers, they greeted them in the other days, they walked or rode through the welcome Sunday of a country toward all the flags flying from the windows, the city tents in the distance and the crowds told that Gettsburg had come out of the usual into the extraordinary once more.

Many Succumb to Heat. From the station of the two railroads that converge here, a good long line to the camp of five thousand tents where the veterans are housed. Many of them made the trip by automobile or by carriage or from the friendly shelter of a "seeing" Gettsburg car, but thousands shouldered their suit cases and walked. The sun beat down hot and the air was sticky and many succumbed before they found their tents. There was no complaining, however, as the veterans seemed ashamed to acknowledge that a thing like heat could stop them.

Ground Baked Hard by Sun. Although the regular army and the Gettsburg commission of the state could not cope with the heat, a possible arrangement for the comfort of the united army had been made. The camp tents, which are made of canvas, have been baked as hard as brick and dried into dust by the winds that swept between the hills, but its sanitation, its water supply and its plans for comfort and for the feeding of thousands of men have been made with the utmost care. The formal exercises will be held in a big tent near the Emmitsburg road, but they will last only two hours each day, and the rest of the

Imprisonment of Ministers

Purpose of an Attack by the Suffragettes. A Battle with Police

Women Knocked Down, Men Clubbed and Several Arrested—Demonstration Inspired by Sylvia Pankhurst.

London, June 29.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, led an attacking party to Downing street this afternoon for the purpose of imprisoning the cabinet ministers. The expedition was unsuccessful. The attempt to capture Downing street failed, but the victory of the police was not won without a series of fierce scuffings, in which both policemen and women were injured.

Accuses McKenna of Killing Her Mother. Miss Pankhurst appeared at a demonstration in Trafalgar square in favor of free speech. She denounced the Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, for killing my mother. She declared she would go to Downing street and "imprison the ministers in their own houses."

Organized a Gang. Sauting her action to her words, she jumped from the wagon, organized a large body of sympathizers, many of whom were dock workers, and marched at their head down Whitehall, with the flag of the Women's Social and Political Union surmounted by a liberty cap.

Women Thrown Down, Men Clubbed. The police, however, had been apprised of the intentions of the demonstrators and they met them with a strong cord around Downing street. The dockers tried to break through and some of the women went to the aid of the women who were thrown down upon the ground and the dockers were clubbed.

Mounted Police Disperse Crowd. Finally mounted police came to the rescue and dispersed the crowd. The incident, which led to the march to Downing street was Miss Pankhurst's objection to a resolution put to the meeting, because it contained no direct influence for votes for women.

Calls Ministers Cowards. Then pointing toward Downing street, she continued: "The ministers are just a handful of greedy cowards. They do not all go for week-end and we could imprison them in their own houses even this afternoon if we went down there. What are you going to do?"

Sang the Marseillais. Miss Pankhurst headed the march. Between 1,000 and 2,000 persons followed her banner, singing the Marseillais. Her march was the active direction of affairs to her supporters.

Remarkable Achievement by French Scientist Reported. After a motor car accident it was called in an ambulance by persons who the victim had been killed instantaneously. About ten minutes after the car was stopped, a doctor diagnosed a traumatic rupture of the heart. I opened the thorax, and in fifty seconds laid bare the heart. I found a heart wound about two and one-half inches long. After surgery I proceeded to apply my method of reviving heart action. At the end of about a minute I clearly perceived that the heart had resumed its physiological tonicity, and to my great surprise, it continued to contract by its own true action. Medical pulsation then became perceptible, and after I had signed the thoracic flap the heart continued to contract for thirty-five minutes. At the end of this time the contractions suddenly ceased, and all subsequent efforts to reanimate them were in vain.

A Lobbyist to Give Evidence

Mulhall Promises Sensational Testimony. SPENT OVER $200,000

Former Representative of National Association of Manufacturers Involves Congressmen in His Statement.

Washington, June 29.—Further sensational in the senate's lobby investigation were foreshadowed today, when it became known that a subpoena had been served upon Martin M. Mulhall of Baltimore, reported to have been for many years the active "field agent" and lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Mulhall Willing to Testify. The subpoena was ordered by Chairman Overman of the lobby committee after representations had been made to him that Mr. Mulhall was willing and able to give the committee important facts regarding the influence of legislation to elect or defeat candidates for congress, and to conceal the makeup of committee of congress. A sergeant-at-law who had served the subpoena upon Mr. Mulhall late last night in Washington.

Names Subservient Congressmen. The nature and extent of the disclosures that are expected were outlined in an article published today, under the sworn signature of Mr. Mulhall in the New York World and Chicago Tribune. The statement purports to be Mr. Mulhall's personal history of the National Association of Manufacturers and bristles with the names of congressmen whom he attacked in an article published under the name of "Congressional Closures." Thousands Saved by Eject Congressmen. Allegations that he had helped to defeat congressmen who opposed the interests of the manufacturers; that his organization had spent thousands of dollars to elect congressmen expected to be sympathetic to their interests; that he had aided in securing favorable members on congressional committees; and that he used great efforts to secure the establishment of a federal tariff commission in 1908, and to secure a tariff revision, are contained in the long article under Mr. Mulhall's name.

Committee to Go to Bottom. The facts alleged in the striking story of legislative lobbying and political campaign, were not laid before Chairman Overman prior to their publication. He declared today, however, that he would go to the bottom of the matter in detail that he expected the committee to go to the bottom of the alleged "inside lobbying" and "pernicious" political campaigning that might be disclosed.

Even Page Boys Involved. For the Mulhall case many former and present members of congress who were alleged to have been active agents in support of legislation desired by the National Association of Manufacturers. It specified employees of congress who had been retained to secure information and to act as a "buffer" between the lobbyist and the representatives were used to pick up information about proposed legislation. The writer added that he had been $200,000 in his lobbying work; that he had conducted state and congressional campaigns; that he had been a member of unions, and had personal knowledge of the extent to which influence exerted by his associates had swayed legislators and instructed congressmen.

Chief Lobbyist to Be Summoned. Senator Overman declared tonight subpoenas would also be issued for James A. Emery, representative of the National Manufacturers association at Washington, whom the Mulhall article designated as "chief lobbyist" for the association at Washington and former Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana, referred to in the Mulhall statement as an "inside lobbyist" for members of congress. The association who were leading the fight for a tariff commission in 1908. He said the committee would determine at a meeting Monday, July 1, as to the summoning of other congressmen or former congressmen and officials of the National Association of Manufacturers.

To Ask for More Power. "Lobby investigation has gone far beyond its original scope," said Chairman Overman, and he called for more power from the senate and to go into every phase of the remarkable situation that has been developed. AN EXPRESS CLERK CHARGED WITH THEFT. Alleged to Have Abstracted $370 From Package For Unionville. New Haven, Conn., June 29.—Albert E. The motorist was arrested pending an investigation by Coroner Feltman.

DECOMPOSED BODY FOUND IN WOODS

Strong Indications of Foul Play—Coroner to Investigate. Cheshire, Conn., June 29.—Coroner Eli Mix began an investigation today of the death of the unidentified man whose decomposed body was found yesterday in some woods two miles north of the center. After the medical examiner had viewed the body he ordered it removed to the rooms of a local undertaker, and there, this morning, pending the autopsy which is to be performed tomorrow morning. A preliminary examination has shown two holes in the back of the head, each of the diameter of an ordinary lead pencil.

When the body was discovered it was lying face down with the face buried in a soft felt hat. Drawn tightly about the neck was a leather which was found to be a watch strap about three feet above the ground. Underneath the body was a seven chambered revolver. Six of the chambers contained empty shells, but the seventh was entirely empty. A short distance away from the corpse an open jacket was found in which the blade bearing stains, which it is thought may be blood.

Apparently the man was about fifty years old, five feet eight inches in height and weighed probably 170 pounds. He had long dark brown hair and wore a cut of full and a rough shoe. So much of the face was gone that nothing as to the man's features could be determined. There was a watch but no money about the body.
