SHOULD SET MARK THAT IS HIGH
Rev. Dr. Slocum Gives Talk on "Arms and the Man."

At the Crescent Arms Company Friday, the Y. M. C. A. shop talk by Dr. Joel E. Slocum had for its subject "Arms and the Man." The speaker said:

Every boy and girl that studies Latin will some day run across that line of poetry which declares, "Arms and the man I sing." You people, here in this shop are very properly occupied with the manufacture of firearms. But I, an outsider, am considerably more interested in the man behind the arms.

He emphasized the point that efficiency is the demand of modern industrial life and went on to say that the arms which are heavily traded in our arrangements have been made for us to have the best, and have it without cost. So great was his love for you people that he gave the best that he had, even his own son, that we through his self-imposed poverty might become rich, and that, as through his death might be life.

Those ringing words of Isaiah are especially in point just here: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye, buy and eat, yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not? hearken unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness. Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live. Then shall ye call upon me, and I will answer, and ye shall say, My soul was once dead, but now it is alive; because thou hast heard my voice. Therefore will I answer, and will be gracious unto thee." Several other pleasing solos.

OBITUARY.
Daniel R. Johnson.

Daniel Ray Johnson, Rockville's oldest resident, died Thursday at his home on School street, Rockville. Had he lived until Friday he would have been 98 years old. Mr. Johnson, who made his home with his son, Daniel H., was a native of Johnstown, N. Y., where he was born on March 20, 1816. When he was 4 years of age the family moved to Lisbon, this state, where he resided until he was 12 years old, when he went to Jewett City to learn the carpenter's trade. When 22 years old he married a Miss Kenyon of Jewett City. After working at his trade for many years he retired to a farm in Westminster, his own home, where he was engaged in residing, until he went to Rockville to reside with his son.

He is survived by one son, Daniel H., of Rockville, with whom he had made his home for several years past. Mr. Johnson, up to a short time ago, enjoyed remarkable health, was able to read the papers, but recently he had failed rapidly; his eyesight had become poor, and he was quite deaf. However, he enjoyed having the news read to him, as his mind was clear. Up to Monday he was around his house daily. On Tuesday he arose later than usual and ate a hearty breakfast; he also took a good meal at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, who lived with him. He was taken ill about 10 o'clock, and he died at 11 o'clock, having been in bed for the last three weeks. The cause of her death was diabetes.

Her maiden name was Kate B. Sullivan, the daughter of Harry and Mary Sullivan, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

She was married to Daniel R. Johnson in Jewett City on Dec. 22, 1835. Mrs. Johnson was a member of the Norwich Congregational church.

Surviving her, besides her husband, are three sons, Jesse W. of New Haven, William A. of Windham and Louis E. of Norwich; four daughters, Helen L. and Mrs. M. H. Dunbar of this city, Mrs. M. A. Lynn and Mrs. R. E. Fulton of Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, of Windham; and four sisters, Mrs. A. Jones of New London, Mrs. A. Welch of Union, Mrs. M. Lincoln of Canterbury, and Mrs. M. Anthony of Scotland, also survive her, and she also leaves twelve grandchildren.

FUNERAL
Mrs. Elisha Horner.

Friday noon the remains of Josephine Parkinson, widow of John S. Parkinson, in this city from East Lyme, accompanied by relatives. The remains were taken in charge by Henry Allen & Son, and conveyed to the home of George Parkinson, 79 Lafayette street, at Trinity M. E. church, where the funeral will be held.

Surviving her, besides her husband, are three sons, Jesse W. of New Haven, William A. of Windham and Louis E. of Norwich; four daughters, Helen L. and Mrs. M. H. Dunbar of this city, Mrs. M. A. Lynn and Mrs. R. E. Fulton of Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, of Windham; and four sisters, Mrs. A. Jones of New London, Mrs. A. Welch of Union, Mrs. M. Lincoln of Canterbury, and Mrs. M. Anthony of Scotland, also survive her, and she also leaves twelve grandchildren.

At least two considerations should operate consciously in one's effort to discover his life calling.

There are fourteen bridges across the Thames river in England, and most famous being London Bridge, which was completed with stone in the thirteenth century and supplanted by a new one of granite, which was widened in 1904 to accommodate the traffic of Charles H. Phelps, was 398 yards long, had twenty narrow arches and rows of houses in the centre. Of the thirteen other bridges, only two are suspension bridges and the rest are massive stone structures. Nearly all of them cost over $1,000,000 each. Waterloo Bridge, 2,722,000, and Central Bridge, $2,255,540, and others nearly as much.

Way Up The River

The river referred to by the Dealer, is the river of prosperity and good service to your customers.

The rowing is easy and the oars are Co-operative Advertising. You pull only one of these, and you must pull in harmony with the other fellow.

When the manufacturer of a nationally distributed product comes into the newspapers of your town with his announcements, he is bending on the oar to make business for you.

The rowing is going to be pleasanter if you will row with him.

In other words, let the people know you, have the goods. Tell about them in the newspapers if you can—but certainly show them in your windows and display them on your counters.

It shows good business on the part of the manufacturer to make a market right in your own town—he is helping you as well as himself.

When you co-operate, you are adding to your own profits—you are increasing the volume of your sales while lessening your selling expenses.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, solicits correspondence with manufacturers interested in newspaper advertising and co-operative dealer work.

EXPLAINING VOCATIONAL EDUCATION
School Supt. Graham Gave Talk on Timely Subject—Says Experience Shows Trade Schools Do Not Fill the Need—Describes Pre-Vocational Training and Cincinnati Continuation School.

The monthly meeting of the Men's club of Park Congregational church was held last Friday evening. Friday evening with the president, Hilbard Norman in the chair. Secretary Robert Johnson read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The printing course is two years in length. The law in 1911 provided that in case of the failure of education in any school district establishes part-time day schools for the instruction of youth between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. during the school term. (Section 7167, revised statutes of Ohio.)

In May, 1911, this school was opened under the direction of the superintendent, and also upon the charge of a second very fine elementary teacher. Twenty-five firms sent their employees, including working men, to attend one half-day a week without loss of pay, in order to receive instruction in English, civics, the art of salesmanship, bookkeeping, and the use of textiles and fabrics, objectively illustrated, applied art and decoration, personal hygiene, life-ideals and home economics.

English and arithmetic form the backbone of the course, which includes also civics, hygiene, geography, physics, handicraft, art and salesmanship. Daily drills are given in spelling, correct English and rapid calculation.

Instruction in salesmanship is given to all children from the retail store. This work has received the strongest expression of appreciation from merchants, who value it highly as a means of increasing the efficiency of the sales force.

Following Supt. Graham's talk the members adjourned to the dining room where delicious refreshments were served.

RAIDED HOUSE ALLEGED TO BE GAMBLING PLACE
On White Street—J. Zazinski as Proprietor and Three Others Arrested.

On complaint that a gambling house was being run on White street near the old lock shop by a man named Joseph Zazinski, Capt. Twomey had the place raided this morning about 2 o'clock. Zazinski, who was found on the floor intoxicated, the police say, and three other men were arrested in a room at the house.

The other three men who were arrested were found sitting around a table and a bottle partly filled with whiskey.

Sergeants Matthews and Policeman Patrick Murphy were sent up from police headquarters to meet Sergeant King and Policeman Delaney. These four making the raid successfully and taking the party entirely by surprise. The arrested men were all locked up at police headquarters over night.

WELCOME HOME RECEPTION.
Given by Central Baptist Church for Col. and Mrs. C. W. Gale.

Col. and Mrs. Charles W. Gale, who had just returned from his being in the world-trip on Friday evening by the Central Baptist church people with a reception from 8 to 10 o'clock at the church, which was attended by over 200 people, both members and non-members of the church.

With their attractive floral decorations the rooms made a particularly inviting appearance and the two returning travelers received abundant evidence of the warmth of their welcome.

Dr. Joel E. Slocum, pastor of the church, spoke brief but cordial words of welcome at one point in the evening and Col. Gale made a bright and interesting response.

Swain's orchestra played during the reception hours and his evening was particularly enjoyable. A delightful social success for the church people.

BEFORE SHORT CALENDAR OF SUPERIOR COURT
Motion in New London Damage Suit—Note Holder Wins Against F. S. Jerome.

At the short calendar session of the superior court in New London Friday morning Judge Reed heard the arguments of demurrer in the case of James P. Shea against Frederic H. Gavitt, an action to recover damages for injury to property by surface water. The suit is for $15,000. The arguments were made by attorney C. Hadad Hull for the plaintiff and Attorney Tracy Walker for the defendant. Judge Reed took the papers.

The plaintiff is proprietor of the Hotel Royal, the defendant owns the property adjoining, part of which is occupied by the Hotel Royal. The plaintiff alleges that in the rear of the Hotel Royal the defendant owns a building, one story and a half high, with the gutters and that during rains stormy water from the roof of the building is thrown against the walls of the Shea building, through which it percolates and is damaging the building.

Other Short Calendar Matters.
Other matters disposed of as follows: The case of Barber vs. Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., default for failure to answer, went off. The case of Wilson against the Wilson allowance to defend and all motions were granted. The case of Serretto against Schwaner et al., default for failure to answer, went off. The case of Barber vs. Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., default for failure to answer, went off. The case of Wilson against the Wilson allowance to defend and all motions were granted. The case of Serretto against Schwaner et al., default for failure to answer, went off.

The divorce action of Wilson against Wilson, allowance to defend and all motions were granted. The case of Serretto against Schwaner et al., default for failure to answer, went off. The case of Barber vs. Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., default for failure to answer, went off.

When the suit was brought, attachments were made upon 7 shares of Uncas National bank stock, the property of Mr. Jerome, upon an unstated number of shares of the Assawago Co. of Killingly, which were the property of Mr. Jerome, and also upon all Mr. Jerome's interest in 137 shares of Merchants National bank stock, 136 of which were pledged to secure a loan. The settlement is by attestation and as the note has never been paid, it is understood the securities will be turned over to the trustee.

The case of Balestrini vs. city of New London, motion to expunge second defense of answer, was postponed.

Assignment of Cases.
Cases were assigned for next week only, which is the last week of this term. The following assignments were made: Tuesday, March 24—Ranieri vs. B. F. Smith Construction Co. Wednesday, March 25—Bodfish vs. Boston Bridge Works, Inc., Harvey et al. vs. city of New London, Rogers vs. city of New London.
