

Eat Mushmelons . . . . . 10c EVERY ONE GOOD
Red Bananas . . . . . 5c
Watermelon—they're great
Ceyenne Pines
White Cauliflower
Asparagus, 2 lbs. . . . . 25c
Summer Squash . . . . . 8c
Red Tomatoes, lb. . . . . 10c
Small Fowl, lb. . . . . 20c
Large two-year-old Fowl, lb. . . . . 22c

The Bulletin

Norwich, Monday, June 29, 1914.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Families who are occupying shore cottages found yesterday chilly.
Many Norwegians in Connecticut are home for the centennial exposition at Christania this summer.
Handsoms beds of geraniums, coleus and cannas beautify the grounds of the Nickel company's plant on Chestnut street.

Mrs. Fred Reynolds died Friday morning at her home in Colchester after long illness. Burial will be in Lebanon.
The Lake house at Gardner Lake has been opened and is now ready to entertain automobile parties and transient guests.—adv.

The former Bryan house on Otis street, sold recently by George W. Carroll, has been purchased by the new owner and is being repaired and renovated.
As observation days for July, Friday, Saturday and Sunday promised moderately hot weather, with equal portions of sun and clouds.

The Otis library reading room was opened yesterday for the last Sunday afternoon of the fall. Miss Mildred Rogers was in charge and recorded 35 visitors.
Physicians from this state will attend the 17th annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy to be held here at the Hotel Norwich today and ending on July 4.

The New London Knights of Columbus have engaged among their fall lecturers Rev. William A. Keefe of Plainfield and Dr. Lynch of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Norwich.
Dr. G. T. Shurtlett of Lyme is getting out of the ponds ready for the fall fair. Every fall he has a string of about 30 high bred ponies on exhibition at all the big fairs in New England.

Government steamer General Ayres is laid out for the summer. Bolts in the plates beneath the boiler were strained recently, making the steamer leak slightly. She will be ready for service at the end of the season.
While Landlord and Mrs. Frank E. Park of the Crocker house, New London, were seated on the front balcony the other evening a sneak thief ran up the stairs to the second floor, stealing jewelry to the value of $250.

Sunday was the 50th anniversary of the founding of the college for deaf mutes at Washington, D. C. by Dr. E. M. Gallaudet of Hartford, father of Helen F. Gallaudet of Norwich. Abraham Lincoln spoke at the dedication.
There is no vacation in the spiritual world. Rev. Myles P. Galvin told the congregation at St. Patrick's church Sunday and the obligation to be in the church is binding on the summer as during the winter months.

Party of 20 can secure round trip ticket to St. Anne de Beaupre, special Pullman car to Quebec, for $18.39 from Norwich, $18.79 from New London. Communicate before July 15th, with Rev. U. O. Bellerose, Taftville, Tel. 1968-4.—adv.

Following the lead of the Pennsylvania, the New Haven road will recognize the cost of living by an advance in the price of dinner served on its dining cars. Beginning July 1, the company will charge $1.35 for the dinner now sold for $1.
Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

Misses Frances Emery and Mildred Williams of Groton are in line for Carnegie medals for their essays on "The when they saved George Dutry, four years old, from drowning in the Thames river. The lad fell off the dock at Butson's boat building yards.

Sunday the 13th provisional regiment of the artillery of the East New York National guard arrived at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, for annual encampment and practice with the 1st and 2nd regiments. The 1st and 2nd regiments will be at the fort two weeks.
Artists and lovers of art of Lyme and vicinity met Friday at the home of Miss Florence Griswold and formed the Lyme Art association. The articles of incorporation, drawn by Judge Walter C. Noyes, were approved and accepted. Judge Noyes was elected president.

The late David A. Wells of Norwich left a prize of $50 in gold, or a medal, as the winner of the essay offered annually for the best essay on economics by Williams college, and Saturday this was awarded to Kenneth M. Thayer, a big year student in the law school of New York university, Williams college, New York.
The chauffeur of a Norwich automobile ran too close to the car on the Montville line due in Norwich at 8:15 Saturday evening, ripping off about a yard of the metal edge of the lower running board. The accident happened near the corner of Wagsley place on West Thames street.

PERSONALS

Anthony Berard, of Harrisville, R. I., was a recent visitor at his home on Main street.
Mrs. B. Gotthelf and family of Cliff street are occupying their cottage at Neptune Park for the season.

William Fields of Lafayette street has returned after attending the funeral of Mrs. Hannah Shea in Rockville.
Mrs. Ada A. Weed and daughter Emmett of New London are spending the summer at Twin Oaks, Wintergreen Point.

Mrs. Richard F. Pendleton and daughter Marion have returned after a ten days' stay at the Elliott House, Fishers Island.
Ralph Martin has accepted a position in the N. Y. N. H. and H. railroad freight office and will enter on his new duties next Monday.

Leslie Ward and Carlos Ricker have returned from a southern trip. They stopped at Norfolk, Richmond, Washington and Philadelphia.
Mrs. John B. Oat and family of Pearl street leave today to spend the month of July at Edmands Beach. The name of their cottage is the Flag.

Mr. and Mrs. Bela Lyon Pratt of Boston are spending a short time at the Music Vale farms in Salem before leaving for the summer for North Haven, Me.
Mrs. and Mrs. Jeremiah Fields and children, Elizabeth and Amelia, of East Orange, N. J., are visiting Mr. Fields' mother, Mrs. Hannah Fields of Lafayette street.

Mrs. J. B. Hathaway of Ansonet, Mass., and Mrs. R. O. Henderson of Rochester, N. Y., have been spending the past week with Mrs. George F. Dolan.
The popularity contest conducted at the Moose carnival on the Battlegrounds this week closed on Saturday evening and Miss Eva Allard breezed across the line a winner with 25,054 votes which was over 10,000 more than her next nearest opponent, Miss Mae Kelly.

Following closed on the grounds at 9 o'clock and the count began, the boxes from the drug stores having previously been collected by Frank Hazard and John W. Moore.
Each of the contestants had a representative present to watch the count which was held at the home of Mrs. Myron S. Beckwith, Frank B. Hazard, John W. Moore and John R. Ringland.

Upon its conclusion, William W. Beckwith mounted the platform at the annual tent and in a voice that was easily heard made the announcement of the result and handed over the $219 diamond ring to Miss Allard with a graceful speech, while the crowd cheered the popular victor, who is a clerk at the Coast-Cadillac store.

The last night of the carnival saw the largest crowd of the present season and all the shows did good business. The Moose members expressed themselves as well pleased with the carnival and also brought a fair sum into their treasury.
On Sunday the Johnny J. Jones show people gathered up their tents and moved on to the shore where they are to show this week.

George Sherbanek Thrown Clear of Tracks by Fender.
George Sherbanek, eight years old, was struck Saturday night on North Main street near the gas works by the 8:45 trolley car from Jewett City with Motorman Rufus Harris and Conductor Winslow. The boy, it is stated, was endeavoring to scoot across the track in front of the car but was struck by the fender and thrown into the air.

He was unconscious when picked up by the car crew and had an abrasion on his head over the left temple. The little fellow lives nearly on North Main street, but none of his family appeared to claim him, so he was taken by the car to the office of Dr. W. C. Johnson for treatment and sent from there to the hospital.

On Sunday the boy was still in a semi-conscious condition at the hospital.
Music at Central Baptist Church.
At the Central Baptist church on Sunday evening a very pleasing musical programme was given before a large congregation. The following is the programme that was rendered: "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me, quartette; soprano solo, Mrs. Grace Aldrich Crowell; Oh Jesus Thou Art Standing, quartette; Sweet the Moments arranged sextette from Lucia, quartette; Now God Be With Us, quartette.

The solo by Mrs. Crowell was rendered in particularly fine voice. During July the church will have its usual summer vacation.
John Brewer, well known as "Doc" Brewer, who had been allowed to leave the Norwich state hospital two or three months ago to go to New York, where he believed he could do well in new surroundings, came back here Sunday and fell a victim to his old habits, so that he was taken in by Policeman M. Carroll.

The state hospital authorities were notified and Constable Nolan was sent here to take "Doc" Brewer back. He had been gradually working his way here from New York state and had written to Dr. Pollock several times.
Austrian yards are building warships for China.

Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

Discussed Milk Distributing Station.
Members of the New London County Improvement Society met at the Business men's rooms in the Transportation building Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering the advantages of a new public health bureau for New London county. Dr. C. E. North of the New York public health bureau gave very interesting information in regard to the matter and with the decision that it would be advisable to hold a meeting in July, if possible, when a committee could be appointed to investigate the matter at Lincoln presided at the meeting.

Glandered Horse in This County Killed.
Dr. F. A. Ingrain, deputy cattle commissioner has returned to Hartford from a trip to a number of places in the state where it was reported to his department that horses were suffering from glanders or farcy. He result of his visit is that the equine population of the state has been reduced by six hundred and twenty horses. He reported that Durham and a town in New London county.

NORWICH COS. HOME FROM FORT

Coast Artillerymen Had Very Successful Ten Days at Fort Wright—Both Companies Scored Hits—Connecticut Troops Praised by Regular Army Officers—Real Reserves, They Say.

Proned from ten days of outdoor duty and all looking the picture of health, the men of the Third and Fourth companies, C. A. C., returned home here to the army Saturday afternoon after their ten days of duty at Fort H. G. Wright on Fishers Island.

The Fifth company, Captain W. G. Tarbox with 60 men and three officers was the first home, coming in on the Montville trolley line about 4 o'clock, and the Third company, Captain George E. Church, with 46 men and three officers, came about an hour later by train to the New Haven station.

The boat brought the twelve companies from Fishers Island to New London shortly after one o'clock. The battalion gave a parade in New London.

According to the transportation department arranged by the government, the Norwich companies were to be in New London before they could be sent by train to the New Haven station, as they were routed to reach here about 7 o'clock. The Danielson company was to precede them by about 15 minutes, but the regulars were provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

This year for the first time the new khaki cloth tents which the state provided were used, the men and their own gear home, leaving the baggage to come later. The Third company managed to get home on the trolley about 7 o'clock and the regulars had been planned for them.

The camp year this year was described as a most satisfactory one in many respects and in one point at least it was a record breaking camp for twelve companies got through all their trial shots and record shots on guns and mortars in one day. Ten out of the twelve companies made a hit in an unusual record, and indicates how unhealthily it might be for anything cruising around within the range of the forts except it were not manned by the regulars. The regular officers were highly pleased with the showing and declared that the Connecticut coast artillery men had demonstrated that they were really reserves.

Both the Norwich companies were among those that scored hits with the Third company on its first shot. The health of the men generally was good, the weather was favorable and the men, the gun crews all doing good work standing to their posts and keeping their hands off their ears when the guns were fired. This was a point that had been emphasized in their instructions and the men deserved all the more credit for it as so many of them were having this experience for the first time. Their ears are not without protection from the shock of the discharge of the guns, but the surgeons said that all are provided with cotton which is placed in their ears for protection.

Captain Tarbox of the Fifth company, but with no experience on one day of acting as major of the second battalion, and Lieutenant Charles R. Nichols commanded the company.

WILL CONTEST WILL OF JOHN ECCLES

His Brother, William B. Eccles, Begins Proceedings to Set Aside Will Disposing of $425,000 Estate.

William Bowran Eccles of Preston, Lancashire, England, only brother of the late John Eccles of this city, appeared in the probate court here Saturday morning before Judge Nelson J. Ayling and began proceedings to have the will of John Eccles set aside.

At the probate court William B. Eccles was represented by Attorney William H. Shields, one of his counsel in the case, and his brother-in-law, William B. Eccles, was represented by his lawyers, Hull, McGuire & Hull of New London, Groves, Hyde and Shipman of Hartford and Attorney Shields.

The will was made by John Eccles on April 11th, 1914, and the Rhode Island Hospital and Trust company, Providence, R. I., qualified as executor of the same.

In his will John Eccles left his only brother a legacy of $2,500, out of an estate which the inventory and appraisal has shown amounts to over $425,000. Substantially all this property was left to religious and charitable institutions by John Eccles, whose only heir at law was his brother, William B. Eccles, as John Eccles had no children and his wife to whom he had been married many years had died before him.

The relations of the two brothers, it is said, were always of affectionate, confidential and devoted character, each performing the kindest offices for the other. Had no will been made, William B. Eccles, as the sole heir, would have taken all the estate by the laws of Connecticut. In the will no reason is given by John Eccles for leaving the Federal interferences is evidently existing compact made by the brother in regard to their affairs. At the time the will was proved in the probate court, the brother was in England and had no notice or opportunity to appear in that court in opposition to the will.

He came here in the early part of this month and shortly after his arrival was served by the probate court with the customary notice, which in the usual practice of the probate court is to take an appeal from the probate court. William B. Eccles, who is a man of very high means, and who is an assistant managing editor of the Frank A. Munsey Magazine, the All-Story Cavalier Weekly, the Argosy, and the Railroad Man's Monthly Magazine, has been training in journalism for several years ago. After some years' experience as reporter on the New York Herald Tribune, he was appointed editor of the Volta Review, a position which he resigned to become assistant editor of the Federal Interferences in Education. Following this he became a writer of Sunday magazine articles for the Washington Sunday Star News Service and other magazines. He is now associate editor of Adventure magazine, from which he has advanced to his present position.

In addition to journalistic work Mr. Noyes is the author of several monographs on educational subjects, and a number of magazine articles.

Incidents in Society

Miss Elizabeth Parker is visiting friends in New York city.

Willis Austin of Washington street spent a short time last week in Hartford.

F. Russell Smith, a student at Brown university, is at Ocean Beach for the summer.

Mrs. Frederick A. Byrnes of Warren street is the guest of her son, Ronald M. Byrnes, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace S. Allis were in Woodbury over Sunday, guests of Dr. and Mrs. William Witter.

Harwood Byrnes of Chicago, Ill., who has been at his home on Warren street for several days, has left town.

Mrs. George T. Howland and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Howland, were in Plymouth, Mass., last week.

Miss Leavitt of Chicago, who has been the guest for several days of Miss Marion Fullen of Lincoln avenue, has left town.

David Bacon of Washington street, a student at Yale university, has left town and is spending the summer at the Thimble Island.

Mrs. Laura M. Allis of Randolph, Vt., has returned after several weeks spent with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Allis, of Elm avenue.

Miss C. Gulliver and Miss Eunice Gulliver of Huntington lane, members of the Academy faculty, sailed June 20 on the S. S. New York to spend the summer months in England.