Her Attorney Attacks Stories Told by Two Witnesses for State at Inquest

ACCUSED WOMAN HAS NERVOUS COLLAPSE

District Attorney Not Disturbed by Claims of Counsel for Accused—Employee Vouch for Credibility of Witness Baldes—Pistol Carrier, Who Appeared Before Grand Jury, Indicted in Record Time for New York.

Minerola, N. Y., July 9.—The battle to free Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, locked up in the Nassau county jail here, accused of the assassination of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was begun today by George Levy, her attorney. Levy began by having District Attorney Smith informed that he had obtained an affidavit from witness George Golder, in which he repudiated a part of his testimony at the inquest. Then he attacked Elwood T. Baldes, the insurance agent whose story of seeing Mrs. Carman in the night of the murder he saw a woman dressed in a dark skirt and a white shirtwaist, was directly responsible for Mrs. Carman's arrest.

District Attorney's Statement.
Both these efforts were anticipated by the district attorney and tonight he issued the following statement:

"I heard the story of Golder before he ever appeared upon the witness stand. He told me the same story that he told at the inquest, which in brief was to the effect that when he called on the Brooks family, the night of the murder he saw a woman dressed in white sitting on the porch and then he later saw this same woman in Dr. Carman's office. He told me he was sure he knew Mrs. Carman when he saw her. I told Golder that he was mistaken. I knew he was then and I know he is now. It was Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Carman's sister, who was on the porch and in the Brooks family home. I informed him that since Mrs. Powell denied it at the inquest, she had refreshed her memory and had told him that she was on the porch the night of the murder. And, besides, Golder's testimony did not have any weight with me or the coroner, but I will have him served with a subpoena and try to force an retrial. He directed that I firmly believe that he and Mrs. Powell made honest mistakes.

Story of Baldes Stands Well.
"As for Baldes, his story stands well. I believe he is telling the truth. It has come to my attention that a young woman in Freeport had stated that soon after half past eight on the night of the murder Baldes was in her home, which is but a few blocks from the Carman home, and that the distance was such that he could not possibly have been at Dr. Carman's residence in time to see the woman he described. I have had men out to investigate this story and find out that it is perfectly correct.

Employers Vouch for Him.
"Baldes was at the young woman's house. But he went there directly after seeing the fleeing murderers, for at the time he had no importance to what he had witnessed. I have also heard that some effort has been made to show that Baldes was not responsible. Two of his employers in a big insurance office, who had been called upon Baldes in the jail today and then came to see me. They told me Baldes' honesty and integrity were unimpeachable. Baldes is a reliable, truthful and important witness. His story has stood every test we have subjected it to."

Mrs. Carman Semi-Hysterical.
Mrs. Carman broke down today in the Nassau county court and the jail physician had to hastily remove her. She was in a semi-hysterical condition when the physician arrived and she had a pulse of 100. A nerve sedative was prescribed for her and by the time her husband arrived to assist the jail physician, she was calm once more.

The jail physician called upon Mrs. Carman again during the afternoon and again tonight. He directed that she be placed upon a diet and said that absolute quiet was essential. The physician said he believed his patient would be her normal self again in a couple of days.

Deferred Investigation.
The grand jury, after meeting today, agreed to a request of District Attorney

Smith to defer all investigation of the death of Mrs. Bailey and the alleged complicity of Mrs. Carman until Tuesday next. The district attorney said he wanted to prepare his case.

"Duke de Leon" Indicted.
But before the grand jury took its adjournment it found time to return an indictment, charging violation of the Sullivan law against carrying weapons, against Meyer D. Newman, who had engraved on a calling card, after his name, "alias Duke de Leon," and who said he was the leader of a New York band of gunmen.

Newman is the man who told District Attorney Smith that one George Anderson, a member of his band, had carried a revolver from New York to Freeport, and that he carried it back after Mrs. Carman had used it to shoot Mrs. Bailey. When Newman first told his story last Monday, he said Anderson had gone to Kansas City, but that he expected to receive a letter from him. Newman was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury today and to bring with him a letter from Anderson, should he receive one. The district attorney by this method intended to have Anderson arrested in Kansas City.

Mid Pistol in His Sock.
When Newman appeared today it was learned he had in his pocket a pistol, which he placed in his sock, when he discovered he was watched. He was arrested soon after noon and in three hours and a half he had been confined before a police justice, held for the action of the grand jury, indicted by that body, arraigned in the court and had entered a plea of guilty and been remanded for sentence. He may be given the maximum sentence—seven years in Sing Sing prison.

Record for New York.
The case of Newman, said lawyers here, establishes a record for the state of New York.

Another man was arrested, while loitering near the district attorney's office, in connection with the case of "duke's" gunmen. He was released after being questioned.

Unless other arrangements are made before then, Mrs. Carman will be taken to Freeport on Monday for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Norton, who as coroner caused her arrest.

Tramp is New Witness.
Baldes was arraigned today before a justice of the peace here and held in $2,000 bail as a material witness. Frank J. Farrell, alias Callen, was arraigned at the same time and held under $1,000 bail. Farrell is a tramp who said that he had asked for something to eat at the back door of the Carman home on the night of the murder. His request was refused, he told the officials, and he fled to the garage at the rear of the house. He said he was there about ten minutes when he heard a crash of glass and saw a woman, whose clothing he was unable to describe, run rapidly from the west side of the house, where Dr. Carman's office is located, round and back and then across the front on the east side of the house. He said he ran away.

The district attorney said tonight he was having investigated a part of the story given by the tramp who said that he had asked for something to eat at the back door of the Carman home on the night of the murder. He said he was there about ten minutes when he heard a crash of glass and saw a woman, whose clothing he was unable to describe, run rapidly from the west side of the house, where Dr. Carman's office is located, round and back and then across the front on the east side of the house. CAPTURED GUADALAJARA.
Constitutionalist General Routed Force of 12,000 Federals With Army of 10,000.

Douglas, Ariz., July 9.—Telegraphing from the governor's palace in the city of Guadalupe, General Alvaro Obregon today informed E. S. Elias, border representative of the constitutionalists, that he had captured the city Wednesday morning and utterly routed 12,000 federals commanded by General Miel, federal governor of the state of Jalisco.

In a fierce battle extending over a zone of eighty miles, the federal army was cut to pieces by Obregon's force of less than 10,000 men. Five thousand federals were captured, Obregon said, besides all the artillery and ammunition of the enemy. Those who escaped are being pursued by constitutionalist cavalry. General Blanco was sent to cut off all communication with Mexico City. He tore up the railroad line and prevented the federals from moving stores out of the city.

Very few of the attacking force were killed or wounded, Obregon reported. He informed Elias that he led his forces personally to Guadalupe. The city went wild with enthusiasm over the entrance of the revolutionary forces and it is estimated here that Obregon will obtain 15,000 recruits in the city before marching on Irapuato, the railroad junction on the Mexican Central railroad connecting the City of Mexico with northern and western Mexico.

Washington, July 9.—President Wilson believes that business men are coming around to the administration's view of anti-trust legislation and are willing that the programme laid out be put through during the present session of congress. He made this plain to callers today, following a talk with Henry Ford, the millionaire automobile manufacturer and other representatives of business.

Mr. Wilson said business men have been uneasy over the possibility that an attempt will be made to too explicitly in definitions of illegal trade practices. He gave it as his opinion, however, that the fifth section of the Newland's trade commission bill, which makes illegal unfair practices in trade, covers the desired ground very well. He indicated opposition to empowering the commission to give advance opinions on the illegality of certain practices, remarking that some would want immunity baths in advance.

The average business man, he declared, is in favor of having things put on a definite plane.

Three Cup Defender Candidates Had to Remain Anchored.
Newport, R. "It is regrettable that we have to postpone any of the cup trials," said W. Butler Duncan, chairman of the America's cup committee, tonight. "Every postponement means a day lost for there are only a stated number of racing days and we want all the opportunity we can have to observe the cup trials before we make the selection of a cup defender. While we had planned to race the yachts in pairs we have decided to race all three sloops together until there is some reason for making a change."

Senators Stand Against Wilson

PUT OFF CONSIDERATION OF WARBURG NOMINATION

DEBATE OVER JONES

President Indicates He Will Keep Up the Fight to Have These Two Men on Federal Reserve Board.

Washington, July 9.—The administration met today in the first stage of its fight to have the senate confirm the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago and Paul M. Warburg of New York as members of the federal reserve board. The banking and currency committee voted 7 to 4 to report the nomination of Mr. Jones to the senate with an unfavorable recommendation, and unanimously amend to postpone indefinitely further consideration of the nomination of Mr. Warburg.

Debate Behind Closed Doors.
Mr. Jones' report will be submitted by Acting Chairman Hitchcock early next week and the debate over his confirmation will be resumed on the floor of the senate behind closed doors in secret sessions. No further action will be taken by the committee until the Warburg appointment unless the New York banker changes his mind and decides to accept the committee's invitation to appear before it and submit to questioning. The next move, according to members of the committee, must come from Mr. Warburg.

The committee's action on these two nominations was taken in the face of a determined effort on the part of the president to secure approval of them. In his conference with the newspaper men, the president made it clear he would keep up the fight.

Invading Senate Prerogatives.
It was pointed out tonight that by insisting on confirmation of Warburg the president was running into the question of senate prerogatives and might find many votes against him. The senate has grumbled for years about the president and in this case many senators feel they have found an issue on which they can stand together.

After referring to the cordial relations now prevailing between the United States and Great Britain and complimenting Viscount Bryce on the part he had played in clearing up all differences between the two countries, the ambassador said it was the policy of the American people to have an alliance with none, where there was perfect friendship, alliances were not needed.

The old arbitration treaty between the two countries, however, had been renewed for another period and he was free to announce that a new treaty was being concluded whereby a commission was to be set up, to which either country could refer any question arising between them.

Both governments, he added, promised not to begin hostilities until this commission had investigated matters and submitted its report.

That treaty, the ambassador declared, was now virtually completed. The announcement evoked a great outburst of cheering.

Roosevelt in Place of Sulzer

COLONEL MAY BE FORCED TO ACCEPT NOMINATION

CHANGE OF HEART

On the Part of Some Progressives Reported—Deposed Governor Might Capture New York Nomination.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 9.—Former President Roosevelt may be forced to accept the progressive nomination for governor, it was said tonight to prevent William Sulzer, deposed governor, from capturing the nomination. Investigations made in various parts of the state recently by progressive leaders have shown according to men prominent in the party, as Theodore Douglas Robinson, state chairman, and George W. Perkins, that the former governor has a degree of strength which has surprised them.

Account of this situation, according to statements made tonight by a man in the confidence of both Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Perkins, some progressives who hitherto have opposed the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt have been asked to change their minds. A Nassau county delegation, which called on Colonel Roosevelt in New York yesterday, to advise him not to accept the nomination, decided after a talk with Mr. Perkins and Mr. Robinson, to go back to the colonel again. It is understood that when they make the colonel their first option he should make the race.

Mr. Sulzer, although not a member of the progressive party, was elected to the assembly on the progressive ticket after being impeached as governor.

The clauses of the constitution of the provisional government, which until now have not been disclosed, extend to the restoration of the Ulster Provisional government to exist and the provisional government, while it is in power, shall maintain in force all the statute laws in force in the province, other than the statute establishing a home rule government.

Arrangements have been made to receive Sir Edward Carson on his arrival tomorrow. Four hundred Ulster volunteers armed with rifles, with fixed bayonets, will escort him to the place of meeting.
