CITY HAS NO REPLY
FROM POPE MFG. CO.

Mayor's Communication of Council's Action Not Yet Answered, But No Complications Likely.

The fact that up to the present no reply has been received from the Pope Manufacturing company of Hartford to the copy of the vote taken Tuesday night at the common council in recording the resolution passed Monday night authorizing the expenditure of $4,450 for a new autochemical that was sent to Hartford on Wednesday morning by Mayor Murphy, would seem to indicate that the incident is closed and that there will be no further complications in the rather surprising situation that existed. It is believed that the city of Norwich should be on fairly friendly terms with the Pope company in view of the fact that it is saying that concern $484.40 for repairs to the present autochemical.

OBITUARY.
Thomas Latham.

Wednesday night about 11 o'clock Thomas Latham, one of the oldest residents of Gales Ferry died at his home there rather suddenly following a serious illness of several days. Several days ago Mr. Latham was afflicted with acute indigestion which caused his heart to become weakened, but he was up and around the village as usual on Wednesday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morgan Latham and was born in Ledyard 75 years ago. At the age of 18 years he began to teach school and followed that calling all his life. He taught school for 10 terms in the Ledyard, Groton and Uncaaville schools and last winter he substituted for the regular teacher in Ledyard.

Mr. Latham resided in Gales Ferry for fifty years. Some years ago Mr. Latham wrote a story of the career of his father, Thomas Latham, who led a sea faring life and who was one of the veteran captains of the south end of the county.

For many years Mr. Latham was superintendent of the M. E. church Sunday school at Gales Ferry, resigning the position two years ago because of his health. He was one of the church trustees and took an active interest in church affairs. Some years ago he was united in marriage with Sarah Allen, who died about a year ago. Mr. Latham was of a kindly disposition and was highly regarded by all who knew him. He leaves three sons and one daughter, Bradford A. Latham of Guilford, Clarence A., of Essex, and Mrs. Charles A. L. Morgan of Middletown, and Charles E. Latham of Hartford, and five grandchildren.

Bertha Eccleston.
Berton Eccleston of Mystic died in Preston on Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. The remains are to be sent to Mystic by Undertaker Gager where burial will take place.

Mrs. Frank Harrington.
Caroline B. Harrington, wife of Frank Harrington, of Hartford, formerly of this city, died at her home in Hartford on Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. She was born in this city and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harrington. Some years ago she was united in marriage with Frank Harrington, who survives her, together with their daughter, Caroline, and three daughters, Caroline, Gladys and Olive Harrington, all of Hartford. Mrs. Harrington also leaves two brothers, Samuel G. Harrington and Henry Harrington, of Hartford. Mrs. H. L. Harrington, Miss Annie Ruggles, William Ruggles of this city are cousins and Louis A. Hyde, also of Norwich, is an uncle of the deceased.

LONDONER VISITS THERMOS FACTORY

Director Bartholomew of English Branch in America to Negotiate for International Alliance—Well Pleased With Plant Here, Its Site and Equipment and Standing.

Director M. Bartholomew, Jr., of Thermos, Ltd., of London, England, arrived in Norwich Thursday afternoon, accompanied by President William B. Walker of the American Thermos Bottle company. Mr. Bartholomew's trip to America was brought about by the plans that are being matured for an alliance between the various companies producing Thermos bottles throughout the world.

These negotiations may result in the erection of a plant to manufacture glass pistons in Germany and a metal plant in Norwich. The pistons now used in the Norwich plant are made in Alexandria, Ind., and Vinsand, N. J., of the best material available to supply enough material of the requisite quality to keep the Norwich plant running to full capacity.

Director Bartholomew was highly pleased with the Norwich plant, which is in size and special equipment far ahead of other Thermos plants abroad. He was particularly impressed with the patented machinery in use here which is controlled by the local company. He also was enthusiastic regarding the location of the factory on the river Thames and with the large area of land available for additional buildings and the siding facilities.

In addition to his interest in Thermos, Mr. Bartholomew has other important interests in London, being general manager of the Post Type-writer Co., Ltd. He expressed himself in warm terms of admiration of the leading position attained by the American Thermos Bottle company and believed that under the leadership of President Walker the foreign companies could greatly improve their methods of manufacture and largely increase their sales. He will remain in the country for ten days in conference with men prominent in industrial and financial circles. That he has returned Mr. Walker's visit to England to prominently show the world-wide interest created by the success of the Norwich plant and its plans for extension.

SUNDAY MEETINGS OPEN AT PINE GROVE, NIAN TIC.

First of Series July 12, With Mrs. Goetz of Baltimore Speaking.

The Ladies' Aid society of Pine Grove, Niantic, announces that Sunday, July 12, will open a series of Sunday meetings conducted under its auspices and held in the Ladies' Aid building, located in the Connecticut Spiritualists' camp meeting grounds in Niantic.

These meetings are one of the important events of the camp season, attracting a large number of people interested in the philosophy of Spiritualism, and will continue every Sunday throughout July and August.

The speakers engaged include some well known workers to Niantic camp audiences, and new ones have been added this season.

On Sunday, July 12, Mrs. Elizabeth Goetz of Baltimore, Md., will be the speaker. Mrs. Goetz is considered one of the best speakers on the Spiritualist platform, and is a native of New England, which should be an added interest to a New England camp.

For many years her platform work was solely as a speaker, but within the past year she has become a radio mediumship has been developed, thus adding to her otherwise brilliant work.

The hours of service are at 11 a. m. and 2:30 p. m., with evening sessions at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend these meetings, which are open to the public, with collection.

DEBATE FOLLOWED BY JAM.
There Was a Unique Affair in the Y. M. C. A. Lobby.

A unique and enjoyable affair was held at Y. M. C. A. in the big lobby on Wednesday evening when a debate on the subject of "The Standard Dictionary" was presented very interesting to a group of young men.

Those participating were Morris W. Ryley, Ronald Kimball and Secretary Hill of Norwich, F. Flex, Ira Frank and Arthur Miller of Boston, and S. F. O'Neil of Newton, Mass.

The out of town gentlemen are in Norwich for a few days, and they as well as the others thoroughly enjoyed the debate, which occupied an hour and a half.

At the conclusion of the debate the above named men each contributed toward the purchase of "The Standard Dictionary of Facts," which will be a valuable addition to the association. Others who contributed were J. W. Carver, E. M. Deane, and the moving picture exhibitor, E. W. Rogers and W. N. Block.

Refreshments in the shape of Montclair strawberry jam and Unceeda biscuits were served and everybody had a big time.

PUBLICATION AT LEISURE.
Enterprising Norwich Gets Out This Paper Once in 350 Years.

A unique publication has been received at the state library, in a copy of "The Unca Movement," an eight-page paper, published once in 350 years," presumably at Norwich. The paper was printed probably in 1842 and contains many articles of historical interest.

Included in the contents are included a copy of Unca's deed of Norwich, a paragraph on the River Quinneticut, a story of the last days of Unca, an essay on the hard times at Boston in 1770, and an Indian's gift for foreign Christian missions, med in 1841 in Norwich.—Hartford Times.

NOTES OF THE HAYMAKERS.

This Week's Depressing Weather Was Not Interfered With Meagans Activities.

Among the early haymakers of the season, whose work has progressed even in spite of the overcast weather this week, is Charles A. Gager, Jr., of this city, who has mown, cured and harvested from his farm at Meagans nine spanning loads of most excellent produce. He received his tuition in haymaking on the slopes of Gager Hill in the town of Sharon, under the rules of the old school of Yankee haymakers, and The Bulletin is able to assure its readers this morning that there is in this section no finer, better cured hay than that which ripens, or will ripen shortly, in Mr. Gager's barn.

MRS. ANGLE INCLINED TO GO ON STAND.

Would Tell Her Story of Ballou's Death, If Her Counsel Consented.

Stamford, Conn., July 9.—Coroner John J. Flanagan will come to Stamford tomorrow to resume his inquest into the death of Waldo B. Ballou, according to word received here tonight.

What new evidence, if any will be presented is not known, but it is considered likely that more definite testimony may be given on supposed bloodstains found in the apartment of Mrs. Helen A. Angle, who is under arrest in connection with the case.

The police say tonight that Mrs. Angle has given an intimation that if her counsel would permit, she would be willing to go on the stand and tell the coroner her story of the death of Ballou so far as she knows about it. She claims Ballou received the injuries which caused his death by a fall downstairs in the building where she lived. Her counsel has, however, from the first, declined to permit her to go on the stand.
