Sixth Annual Institute of Norwich District Epworth League Opens Auspiciously and Services Inspire Many—Arrivals at Norwich Town House.

In spite of the hot war in Europe and the hot weather in New England, the sixth annual institute of the Norwich District Epworth League opened very auspiciously Monday evening with a social at the tabernacle. The program was arranged by the fourth vice president, who has charge of the social department in Epworth League Hall.

Opening of Institute Studies.
On Tuesday morning the chapel service was held at the tabernacle at quarter of eight. The early morning service in the rooms of the institute each day, Rev. J. O. Randall, whose theme for institute week is Personal Evangelism, opened the work of the week at 8 o'clock in the tabernacle. He spoke of the necessity of Epworth League being able to get down where people live, and speak to them things that will comfort their breaking hearts.

Junior League Work.
The next hour was devoted to the work of the Junior League, under the leadership of Rev. Charles E. Spaulding. He spoke of the purpose of the league work among the children as being to make of them not prize nor money makers, but Christian men and women. In fact, said the speaker, there is no real manhood or womanhood apart from Christianity. To the child the doing of right things is Christianity, rather than feeling happy, even as Jesus was subject to his parents and became a carpenter.

Bible Study.
Rev. Wallace B. Fleming introduced this hour rather uniquely with a few minutes' intermission, during which the audience by way of recreation marched around the room once to the tune of "Gloria Christi." Soldiers gave the yells of the Reds and the Blues, and sang simple hymn choruses.

Immigrant Forces.
The topic of the next period, and it was well handled by Rev. J. Homer Slutz of East Providence. He began by propounding a series of questions bearing upon the subject of immigration of foreign peoples into our land. These were given in groups of four to the six rows of students, and answers are looked for tomorrow.

Christian Social Service.
It was a pleasure to members of last year's institute to greet again as conductor of the Christian Social service hour the genial assistant pastor of the Morgan Memorial Mission in Boston, Rev. W. M. Gilbert. The Socialized Church was the general and Cause of Poverty the particular theme of the hour. He touched briefly upon the spirit, field, philosophy, call and methods of Christian service. We should not be so anxious to get to Heaven as to individually make the kingdom of Heaven "at hand" by helping others up who are down and out, out of work, out of health, out of friends—these are the main causes of poverty, and there are an million living in poverty in our country today.

You ought to know that P. A. couldn't bite tongues if it wanted to, because it is made by a patented process that removes the bite and the parch, leaving for you just delightful flavor and fragrance. Now, get all that down right pat! But you'll know it by heart as soon as you get chummy with it.
Men all over the nation went to P. A. as natural as falling off a log. Because it's a revelation in smokings.
And you get this: Five years ago Prince Albert blew into town unknown, unsung! Today it has caused three men to smoke a pipe where one smoked before—right smart testimony that here is tobacco that will tickle your palate most! Get that listen into your system for what ails your smokappetite!

HEADS OF ENGLISH AND GERMAN FLEETS IN NORTH SEA.
Here are two of the most important figures in the great conflict between England and Germany for supremacy of the sea. Admiral John R. Jellicoe was advanced at the start of the war to full command of Great Britain's home fleet succeeding Admiral Callaghan in that post. He is considered one of the best men in England's naval galaxy. Admiral von Baudissin heads Germany's North Sea fleet. Upon him falls the burden of fighting England's greater forces. But he is a good fighter, and Germany declares he will give a good account of his fleet.

Are You Building or Remodeling? Then ask your architect or builder to examine and test Fiberlic Wall Board Fiberlic still, do it yourself—be sure that you are using the right kind of a wall board. Fiberlic, as the name implies, is made from an exceptionally tough root fibre. Wood or paper pulp wall boards lack the great tensile strength and rigidity secured by building a board from this amazingly strong and fibrous material. This exclusive feature together with a highly scientific, chemical treatment has produced a wall board far better and more sanitary than any other on the market. It is a non-conductor of heat—that means warm rooms in winter and delightfully cool rooms in summer. Fiberlic lends itself to artistic decorative effects of the highest order. It costs no more than other wall board and is far cheaper than lath and plaster. The ease with which it may be applied to new or old walls or ceilings is astonishing—no muck or dirt. Fiberlic is nailed directly to the studs or directly over the plaster of old walls and ceilings. You can put it up yourself if you are handy with tools. Come in and let us tell you more about this wonderful new wall board.
