MAKING GOOD PROGRESS ON SALEM ROAD. Hill Cut and Hollow Filled to Make Easy Grade.

Work on the state road that is being built in the town of Salem is progressing rapidly under the direction of Contractor Wilcox. Both bridges are laid out and the grading is well advanced. The hills at the northern end of the road have been greatly cut and the dirt at the end of the Grindstone Hill has been filled in so that the grade is now an easy one. It is expected that the road will be completed in a few weeks.

AT DAVIS THEATRE. The Misleading Lady.

A well filled house that responded with many bursts of laughter and applause to the good work of the cast in the Misleading Lady at the Davis theatre on Friday evening. It was an unusual and unique comedy-drama in three acts that gave Mrs. Evelyn Watson in the title role and Beresford Lovette as the hero satisfying opportunities to display their talents. The work was uniformly well balanced, whether for comedy touches or the more dramatic scenes. The notable bit of characterization which was enthusiastically applauded was that of Al. Eitzen as the miserly old miser, who imagined he was Napoleon Bonaparte. The minor characters were well filled and the play made a pleasing impression.

COURTEOUS TREATMENT FOR AMERICANS IN ENGLAND

Experience of Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Cassidy—Government Fixes Retail Prices of Provisions.

After a rough ocean voyage from Liverpool to New York on the St. Paul of the American Line, Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Cassidy, who left Norwich on July 15th to attend the surgeons' clinic in London, arrived home Tuesday at noon.

Dr. Cassidy has nothing but praise for the English people and for the officials of the St. Paul, as both and Mrs. Cassidy as they were the remainder of the Americans aboard received very courteous and considerate treatment.

Motorbuses and Horses Taken. Dr. and Mrs. Cassidy had just about arrived in London when the war was declared. The railroads in the country were immediately appropriated by the government for military purposes.

The mobilization of the English army commenced. On August 3rd approximately 300 motorbuses owned by private English bus companies had been seized by the government officials for military purposes.

The manager of one of the bus companies told Dr. Cassidy that every one of the company owned had been taken by the government on August 3rd and that three days later the company received a check for the full value of the machines. Horses were taken well and the owners were paid in full, sometimes even receiving more than they had valued their animals at.

In Dr. Cassidy's opinion there was not a regular English regiment left in England on the 5th of August. The movements of the regiments were carried out very quietly and without any disturbance except to travelers on the railroad. Train service was very unreliable and oftentimes trains would be held up for hours.

The hospital there had not been opened in emergency cases. Dr. Cassidy visited many of the hospitals and schools and was very interested in the different officials. Provisions are being made in the hospitals to care for the wounded and in one hospital in Cambridge there are 6,000 wounded soldiers. Up to the 22nd of August only one person had received treatment there.

Even the hospitals had been appropriated and the nurses, internes and surgeons have been sent to the front to look after the wounded. In the hospitals there had not been opened in emergency cases.
