Brown was in Groton Monday morning to make an investigation into the death of Robert Carpenter, a fisherman, of Noank, whose body was found Sunday afternoon floating off Chapman's beach near Eastern Point. Carpenter disappeared on October 19th, his empty boat with engine running being found that day off Noank by Capt. Frank Smith. It was less than three miles from the point where Carpenter is supposed to have been drowned.

TWO APPEARED BEFORE COMMON COUNCIL ADVOCATING LIGHTS ON PALMER STREET AND MYERS AVENUE—ARE TOLD THAT THERE IS NO MONEY FOR MORE LIGHTS ANYWHERE—TROLLEY COMPANY PETITIONS FOR NEW BRANCH TRACK FROM CENTRAL AVENUE TO CAR BARN.
Two citizens, James J. Sullivan and Ambrose Wilson, appeared before the common council at its meeting on Monday evening in support of a petition for electric lights on Palmer avenue and Myers avenue on the West Side. In answering their plea for lights Alderman W. C. McLaughlin, chairman of the police commission, made it plain that it was practically useless for any petitions for more lights anywhere in the city to be presented for the reason that the appropriation is not sufficient to warrant any more new lights, unless an additional city tax is asked for.

In a discussion of the matter after the meeting with some of the members of the council, Mr. Sullivan declared that he would pay no more city taxes until the lights asked for in his neighborhood were granted.
This was the regular November meeting of the common council which was called to order at 8 o'clock by Mayor T. Murphy and the roll called by Clerk Stephen D. Moore showed Councillors Hugh Kinder and Ambrose Wilson also spoke for the petition, saying he had lived in that section for 15 to 17 years and had often liked the street as it is made. Mr. Wilson said he thought the city was not dealing justly in collecting the taxes and giving them nothing. It was dangerous to go there in the dark and you could get a doctor to go there at night on account of the condition of the streets.

Alderman Beckley addressed the council and said these people were deserving of lights and the condition of the streets was dangerous. He asked to have Alderman McLaughlin explain to the citizens just what conditions regarding lights are and why more lights cannot be promised just now.
Alderman McLaughlin, who is chairman of the police commission, said in explanation that the police commissioners had made their estimates of what would be needed for the street lighting, but the amount had been cut down by the finance committee of the common council. It was now impossible to put in any more lights with the amount of money that was available on the present appropriation. If the city were to put in more lights it meant that they would have to come before the people and ask for an extra city tax and the commissioners did not feel like doing that. Under these circumstances the policy had been adopted of laying all petitions on the table for future consideration.

It was suggested that if the gas and electric commissioners would make a lower price to the city for the electric light they would be able to put more in, but there could be no more at the present price. Whenever the city sets a lower price, however, he said more lights would be put in.
The petitioners suggested that the police commissioners might wait on the gas and electric commissioners to see what they could do about giving a lower price for the gas of the year, but the alderman replied that the gas and electric commissioners were compelled by law to give the city its lights at a price and did not see any use in waiting on them.

After a few more remarks from Mr. Wilson, who said he did not think it was honest in the city to be taking the tax money and not giving a fair return, the matter was closed.
James B. Shannon and 15 others represented in a petition that a portion of Washington street near Carroll avenue, was not properly lighted, and wanted more lights there. This petition was also put on the table.

The Norwich Police association invited the mayor and common council to the annual ball of the association at the city hall on Friday, the 20th of November. Sheriff T. A. Carey distributed complimentary tickets to the members of the council.

AT DAVIS THEATRE.
Three vaudeville acts in which none of the performers were men made up the bill at the Davis theatre on Monday, and each was of a pleasing character that the combination made a bill that made a hit.
The two Langwieser Sisters in a jolly duologue and dancing act sent plenty of fun over the footlights and had the house with them, while Alice Farrell, a violinist, made an instant appeal to her audience with her opening solo. She followed this with a vocal solo which she gave in good voice and concluded with a dancing number while she played the violin, which won her an enthusiastic hand. In a pretty medley of music, dancing and costume changes, the three Anderson Sisters were a big number of the bill, giving what they called Scenes in a Dressing Room, and featuring it with a particularly clever slipping rope dance.

BUYING AMERICAN HORSES FOR EUROPEAN WAR
Elmer R. Pierson Finds the Business Brisk in Chicago
Elmer R. Pierson, who has just returned from a trip in the west, found the effects of the European war evident in the western horse markets that he visited, especially in Chicago.

The French government has made Chicago its headquarters in the purchase of horses for its armies in the European war. Arrangements have been made with the Chicago stock exchange to finance the purchase of 1,500 horses a week until further orders, which means probably as long as the war continues.

Buyers from the French government are here to make the purchases. They are now in the middle west states negotiating for cavalry and artillery horses. Reports from the horse producing districts indicate that farmers and horse raisers are demanding fancy prices.
